

From the Principal Welcome Back

Welcome back to term 2. I hope all staff and students are relaxed and refreshed after the break.

Staff Changes

Congratulations to Mr Brett Jackson who has taken up the position of geography teacher, replacing Dr. Finnie. Welcome to relieving teachers: Nola Harrison and Hazel Stephens (Social Science), Evan Higgins (English) and Anna Ngo (History). We say farewell to Robert Devlin who is now Head Teacher History at Sydney Technical High School.

High Talent

The Sydney High Marching Band again did us proud at the Anzac Day March. Thank you to all the musicians and cadets who did such worthwhile community service as well as enhancing the reputation of the school. Well done to Geoff Gerlach (Year 11) who played in the NSW U18 basketball team which won a national title in Perth. Well done to Ennes Mehmedbasic (Year 12) on his 2nd placing at the CHS sailing championships Laser radials Division in the holidays. Our Pacer team defended its Joint Coal Board Trophy in Pacers. High was represented by 5 crews with David Evans and Angelo Yan finishing 4th overall.

Anzac Day

The Anzac Day assembly was well attended by the High community with many guests attending.

The day was organised very well by Mina Genias, Rachel Powell and Lynne Williams – Thank you. My address to the assembly is reprinted below:

Distinguished guests, Old Boys, staff and students, welcome to High's Senior School Anzac Day Assembly. It is great to be able to celebrate the occasion so close to Anzac Day itself. I acknowledge this morning- the Presidents from our local RSL sub-branches: Merv Wood from Kensington War Memorial, Tony Miller from Coogee-Randwick, Paul Graham from Mascot, Terry Ireland from Bronte, Trevor Warfield from Botany and Barry Allen from Malabar. I welcome also Les Haggett, Honorary President of the National Servicemen's Association of Australia and Major Erroll Christian representing the University of New South Wales Regiment. Among our Old Boy veterans today are: Commodores Ian Callaway and Viv Littlewood and Lt. Commander David Daish, John Fraser and Alf Tremain. To you and more recent Old Boys, thank you for sharing our commemoration ceremony today.

In the year since our last Anzac Day assembly the Syrian situation remains just as bloody and unresolved. Despite sanctions and intense diplomatic efforts by the United Nations, people are still dying in Homs. South and North Kenya are in dispute again over territory and oil. The Libyan militias have not been disarmed so stability is fragile. The fighting season has begun again in Afghanistan with brazen Taliban attacks. Let's hope that the timetable for what appears to be a political draw-down of Australian troops in Afghanistan does not undo the good social reconstruction work achieved by our troops in Uruzgan Province. We all want the soldiers to come home, but not so rapidly that the mission in Afghanistan, for which Australia has sacrificed 32 soldiers, is compromised.

In parts of the Arab world some progress has been made. Presidential elections in Egypt are welcome as is the democratic effort in Tunisia. Nearer home the UN mandate in East Timor is coming to an end as the people peacefully elect a new President. In these times, as always, Australia needs its Defence personnel to protect and defend our interests. When we acknowledge their current work we are reminded of our traditions.

Our involvement in lengthening overseas engagements has led us to indulge in revisionist thinking about our image in the world and about the idealised fighting qualities of our soldiers. We are questioning our mythology inspired by the deeds of Australian soldiers at Gallipoli. We like to think of them as tall, bronzed Aussie bushmen, yet the vast majority were mid-statured, pallid, city dwellers. I fail to see how it matters...there were all body shapes and origins in our forces. Where they came from and what they looked like are irrelevant; it is what they did that we remember and acknowledge.

As a counterpoint, claims for the award of posthumous VCs are being investigated and assessed. It is as though on the one hand we are becoming disenchanted with a supposedly ingoistic myth making about ANZACs and on the other, feeling more responsible for justly acknowledging the deeds of our soldiers in past wars.

Albert Jacka's story is an inspiration but it is characteristic of our ambivalence about lionising our past heroes. Albert Jacka was an average looking man of medium height and slight build, but a legendary figure in Australian military history. He was reckless and he liked to fight. He was a Victorian forestry worker - confident, frank, outspoken, impatient with authority. Corporal Jacka won a Victoria Cross at Courtney's Ridge on Gallipoli. He repelled a Turkish infiltration of an Australian position. He jumped into the trench, shot five Turks and bayoneted two others.

Next Year, in Flanders at Pozzières, he was a Lieutenant. During a German counter attack on the morning of August 7, 1916, his platoon was caught behind enemy lines. Jacka led seven men in a charge against a German detail which was escorting Australian prisoners to the rear. After a fierce hand to hand battle, the Germans surrendered, Jacka's platoon was reduced from 52 men to 4 unwounded by the end of the day. Jacka was wounded seven times during the close combat but survived, after killing at least five Germans. He blunted the momentum of a German advance. He was awarded a Military Cross. Did he not do enough for a second VC to be awarded?

In my view it is problematic to overdo the re-writing of history. In the context of the times, great deeds were overlooked and unacknowledged. The military circumstances of the action might reflect badly on leadership. Scrutiny of the event might best be avoided. There were politics involved. War is like that. What has happened has past. Let it be.

As Australians we ought to be proud, not hesitant about our military traditions. Our celebrations are not about victories or defeats. We want to admire, preserve and nurture great human virtues: bravery, stoicism, mateship, self-sacrifice, initiative, daring. It is natural to reassess our traditions each generation and it is equally natural to retain a romantic fondness for the symbols of our idealised 'digger'. They were citizen soldiers. They helped forge our nationhood. Let us spend Anzac Day reflecting on those who served, those who are serving, those who died in service and those still suffering as a result of their service. I hope all High boys will spend some of their time on April 25 showing respect for the service and sacrifice of our citizens in our country's name.

Industrial Arts Department News

Congratulations go to Year 12 student, Yu Jin Wu who sat the Australian Invitational Informatics Olympiad this year. Only 44 students from Australia and New Zealand were invited to sit the Olympiad this year. Yu Jin sat the 4 hour exam and has now progressed to a holiday intensive programming camp, which is the next stage leading to selection in representing Australia in Italy in September. Wish him luck!

Careers News

All Year 12 students are expected to have a 'Beyond High School' interview with the Careers Adviser during Term 2 or Term 3.

Students can make their booking through the 'Careers Interviews' section of the Student Portal. Bookings can be made now – don't delay or you may miss your preferred time!

CASH REGISTER WINDOW

Please ensure that all students have the correct money when making cash payments at the register. Remember payments can be made before school, recess and lunchtime.
Thank you for your cooperation.

MUSIC NOTES

Anzac Day

Congratulations to the Marching Band and Cadets who performed outstandingly on Anzac Day in the City. We were fortunate enough this year to have good weather all day for the march. Well done to all the boys who represented Sydney Boys High and your very fine performance.

Annual Music Camp

The Annual Music Camp will be held at The Tops Conference Centre, Stanwell Tops this year from Monday-Wednesday (28th - 30th May 2012). We invite ALL students in the Music Performance Program to attend the 3-day camp. Music Staff and instrumental tutors will rehearse new repertoire that will be performed at the Camp Concert upon return to school Wednesday afternoon. Please make payments of $280 to the front office ASAP if you have not already done so, as numbers need to be finalised for transport and accommodation.

KPO Concerto Competition

Please come and support Ennes Mehmedbasic this Saturday (28th April) as he competes in the semi-finals for the KPO Concerto Competition at Abbotsleigh School, Wahroonga (Peter Duly Hall) starting at 2pm.

Music Performance Program

Students in the Music Performance Program, ALL Music Ensembles are now up and running, please ensure that you are attending the appropriate Ensembles as 80% attendance to rehearsals is required for award scheme points.

SBHS RUGBY High Rugby = High Spirit

Investec 7s Rugby Tournament 7th April

On Easter Saturday a number of the Opens squad competed in the Scots 7 a side Rugby tournament. The boys played in 3 games against Brisbane State High School, Endeavour Sports High School and Prairiewood High School. After a tough initial game against Brisbane High School, the team narrowly went down to Endeavour and Prairiewood.

Daniel Keogh scoring a try.

Jesse Moffat on the way to the try line.

Training

With matches starting on May 12 it is expected that all boys are attending their training sessions. Training during sport times start on May 9/10, with Monday, Wednesday and Thursday sessions after school continuing.

I look forward to seeing everyone at training,

Mr.Barr
