

From the Principal High Talent

Congratulations to our 17+ 4 x 50m freestyle relay team who earned a bronze medal at the CHS swimming championships this week. Three boys swam PBs in the event to record a time of 1.43.57.

End of Term 1

Congratulations to all our students for the quality of their achievements in term 1, this year. We want every boy to feel that he has accomplished something – he has grown as a learner. It's not what content we learn that matters but our skill in applying it to new situations. We don't learn concepts or content for their own sake but to apply them. Year 7 boys have an interim report issued to sketch how well they have made the transition into high school. Thank you to all staff, parents Old Boys and students who have contributed to our successful term at High.

Anzac Day Assembly

My speech to the assembly is reprinted below:

Distinguished guests, Lt. Colonel Alain Dunand (University of NSW Regiment), Bill Harrigan (Bondi-Waverley RSL), Barry Collins & David Cohen (Coogee-Randwick RSL), Ross Whittle (Maroubra RSL) and Les Haggett, President of the National Servicemen's Association; Old Boys Commander Alan Dale, Dr Doug Carruthers, Alf Tremaine and Ian Devereaux; Paul Harapin, representing the SHSOBU, and serving Old Boy Capt. Eduoard Cousins, staff and students, welcome to our assembly this morning.

Let us honour today the 400 Australian personnel serving in Operation Highroad since January 2015 in their 'train, advise and assist mission in Afghanistan'. We thank the people serving in Operation Okra, the ADF's contribution to the international effort to combat ISIL in Iraq. We salute the efforts of our 400 personnel in Operation Accordion who support the ADF operations in the Middle East Region. Australians are serving in South Sudan, East Timor and on border protection duties. We acknowledge and applaud their contributions. Let us remember them today.

Our primary purpose is to gather to commemorate Anzac Day on this last day of term to ensure that our school makes a public affirmation of its commitment to our Australian cultural heritage. Anzac Day is uniquely Australian. We relive a defeat in war. We combine the solemnity of our national recognition of service and sacrifice in wartime with a proud display of patriotic pride, mateship and cooperative endeavour in times of peace. There is a sense of nationhood, of common cause, that infuses the public consciousness on Anzac Day.

This community feeling is generated in part by our collective reflection on how many people have demonstrated their belief in and love of Australia by surrendering themselves, often for years, to fight for its causes. Whatever we may think of how and why Australia became involved in armed conflicts, the qualities of our people under the ultimate stress of mortal engagement have shone through consistently over the generations. Our sense of togetherness, our stoicism, our resilience, our larrikinism, our comradeship, our daring, our anti-authoritarianism, our self-sacrifice for others, our belief in having fun - these elements of our national psyche are evoked by Anzac Day.

Anzac Day is our undisputed national day. There is continuing controversy about Australia Day, a celebration repugnant to indigenous Australians. Remembrance Day has declined as the end of World War One assumes less importance in our society. We cannot even really agree about when we became a nation. Melbourne Cup Day is the only other public occasion outside of Christmas Day when we act in concert and in harmony.

Anzac Day unites us. Anzac Day inspires us to love our country as much as our forebears did.

Anzac Day reminds us of how lucky our country has been to escape the ravages of war on its soil except for the bombing raids in Darwin and North Western Australia and the midget submarine attacks in Sydney Harbour. It makes us grateful for our lifestyle. It makes us humble when we compare what we have now as a result of what others sacrificed for us. I want to illustrate this sacrifice with one horrific example.

It is nearly 100 years since the first battle of Pozieres which was launched at 0200 on July, 23 1916. Uncharacteristically, the first phase went well. The bombardment was accurate, the machine guns were suppressed, and being at night, the attackers could creep closer to enemy trenches ahead of time. Nonetheless, key objectives on the flanks were not reached and the German Bunkhouse code named Gibraltar had to be taken and then re-taken. General Gough, commanding the 1st Division misread the German defences, claiming the village could be taken by strong patrol action. By the time the line was closed up, most men were in shallow, hastily dug trenches. During the day of the 23rd the German shelling fell on the previous Australian positions.

The German bombardment started at 0700 and lasted all day on July 24. It was claimed that not one person in a battalion escaped without being buried by the dirt thrown up by howitzers, exploding every three seconds for most of the day. The Germans were very accurate because they were firing into their previously occupied territory. The bulk of the men were not in adequate cover. There were no bunkers or dug outs to shelter in. The shelling was intense, prolonged and in a narrow section of the line. Men suffered severely from what came to be recognised as shellshock, characterised by an attitude of frozen despair, uncontrollable twitching in anticipation of explosions, weeping or desperate attempts to run away. Pozieres was described as a 'mincing machine'. One runner survived the bombardment and got his message through to brigade headquarters only to go outside, lie down and shoot himself in the head.

The 1st Division men attacked again on the night of the 24th. They captured K trench and linked up at the cemetery beyond the village, but did not reach their objectives. They were still exposed. At 0715 next morning the artillery barrage from the Germans started up again and continued until dusk, employing the guns from three divisions. The barrage continued all day on the 26th. The German counteroffensive never came. On the night of the 26th the 1st Division was relieved. Corporal Thomas complained in his diary about being ordered to march out, single file, without a communications trench. " 'Tis a wonder any of us got out". They had to march ten miles on the morning of the 27th. ... We had not slept for three nights & had had no food'.

What was achieved? By the standards of the Somme, it was a good operation. Pozieres village had been taken. A 300m by 300m wedge had been taken out of the German line. What was the cost? At least 5,285 Australians were killed, wounded or taken prisoner. A week before at Fromelles there were 5,533 casualties. The price of success or failure was nearly the same. War's futility was exemplified at the Somme.

Considering historical events such as these, Anzac Day commemoration is rightfully embedded in our culture. Culture is about improvement by mental or physical training. It encompasses a stage of the intellectual development of a civilisation. Anzac Day trains us by intellectual reflection, by wearing poppies for remembrance, by marching, by gathering for services, by holding school assemblies. It teaches us what it is that we have to be proud of and what a high price was paid for our way of life. On 25 April I urge you to participate in Anzac Day services somewhere and watch the marches and look at the faces. You will know then why we celebrate this special day. You will share the spirit.

I hope you will respect today's ceremony and value it as Sydney High's foreshadowing celebration of a most important national day.

From The Junior Library New E Book Package Worth $20,000 From Wheeler's – Holiday Reading!

Our Junior Library has just paid $1000 for a pre-selected package of e books offered by Wheeler's. This package is not just for Junior Boys but was selected to appeal to High School Students including girls. So apologies for the occasional girl's book boys. We can disable them if you like. Please go into the Collection supplied by Wheeler's and have a look and a borrow. New releases are mixed with old favourites and some classics. And yes there are a lot of books there that we also have in our paper collection. This agglomeration is intended to plump up our e book collection to make it a viable one.

However there are quite a few lovely books in this new addition to our e library. We only began this e Collection halfway through last year and put the Wheeler's and the Over Drive Collection together and we already have roughly 1600 e books for you to browse and borrow. Our librarians would like to know what you think of the Wheeler's e books now. If you feel like telling us to our face please do and you are invited to email us on Library@sbhs.nsw.edu.au.

Library Lessons This Term – Junior Library

Every new boy in 2016 should have been booked into a Portal Lesson and an e book lesson this term. Our librarians hope the boys have shown their parents the Parent Portal and also the SBHS e book Collection as a result of these lessons.

Two Year 9 Values Ed groups have also begun their 3 lesson Literacy Unit. Year 9 Values Ed teachers can book their classes in over the next two terms. Last year's Literacy students can find the librarian's marks and comment on their book review on Moodle. You should have received an email to tell you these.

Premier's Reading Challenge

Year 7,8,9 boys who would like to earn award scheme points by entering competitions can enter this Challenge to read 20 books from their prescribed list. (Three points for this) You will need to enter the books you have read into the Premier's Reading Challenge website. Some wonderful parents actually purchase 20 books for their sons to read for this challenge. Premier's Reading Challenge lists can be searched on Oliver also - no need to buy all those books! I just put in the search term "Premier's Reading Challenge" and 306 books come up. So read our free books to complete the challenge. There are two terms left to read your 20 books.

Break Time Library Usage (Examining The Computer Area)

Our library staff count the total number of students, the number of laptops used and the number of PCs used in our library every break time.

- This term 7673 students came to our library in break times – median 59 per break
- 1888 laptops were used in our break times – median 14 per break
- 953 PC's were used in break times – median 7 per break

Fiction Into Genre, Covers Into Oliver And Our Incredible Monitors

Our Junior Library Monitors have been very heroic in Term 1 in tackling long and complex overhauls which our staff would struggle to complete with their other duties. Two teams have been working. One team is putting covers into Oliver of all our Non fiction. The second team has been sifting the fiction for genre. Both projects are over 50% completed which is amazing.

MUSIC NOTES

Peter Lin (Marching Band Prefect)

Hello parents and fellow students. A bit about myself. My name is Peter Lin, and I'm one of your Music Prefects for 2016. I was first introduced to music back in primary school, beginning piano tuition when I was seven, and still continue today. Upon entering Sydney Boys High, I took up a second instrument in the guitar (in the naivety that becoming a rock star was an achievable act) before switching two years later to the flute. Currently I am a member of the Senior Concert Band and Symphony Orchestra, as well as Drum Major for the Marching Band.

The aim of Sydney High is to produce high achieving scholars who not only excel in academics, but who engage in co-curricular activities which foster development and better prepare them for the reality of life after school. Music performs a vital role in this by providing a unique opportunity to participate in an activity which covers a vast array of skills, knowledge and rewards. Not only have I made wonderful friends, joining my fellow musicians for 7:45am rehearsals twice a week, but it has opened so many doors to peruse my own passions. I have been given roles in concerts and musical productions, had the privilege of marching in the Anzac Day Parade, and even served as the assistant conductor in the Senior Production musical 'Guys and Dolls', performed in conjunction with Sydney Girls High.

The most exciting experience however, would have to be the 2015 USA Music tour. It was indeed this time last year, that 40 odd boys and 4 teachers jetted off to USA, visiting New York, New Orleans, San Francisco and Los Angeles, a life changing trip that culminated in tons of sightseeing, workshops and talks with professional musicians, learning and making new friends with our partner schools in the US, and a total of 5 performances at amazing venues such as Central Park, the New Orleans Jazz Festival and even Disneyland. Furthermore, music has played an integral part in my academic studies. I having just completed the music 2 course last year as an accelerant, something I never imagined I'd do, meaning I have extra time to focus on my other subjects for my final year.

While I could go on, I hope these small anecdotes have given you an insight into what the music program is really about. It's a pathway to foster new friendships, to experience things you otherwise would never have done, and give you invaluable skills which you can apply for the rest of your life. I hope you guys have the same wonderful experiences I did.

Junior Dance was a successful event. It was run by the SRCs of Sydney Boys and Sydney Girls High Schools. The turnout was quite pleasing and a considerable amount of money was raised. The music was really exhilarating which made the vibe of the night a pleasant experience for everyone. It was three hours of fun that everyone will remember as one of the best nights of their life."

MIC of Football Report

We had our first trial match for all teams last Saturday against Cranbrook. Over the past 5-10 years Cranbrook has become a strong football school. It was pleasing to see we had many wins especially with our 1st and 2nd XI, teams getting on top. After just one week both teams fitness had improved remarkably allowing them to play at a high speed and skill level from start to finish.

James Pope for the 2nd XI v's Cranbrook at Cranbrook

The U16s have gone through major team changes from previous seasons. The age group has a huge amount of depth, winning five of the six games.

The U15s at the top level have a lot of room for improvement in regard to work ethic and attitude. There may be players from the lower grades with lesser skills, but with a greater approach to training and games. There could possibly be many changes made in the coming weeks. Special mention must be made about the 16Fs and 15Fs who played against Riverview 16Es and 15Es, who are a very strong football school, to take out the win in both games.

The U14s showed plenty of potential last season, that were unable to produce results. It was great to see of the six games, we had two wins, two draws and two losses. The 14As were down 2-0 at half time, then down 3-1 with ten minutes remaining. They fought back well and managed to square it up with a couple of minutes remaining. Another special mention must be made of our 14Fs playing against arguably the best football school in the GPS competition, Newington's 14Es, who also managed to get the win.

The U13s had a tough introduction to private school Saturday sport. Many of our students came in expecting to be of a similar standard, but remember these students have been playing together since the age of five. You will see the results from the U14s with hard work, good attitude and a will to win. The boys will improve at a dramatic rate and start competing against these schools.

We now move into our Term 1 holiday break. Over the Autumn break we have our football camp for all players. If you are not registered, please do so by Friday 15 April. Training will commence on Wednesday 27 April with another trial match against Grammar on Saturday 30 April. Thank you to everyone for a great start to the season. Enjoy your well-deserved break and let's be fresh and ready to go for term 2.

Keep up the good effort and I am sure SBHS Football will continue to have a successful season.

St Andrew's First Grade Report

Our second game of the season was a win. Opening with two quick tries, it looked like it was to be a blowout win for us. However, St Andrew's fought hard to stay in the game, getting a couple of runaway tries, rolling off penalties and capitalising on mistakes on our part.

In the second half, we lifted our spirit and focused on defence; low, chopping tackles proving effective against our taller counterparts.

Forcing numerous turnovers in lineouts, scrums, and rucks, we managed to fight through the grit and score several more tries that made use of both strong forward power and fast ball movement in the backs.

This was a great display of the effort we were willing to put into resetting our mindsets and focusing on what was happening in the moment instead of letting our errors get the better of us.

We wish to thank Dr Jaggar, family, and friends for supporting us through the heat and to all who helped make the afternoon tea possible.

A special thanks to all the parent helpers without whom this would not have been possible!
