Weights Room Memberships Closed

The Weights Room is no longer accepting any payments for the rest of the year. Next year, boys wanting to avail themselves of this opportunity will have to pay before 28 February in order to access membership of the Weights Room. Kurt Rich trains boys in how to lift weights properly. He supervises their training sessions and will implement personalised or sport-specific weights training on request from coaches or MICs. Understandably, he wants a fixed clientele to develop.

Sorry Day Assembly 2016

This week we held our annual Sorry Day Assembly. My speech is reprinted below:

We gather here today on Gadigal land. The Gadigal clan, people of the Eora nation, occupied an area from South Head to what is now Petersham in the West and Cook's River in the South. I pay my respects to Gadigal people past and present and to their elders.

Each year at this time we turn our thoughts towards reconciliation on National Sorry Day, celebrated on 26 May each year. Originally the day commemorated one year since the publication of the Bringing Them Home Report of 1997, which addressed the issue of the 'Stolen Generations'- the forced removal of aboriginal children from their parents. As a beginning to the reconciliation process the report recommended establishing such a day so that the Australian community would have an opportunity to be involved in activities that acknowledged the impact of the policies of forcible removal on Australia's indigenous population. On Sunday 29 May 2000, 250,000 people participated in the Corroboree Bridge Walk highlighting the lack of an official apology from the Australian Government to indigenous Australians. Since 2005, the official title for Sorry Day is a National Day of Healing for All Australians. Somehow, it doesn't sound as appropriate. We should all focus on why we are sorry for what was done by governments in our name.

As we work through our years of celebration for the centenary of the Great War 1914-18 we should spare a thought for the 1,000 indigenous soldiers who fought for their country. Originally, many aborigines were not allowed to enlist on the grounds of race. By 1917, with voluntary enlistment waning, restrictions were relaxed. For most of the volunteers it was the first time that they had been treated as people serving under the same conditions as white people and being paid 6/- a day. By all accounts aboriginal soldiers were accepted by their fellows without significant prejudice.

Ironically, they all returned to discrimination and prejudice that was arguably worse than before they left. One veteran was not only denied his pay packet and his pension, but also given back the same rags he was wearing when he volunteered and sent back to work on a station as if the death trenches, mud and shelling had never happened. On their return home indigenous veterans did not see 'a land fit for heroes to live in'. They were still non-citizens. They still could not vote. Only one was allocated land under the 'soldier settlement scheme'.

Given their circumstances why did they serve? Some did so spurred by patriotism and loyalty. Others saw the war as an opportunity to prove they were as good as white soldiers. Some saw the war as just. Some thought serving might help to advance the cause of indigenous rights. Others sought adventure, escape from their living conditions or a paid overseas experience.

During the war at least a third of all enlisted Aboriginal men died in battle or of their wounds. Significant acts of bravery were acknowledged in the awarding of Distinguished Conduct Medals to Corporal Albert Knight and Private William Irwin. Nonetheless, returning Aboriginal soldiers were denied entry into RSL Clubs and hotels and most went back to their former lives in indigenous communities or on mission stations. In recent times, Pastor Ray Minniecon launched the Coloured Diggers Project to establish an ATSI Honour Board, recording the soldier's names and tribal groups. Its title is a telling pun: 'The Best we Forgot'.

The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Commemorative Ceremony is held each ANZAC Day at Mount Ainslie in Canberra to honour all indigenous Australians who served in the Australian forces since 1901. It is hosted by the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Veterans and Services Association (ATSIVA). It is a positive contribution to the story of our nation for indigenous soldiers to be honoured. There is also a push to recognise the sacrifice of the estimated 30,000 aborigines who died during the Frontier Wars which were fought for one hundred years. They included: Hawkesbury/Nepean 1790-1816; Black Wars 1803-1830 Tasmania; Port Phillip District 1830-1850; Kalkadoon Wars 1870-1980 (Queensland) and the Western Australian Conflict 1890-1898. The invasion narrative in Australia is not given the prominence it deserves in explaining how Australia has evolved.

During our National Reconciliation Week (27/5-3/6) we turn our thoughts to the concept of reconciliation and to how we can move forward as a society by acknowledging past wrongs and setting a better framework for relationships with the indigenous community in the future. Respectful relationships are what we all seek. So, on this National Sorry Day, I want to say 'sorry' to the indigenous Australians who served in the frontier wars and in the nation's wars since the Boer War. Their struggle, service and sacrifice have not been honoured appropriately and commitments made were not kept after their homecoming. I say sorry also to the descendants of these veterans. It is easy to empathise with their understandable sense of injustice and betrayal.

For healing to progress we have to demonstrate as a society that we acknowledge our historical transgressions, that we reject racial discrimination, that we are serious about building respectful relationships and that we honour the contributions of all our citizens. Each year at the end of May we should pause to reflect on the cost of our nation building – dispossession of tribal lands – and of our racism – shameful treatment of a proud but conquered people.

Debating

Huge congratulations to our debating Prefect, Thomas, who has been selected into the Australian Debating Team. Massive congratulations to Thomas – we are very, very proud of you.

In addition, huge congratulations are owed to Hugh, Akheed and Darmesh who won the Regional MUNA competition as Indonesia. Next stop Canberra for nationals - very well done boys.

Also well done to FED Senior B who won their Semi Final on Friday and will be making their way to the FED finals at Pymble this week. Good luck boys.

This Friday we also have two teams in the Eastside Semi Finals - Year 11 and Year 12. These debates will take place at Rose Bay and I encourage Junior debaters to go along and support their teams and watch some very high quality debating.

Apologies to Louis Saunders and Aryan Jani whose names were confused with two other boys in last week's list of GPS debaters. Louis Saunders has a place in GPS Seconds and Aryan Jani has a place in year 9 PDC. Special congratulations to both of them.

School is more than just classes, studying and exams. I'm sure many of you reading this may be stressed about exams or the future, but it's important to take your own experiences as well as others' experiences into consideration as well. Being a Prefect means to represent the school, leading by example, however there's no reason why every student can't do this as well. It takes more than a small group of individuals to make a change; everyone has to make an effort. So please, if you ever see someone else struggling, flustered or maybe just having a bad day, take a moment to just ask one simple question – "Are you okay?"

See you all in school!

Meet the Prefect Intern

My name is Daniel Jiang and I am one of the Prefects at Sydney Boys High 2016. What does it mean to be a Prefect? Taking a step back, what does it even mean to be a student at Sydney Boys High? For everyone reading this, I'm sure either you or your son attended this school and are aware of just how fortunate every student is to be a member of the High Community.

For me, I feel incredibly blessed to be a student at High, having the opportunity to meet so many great and incredible people; all amazing in their own respects. To be a true member of High is so much more than just turning up to school every day – it's about involving yourself and taking every opportunity you can. We pride ourselves in a community of Scholar Sportsmen, but High has so much more to offer – whether it be music, debating, chess or even mah-jong, there's always something new to participate in. Leading up to my final year at High, I realised how there were still so many opportunities I didn't take advantage of. Personally, my biggest regret would be not picking up an instrument in Year 7.

I pride myself in being a member of various sporting teams and over the years have experienced a wide spectrum of sports including basketball, fencing, rifle shooting and football. Not only sport, I have also engaged myself in societies such as PAWS, CSC and the Social Justice Society.

MIC of Football Report

Our 1st XI had their first round of the CHS knockout against Tempe High School. We were a bit slow off the mark conceding an early goal, but this just gave our boys a bit of a wakeup and showed how good a team they can be by winning by eight goals

Aryan Vatandoust in the CHS KO Round 1

Saturday was our final trial match against Newington who are regarded as the strongest football school. We have shown remarkable improvement going from a goal deficit of 6.6 in 2015 to 3.7. This comes from the way our boys are training and the football program Tony Dunn and the coaches are implementing. Well done!!

Patrick Huang for the 15As against Newington

The 1st XI had a very exciting game. They deservedly went up 2-0 at half time. Newington fought back to take the lead 2-3. We squared it up (3-3,) then on the last play of the match, Newington were rewarded a free kick which, they converted to win a thrilling match 3-4.

Sydney Boys High Weightlifting Club Receives Generous Donations

Sydney Boys High Weightlifting Club was gifted a brand new Uesaka Weightlifting bar by Pete Hardiman of Odd Socks Weightlifting Club! Pete (pictured in the background above centre) and Steve (Head coaches of Odd Socks) have been big supporters of the High Weightlifting Program and we are honoured to have received such a gift. The bar will be put to good use in preparation for further comps. The boys lifted well on the weekend and all accumulated totals in the Snatch and Clean & Jerk good enough to qualify them for the Australian Championships.

A big thank you also to the original Head Strength & Conditioning Coach Jason Tassell aka TJ. (pictured below). He has donated some quality Olympic lifting plates (pictured above right) that will last the punishment of the boys lifting for many years. The weights room boys and I are extremely grateful for what Jason has done. If it wasn't for his efforts starting 11 years ago and ongoing support, the weights room wouldn't be in the position it is in now.

your home against fire

A smoke alarm can save lives. More than half of fatal home fires between 2000 and 2014 were in properties without a smoke alarm.

But simply having a smoke alarm is not enough. It must be working properly.

It's been 10 years since NSW mandatory smoke alarm legislation was passed. Since smoke alarm manufacturers strongly advise replacing them every 10 years, this year Fire & Rescue NSW is urging residents to replace outdated smoke alarms with the latest photoelectric alarms.

HELPING YOUR COMMUNITY STAY SAFE

Some of your community members may be at a higher risk of house fire and a higher likelihood of being injured in a house fire, according to our research.

You can help by encouraging them to replace outdated alarms.

Fire & Rescue NSW Commissioner, Greg Mullins is recommending that every house in NSW be fitted with the latest photoelectric smoke alarm. Photoelectric alarms provide faster warning - and will keep you and your family safe for the next 10 years. They are available at your local hardware store.

Photoelectric alarms are more effective at detecting the types of fires that are most likely to cause a home fire death: smouldering fires. They are also less likely than other alarms to go off when you are cooking or using the shower. They will say 'photoelectric' on the packet.

Fire & Rescue NSW is asking all NSW residents to REPLACE their smoke alarms and take the time to check in on 10 friends or family members to ensure they update their smoke alarms. You could be saving their life.

We also encourage you to take pictures helping others replace their smoke alarm and share it on your social media platforms using the hashtags #ReAlarm #FRNSW

旧款烟雾报警器

烟雾报警器可以拯救生命。2000年至2014年间，家庭致死火灾事故中，有一半以上发生在未安装烟雾报警器的房屋中。

但仅仅安装烟雾报警器还不够，报警器必须能正常工作。

自从新州通过强制性烟雾报警器法规以来，至今已过了10年时间。烟雾报警器制造商强烈建议每10年更换一次，因此今年新州消防救护局 (Fire & Rescue NSW) 呼吁居民更换旧款烟雾报警器，使用最新的光电报警器。

共建社区安全

研究表明，有些社区民众可能面临较高的家庭火灾风险，在家庭火灾中受伤的几率也更高。

您可鼓励他们更换旧款报警器，帮助共建社区安全。

新州消防救护局 (Fire & Rescue NSW) 局长 Greg Mullins 建议，新州每套房屋均应安装最新的光电烟雾报警器。光电报警器的报警速度更快，可以在未来10年内保护您与家人的安全。您可前往当地五金商店购买。

光电报警器能更有效地探测隐燃火，隐燃火是最有可能造成家庭火灾死亡事故的火灾类型。与其他报警器相比，这种报警器在做饭或淋浴时响起警报的几率也更低。光电报警器的包装上会显示“光电” (“photoelectric”) 字样。

我们也鼓励您拍摄协助他人更换烟雾报警器的照片，并使用主题标签 #ReAlarm #FRNSW，分享到社交媒体平台。
