The foregoing list comprises all the names, officially recorded at the School, of Old Boys who have enlisted for service in the A.I.F., R.A.N. and R.A.A.F. The Headmaster will welcome corrections and additions to this list. Particulars required are number, full name, unit and year of leaving School.

The sympathy of the School is extended to the parents of Flight-Sergeant Norman Keith Judd, of the R.A.A.F., whose death in air operations over Germany has been announced. Norman attended the School in 1935 in fourth year, and left at the end of the year to enter the banking service. In May, 1940, he joined the R.A.A.F. and left for overseas about March, 1941, for training in Canada, securing sixth place in the Observers' School. Subsequently, he became an air gunner, securing second place at the Trenton Gunnery School. Thence to England, where he was engaged for months on night fighters. His wide experience on "operations" over hostile territory preceded his selection as pilot. On the night of March 7, 1942, he accompanied a "screen" crew, and was, presumably shot down over Dusseldorf with 50 other plane crews. Until the notice of his death he had been posted as missing. A "screen" crew consists of very experienced operational airmen whose job is to act as guide and controller of perhaps 20 planes whose crews are not experienced.

So Judd's father, in writing the Headmaster, comments: "His life and death reflect credit upon his old School. We hope that the sacrifice that these gallant young men have made will not be in vain."

We are delighted to learn of the splendid achievements of three Old Boys of the School—Flying-Officer James Clark, D.F.C., Flight-Lieut Robert Nielsen, D.F.M., and Sgt. John Cortis, D.C.M. The official record of their battle honours is printed below:

Flight-Lieutenant R. S. M. Nielsen, D.F.M.

Congratulations to Bob Nielsen on the award of the Distinguished Flying Medal. His last year at School was 1937, when he gained his leaving certificate, and represented the School in the First Fifteen and the First Eleven.

The official citation for Sgt.-Pilot Nielsen's exploit that won for him the D.F.M. is as follows:

"Throughout his operational career, Nielsen has shown outstanding ability and a strong sense of duty, combined with a very fine record as navigator. One night in January, while returning from the Ruhr, Nielsen's bomber was damaged by enemy aircraft. In violent evasive action, the bomber was driven well off its correct course, but because of Nielsen's skill it reached base safely. By his cheerful courage and determination, Nielsen has set a splendid example to other navigators."

THE RECORD

After the announcement of the award, Nielsen was promoted to Pilot-Officer. In his next operational flight, he had again an outstanding record, and was promoted to Flight-Lieutenant, thus skipping the intervening rank of Flying Officer.

Flying-Officer James Gould Clark, D.F.C.

Congratulations also to James Clark, who took the Intermediate Certificate examination in 1931, and left School in the following year.

He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for outstanding service in the Middle East. The citation was as follows:

"This officer has displayed fine spirit, tenacity and keenness in the face of hardship and danger. He has exhibited a special aptitude for devising new methods of attack. During numerous attacks on Tobruk he has been successful in bombing and starting fires in the dock area. Flying-Officer Clark has invariably pressed home his mission with determination and coolness, and participated in sorties over the battle area where he has severely damaged enemy motor transport. Throughout, Flying-Officer Clark has completed his tasks with eagerness and determination which have been most praiseworthy."

Sgt. John F. Cortis, D.C.M.

John Cortis took his Leaving Certificate examination in 1933, the Jubilee year of the School.

The School was delighted to read the official citation of the action in the Middle East that won for him the honour of the Distinguished Conduct Medal. He is now back in Australia, fully recovered and very fit. The citation reads as follows:

"Sgt. Cortis was moving forward with his battalion after the rifle companies had reached their objective, and were being subjected to heavy artillery and machine-gun fire. His vehicle was set alight and casualties were caused amongst the personnel. Cortis took command of one sub-section of the machine-gun platoon, dismounted the gun from the burning vehicle, and brought the sub-section into action, engaging the enemy. This resulted in German machine-gun posts being silenced, thus permitting the re-organisation of the companies and their consolidation of the ground won. Later in the operations, Cortis took command of the machine-gun platoon and was wounded during the heavy fighting."

THE POST-WAR ORDER

The student of to-day is the citizen of to-morrow, and therefore, it behoves us now to come to a realization, before we attain our majority, of what we desire as a post-war order.

There can be no dispute that present-day curricula in schools generally concentrate on the vocational and academic aspects of education, resulting in a confined perspective on the obligations of a citizen in his association with his fellows. An admixture of social subjects injected into the curriculum would remedy this deficiency.

One glaring weakness in the social structure of to-day is the existence of slums and unsightly blocks of flats, and the non-existence of medical centres where people may receive the best aid in illness without the maximum of cost. No post-war order would be complete if it did not include the eradication of these slums, and only by raising the standard of living can this be overcome.

Industry has a vital place in this order, for it greatly influences the economy of a nation. Industry in itself is worthless unless the mechanic and the artisan are gainfully employed and encouraged in their work. It is an axiom that every man is worth his hire.

A nation healthy and alive in industry begets a stable economic structure. As Australia is a primary producer, and therefore a seller and exporter, it is essential that we be on friendly terms with all nations, and endeavour to understand their problems, so that a depression similar to that of 1929-32 shall not again affect us. Although Australia is a primary producer, vast scope exists for this country to enter into the field of secondary industry production, i.e., manufactures. As these industries, by virtue of the existing war necessities, have taken root in Australia and have cost literally millions of pounds, economic sense dictates that we develop these investments to the fullest extent. To achieve this object, such industries should be regimented by the Government in order to obtain the widest markets.

On the political aspect, experience has shown that for any central government requiring to obtain a national objective, it is necessary that such a government be accorded over-riding powers. This has been demonstrated by the recent "Powers Bill," which, when approved by the State Governments, will delegate practically all legislative authority to the Federal Government. It, therefore, follows that if one government in time of war is adequate, then in any post-war order an efficient government advised by commissions set up in each State (which, however, have no power to legislate) is justifiable, and would greatly benefit the nation.

OBITUARY

Death of Dr. F. W. Doak

We regret to announce that another link with the old days of Sydney High School has gone with the death on 27th April of Dr. F. W. Doak. His is the second name in the register of admission when the School was opened in 1883. He looked back to the past with very kindly and affectionate feelings for the masters who had instilled in him an abiding love of literature. In 1941 Dr. Doak instituted an annual prize for classics, to be known as the "Dr. F. W. Doak Prize for Greek or Latin." In this way his name will be perpetually associated with the School.

PERSONAL

- Miss E. Cochrane, B.A., from Bowral High.
- Mr. A. H. Webster, B.E.C., from the Research Office, Dept. of Education, School Counsellor.
- Mrs. T. Houston, B.A., was appointed temporarily for three weeks ended April 19.
- Mr. L. C. D. Kemp was appointed as District Counsellor.

59th ANNUAL SPEECH DAY

17th December, 1942

Mr. R. S. Betty (President of S.H.S. P. & C. Association), who acted as Chairman, in welcoming the Hon. C. R. Evatt, K.C., M.L.A., said that in these days they could all appreciate the immense amount of work placed on the Minister for Education.

Mr. J. H. Killip, B.A. (Headmaster), prefaced his Annual Report by stating that the School had opened in 1942 under the shadow of

THE RECORD

Japanese aggression. He stressed the emergency efforts of the staff and School regarding trenches, shatter-proof windows, camouflage netting, fire-fighting appliances, First Aid post, emergency First Aid, miniature rifle range, etc.

The Minister said that he was privileged in bringing a message of congratulation and goodwill from the Premier, who was unavoidably absent. He congratulated Mr. Killip, the staff and every boy of the School on the splendid report. It had been a year in which they had carried on in the shadow of possible invasion—a shadow that was still there! In spite of that, the School had maintained a record academically, and on the field of sports. Addressing the parents, Mr. Evatt said that he wanted their boys to remain at School as long as possible. They were needed at the University, in Engineering trades, etc. He did not want boys (and girls) to be leaving School at the Intermediate stage for positions which were nothing compared with what those boys could do. Schools were not set up to teach so much of this and so much of that. They were set up to send out into the world great men and great women, upon whom in a few years' time will rest the responsibilities in managing the affairs of this land. They wanted them to do it well.

He concluded by expressing the hope that none of those boys would be called upon to engage in combat work in this war. He hoped rather that they would have a lasting peace before next Speech Day.

The special prizes were presented by Mr. R. S. Betty, G. C. Saxby, Mr. Fairland and Merle Holroyd (Girls' High). John Dexter (School Captain) proposed a vote of thanks to the visitors, and the School Choir presented an attractive programme.

THE SCHOOL UNION Annual Meeting, February 12

The retiring Union Committee was unanimously re-elected, with the exception that the Assistant Secretary for 1943 is A. Hodge.

The Annual Report, read by the Hon. Secretary, Mr. E. Bembrick, and the Balance Sheet by Mr. O. A. Taylor, were adopted by acclamation.

THE MUSIC CLUB

Under the direction of Mr. D'Abbron, a club was formed recently for lovers of music. Audiences of between twenty and thirty boys, from all classes in the School, assemble in Room 9 every Friday at lunch-time to hear the works of the great composers.

The works already performed include Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 5 ("The Emperor"), in Eb; Violin Concerto in D; and Symphony No. 6 ("The Pastoral"), in F Major. Also Schumann's Piano Concerto in A Minor.

THE RECORD

On the extensive programme for future recitals are: Mozart's Piano Concerto in Eb; Prokofieff Violin Concerto; Brahms' Violin Concerto in D Minor; "Daphnis and Chloe," by Ravel; excerpts from "The Ring," by Wagner; "Singers of Yesterday"; Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto in E Minor; Beethoven's Symphonies No. 1 in C Major; No. 5 in C Minor, and No. 7 in A Major; Brahms' Symphony No. 4 in E Minor.

SWING MUSIC SOCIETY

This society has, since the beginning of the year, with the aid of Mr. J. D'Abron, attempted to cater for those who, according to the "highbrows," are intellectually "lowbrows." However, jazz music is an art to be reckoned with.

First of all, let me emphasise that this club cuts the inferior types of jazz music to a bare minimum. We try to centre upon such acknowledged great artists as Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington, "Bix" Beiderbecke. We also play the music of modern "swing" bands, though personally, it has little or no appeal.

Remember, meetings are at present held in Room 4 each Thursday at 12.40 p.m. and all details of meetings are posted in the sports notice case behind the hall.

B. STERN (5B), Secretary.

DEBATING SOCIETY

The purpose of the Debating Society is expressed in its constitution, thus:

"The object of the society shall be the intellectual improvement of its members by weekly debates and such other means as may be desirable."

The meetings are held on Thursday afternoons in Room 13, commencing at 3.30 and closing between 4.30 and 5 o'clock. Any member of the School may attend.

Each year three of the best debaters in the society are chosen to represent the School in G.P.S. and other competitions. This year's team consists of Messrs. Fisher, Blunt and Wolfers.

It is well known that the School has in past years been extremely successful in the field of debating, as witness the Hume-Barbour trophy which stands at the bottom of the main staircase.

This success has always been due to regular attendances at the society, and consequently, frequent practice in debating of juniors who thus equip themselves for membership in the School team later on.

Let us hope that this year will be as successful for the team, as past years have been for their predecessors.

JULIUS RINTELN, Secretary.

THE RECORD

THE INTER-SCHOOL CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Meetings of this group are held in Room 6 at 12.40 on Tuesdays and 12.50 on Fridays, the leaders this year being J. Hansen and A. Richardson. Helpful addresses are delivered upon appropriate topics, and the I.S.C.F. library is available to all.

Help to swell our ranks by your attendance. Meetings are open to all, and we hope to see many new faces in the near future.

A. POWYS (4c), Hon. Sec.

THE SCHOOL CAPTAIN

The honour and privilege of being Captain of the School this year falls to E. (Ted) Swinbourne. His career at S.H.S. has been an outstanding one, as he was the Under 14 swimming champion in 1940, and has represented the School at the C.H.S. Swimming Carnivals every year since he came. A member of the First Grade Water Polo team last year, he became the captain this year. In Life-Saving he has gained all the awards to the bar to the Award of Merit, and at the recent exams. held in life-saving he obtained the highest point score. Football, too, is among his list, being one of the Second Fifteen last year, and First Fifteen this year. His academic achievements are not lacking, and in the Intermediate Certificate he gained four A's and three B's. He has been a science monitor and class prefect for five years. Besides this, his popularity among the boys has made Ted a fitting candidate for the position he has to fulfil and uphold.

S.H.S. CADET DETACHMENT

Until recently, Cadet Detachments were attached to Infantry Brigades for administration. As a protege of the Brigade, we were dependent on them for such training equipment as they could spare. Owing to the mobile character of Brigade Headquarters in war-time, it was inevitable that the link between Cadets and their Brigades would frequently be severed. A Staff Officer was appointed to take the seventy Detachments in N.S.W. under his immediate care. His administration and staff has grown remarkably; he now has more than a dozen full-time staff instructors for service with Detachments. This involves greatly increased responsibilities for Detachments, but we are rewarded by stricter supervision and a thoroughness in training which was impossible formerly.

Last December an experiment was made in organising a Combined Camp, consisting of a number of schools. It proved so great a success that another Combined Camp on an even bigger scale has been arranged for April.

Week-end bivouac camps have, for the first time, been included in our training. Two have already been held this year, and have proved both popular and successful. These bivouacs combine a holiday with some military training and prawning.

THE RECORD

Our enrolment is a little greater than last year, and very little below the record membership for the School. Thirty-three per cent. of those eligible to join have done so. We would like to welcome many more into our ranks, but still we feel that a small and efficient Corps is preferable to a larger unit where some are apathetic and uninterested. It is gratifying to report that the parade dances are 100 per cent. better than they have been for some time.

In these days, when clothing coupons are at so high a premium, the free issue of a shirt and shorts to every Cadet is greatly appreciated.

The Detachment is now enjoying the fruits of our labours in building the Rifle Range; shooting practice is held every week, and we have arranged for a continuation of our competitions with other schools. With the opportunities for practice which our own range affords, we hope to have an unbeaten record this year.

A number of Cadets attended Army Officers' and N.C.O.'s schools last January. Every Cadet from S.H.S. passed, and we congratulate them. Especially do we wish to congratulate Sergeants Gardner and Raymond who, obtaining over 70 per cent. at an Officers' school, have been recommended for Commissions. Special mention is deserved by Cadet Sgt. Geary, who came top at an N.C.O. school attended by nearly 200 Cadets from many Detachments.

We suffered a loss in the transfer of our O.C., Lieut. Lynch, but we congratulate him on his promotion to Cessnock High School.

OLD BOYS—GRADUATES IN MEDICINE

Congratulations to Old Boys who have joined the lengthy list of Sydney High School graduates in Medicine. In the results announced last week, final degree examination were: Bryan T. Dowd, Jack Keen, Keith J. Lazarus, John W. Muller, Ronald J. Rutherford, A. C. Garvin Thomas, Donald J. Wurth.

THE LIBRARY

As usual a large number of boys are taking advantage of our fine School Library. It is pleasing to note that many First Year and new Fourth Year boys are among the regular borrowers.

The P. & C. Association has again given its valued support to the Library funds and, despite difficulty in obtaining books, many new additions have been made. I would like to repeat the invitation that use should be made of the Recommendation Book in the Library.

With the removal of the glass doors from the presses and the institution of a new system of borrowing, much delay has been eliminated. Boys are asked to assist in the orderly arrangement of the Library by returning books to their correct places on the shelves. The new electric clock is a much appreciated acquisition.

THE RECORD

AIR TRAINING CORPS

S.H.S. Flight

Since its formation in August, 1942, the S.H.S. Flight of No. 29 Squadron has maintained the high standard of proficiency set by the School Squadrons in studies and in the various other activities connected with the A.T.C. The Flight was fortunate in having such a keen efficient cadet as F. Pentecost for its first Flight-Sergeant.

The training strength of the Flight has decreased slightly from the forty-two of last year to thirty-six at present. A considerably greater complement would be welcome, and so all boys of sixteen or over, who wish eventually to become members of the R.A.A.F., are urged to enrol immediately. It should be remembered that, in future, entrants into the Air Force will come almost exclusively from the A.T.C.

During last term three cadets—D. Levy, N. Wright and B. Cocks—were trained in sending in Morse, and now are helping greatly in Morse tuition.

In the summer vacation, many cadets went to R.A.A.F. stations throughout N.S.W. and gained valuable technical experience of, as well as actually flying, in service aircraft. In the May vacation, the more advanced section of the Flight attended a Squadron Camp at Avalon, during which a number of the technical subjects for Stage II were studied.

At a recent Squadron Parade, an announcement of great interest to us was made by Wing Commander Love. Air Board has granted permission for A.T.C. cadets to fly. As the first opportunities are to be offered cadets who have shown efficiency in training, this promise should prove a great stimulus.

It must be again stressed that the A.T.C. is the means by which prompt entry into the R.A.A.F. may be assured. Once a Proficiency Certificate has been gained—many cadets already have theirs—and medical fitness is of the required standard, entry into almost any branch of the service is guaranteed. New members for the A.T.C. will be most welcome.

L. M. JACKS, Flight-Sergeant.

Very enthusiastic meetings were held on the above dates, and it was agreed that a drive be made to make contact with as many old members as possible, but in view of the fact that the great majority are either serving with the Forces or engaged on special Defence work, the task is no sinecure. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Old Boys will greatly assist us in forwarding their addresses, so that personal contact may be made.

We greatly appreciate the efforts of Mr. Killip in obtaining so many members from students who left School last year, and it is to be expected that the number will increase each year. Unfortunately, owing to restrictions, functions cannot be held in the same lavish

LADIES' AUXILIARY

President: Mrs. A. V. Pickering.

Hon. Secretary: Mrs. A. J. Edwards.

Hon. Treasurer: Mrs. R. A. Geary.

The Annual Meeting of the Association was held in March last, when the office-bearers for the ensuing year were elected.

The President, Mr. R. S. Betty, in reviewing the past year, thanked individually and severally all who had contributed to the successful record, particularly commending the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary for their splendid effort.

Eulogistic references were made also to the sterling work performed by the retiring Secretary, Mr. S. M. S. Phillips, who had occupied the office continuously since 1938.

This year the Executive has budgeted upon an anticipated revenue of £750, which figure eloquently reflects the support afforded by the Association to the educational, sporting, social and cultural activities of the School.

The high standard of entertainment provided by P. & C. dances is reflected in their growing popularity. The appreciation by Youth of these obviously enjoyable social functions is a matter for gratification, and committee members are always pleased to receive suggestions which may further improve them.

The Executive is contemplating an alteration in the form of the regular P. & C. monthly meetings. If suitable arrangements can be concluded, an announcement of real interest to parents will be made by the Headmaster in due course, through the boys.

In the meantime, all parents, and particularly those of first-year lads, are invited to attend these monthly (3rd Thursday) meetings and share their boys' interests to some extent by an interest in the activities of the Association. The extent of the co-operation afforded to the School is a cause for justifiable pride and in seeking to improve the "relative best" environment of our boys' school life, the suggestions and interest of each parent play an important part.

THE RECORD

ANZAC DAY

Wednesday, 22nd April

An appropriately reverent note was sounded by the opening hymn and prayer, and the Choir followed with renditions of the Requiem, Sleep, Soldier, Sleep! and Let Us Now Praise Famous Men.

Addressing the assembly, the Headmaster (Mr. J. H. Killip) said that Anzac Day was a day of Remembrance, of Reflection and of Resolution. It was only a generation ago (28 years next Sunday) since the British forces, Australians and New Zealanders gained their foothold on Gallipoli. For eight months they clung there. April is the European Spring, and eight months' later the first bitter chill of winter was gripping Gallipoli. General Kitchener was sent out, and he was amazed when he saw the actual scene of the dug-outs to which the men had clung for so long. On December 19th and 20th the forces were evacuated from Gallipoli.

Mr. Killip concluded by quoting words from the tablet on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Westminster Abbey.

The School Captain (Swinbourne) then placed a laurel wreath adorned with red poppies on the Honour Board, with the words "Lest We Forget," which were repeated by the School. Two minutes' silence and the National Anthem closed the ceremony.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Every nation displays a greatly intensified interest in physical fitness while engaged in war. Whether we return to our pre-war standards when our armies are demobilised, or whether the improved physical standards and enthusiasm are sustained, depend very largely on the school-boy of to-day. Modern war imposes a demand for the highest standard of physical efficiency. This testimony is given by men returning from active service in the Middle East and the Pacific front. After the war, when our armies return to their civil occupations, they will take with them a deeper appreciation of the result of good, wholesome food, open-air life, and an excellent physical condition brought about by training and exercise. Although the realisation of these values will never be completely lost to them, a challenge is made to the generation now attending schools to maintain that new level of efficiency.

All the record feats of the last war and the claims of Napoleon's armies for startling performances have been eclipsed by a specially trained Corps of the British Army, who marched 67 miles in 24 hours, followed by a strenuous swim.

It would not be wise to develop in boys from twelve to eighteen years a power of endurance to compare to such a task. It is not the aim of scientific physical education to tax the physical resources of youth for the purpose of building big muscles or highly developed physiques. An INTEREST is the first step to a modest physical efficiency just as much as it is for great athletic skill or for massive proportions. Physical education will have played its part well in the School if it can instil this interest. It will have accomplished much if it can succeed in inspiring boys with the beneficial effects of regular exercise. The School can offer no greater service to a boy than to arouse in him a consciousness of the value of health and a determination to attain it.

Physical Fitness for an individual puts an edge on his interest in life—particularly with regard to his leisure. It is the enemy of idleness; the idler is seldom, if ever, a fine physical specimen.

Physical Fitness adds zest to all forms of recreation. It inspires confidence and claims power. It is the natural springboard for ambition.

SPORT

First Grade C.H.S. Cricket Report for 1943

During the first half of the High Schools' competition, matches were played against Hurlstone, North Sydney, Fort Street, and Canterbury.

The team started well, defeating Hurlstone outright, but henceforth were unlucky. Against North Sydney, although beaten on the first innings, they nearly pulled through to win outright, as shown by the scores. North Sydney requiring 127, had seven wickets down for 85 runs.

Play against Fort Street was slow, and full time was nearly up after the completion of only one innings. In this match the School went down on the first innings by seven runs.

A further illustration of the School's bad luck was in the match against Canterbury. Because of rain, playing time was limited, and "High," closing with 8 wickets for 171, had Canterbury fighting hard with seven wickets down for 43 when play ceased.

The outstanding batsmen, together with their averages in these matches, were: K. Fetherston 25.67, E. McCartin 21, R. Burnett 16.17.

Some very fine bowling performances were witnessed in these matches. W. Rudd took 32 wickets for 239 runs; R. Stuart, 13 wickets for 128 runs; and K. Gray, 5 wickets for 66 runs.

Some of the players seemed to lack the interest required in fielding, especially when they happened to misfield a ball. However, the fielding in the air was excellent.

R. McLaren, although at present slightly inexperienced, is developing well as a keeper. His weakest point is a desire to snatch at the slow bowling, yet his keeping of the faster attack is quite good.

At the conclusion of the season, a Combined High Schools' team visited Newcastle and played a Combined Northern Schools' team. "High" was represented by W. Rudd, E. McCartin and K. Fetherston. The first two performed excellently, Rudd securing 6 wickets for 26 runs, and McCartin top-scoring with 28 runs.

In conclusion, we record the valuable assistance rendered by the P. & C. Association, the Ladies' Committee of the P. & C. Association, and the Ground Committee of McKay Oval throughout the season.

R. BURNETT.

THE RECORD

G.P.S. CRICKET

In the first half of the G.P.S. cricket series, four matches were played. Of these the School won one and lost three, two being outright defeats, the other a first innings defeat. The results of the following matches were:—

S.H.S. v. Sydney Grammar School

S.G.S. 225 (Rudd 5 for 87, May 2 for 80) v. S.H.S. 55 (Stewart 12 n.o.), 117 (Rudd 43, Watson 17).

Result: An outright defeat for the School.

S.H.S. v. Scots College

Scots 385 (Rudd 6 for 103, McCarlin 2 for 49) v. S.H.S. 165 (Cummins 30, Fetherston 39, Rudd 28, McLaren 21 n.o.), 197 (Fetherston 48, Gray 36, Watson 33).

Result: An outright defeat for the School.

S.H.S. v. Newington College

Newington College 223 (Rudd 3 for 48, May 4 for 60), 65 (Rudd 6 for 14, Stewart 2 for 39), v. S.H.S. 149 (Cummins 58, Gray 32), 5 for 145 (Cummins 40, Watson 40).

Result: An outright win for the School.

S.H.S. v. St. Ignatius College

St. Ignatius College 122 (Rudd 5 for 44, Stewart 2 for 9, Gray 3 for 14), v. S.H.S. 98 (Cummins 28, McCartin 37).

Result: A first innings defeat for the School.

The School is in fifth place in the points score.

The School's most outstanding bowler has been W. Rudd, who has captured 25 wickets for 296 runs off 87.5 overs—an average of 11.8 runs per wicket. Stewart is the School's most improved bowler.

C. Watson and W. Cummins have distinguished themselves with the bat, Watson scoring 135 runs in six innings (average 22.5) and Cummins 167 runs in seven innings (average 24).

The fielding has at times been brilliant, and at other times very patchy. The match against Newington was won by the magnificent bowling of Rudd, supported by excellent fielding, McCartin and Burnett both taking match-winning catches. Faulty fielding could be stated as the cause for losing the St. Ignatius game.

W. D. CUMMINS.

Second XI Report

Although retaining seven of last year's Eleven, which were co-premiers, Seconds this half did not produce the form expected of them. The bowling was accurate and well directed; but the batting, with the exception of Willcox and Moseley, was not reliable. The team evidently has the talent; but lacks experience and confidence.

Our opening bowlers, Tresidder and Emerson, were the backbone of the attack, Tresidder occasionally making great pace off the pitch, and Emerson being always on the spot.

THE RECORD

Meers and Gaune, our spin bowlers, were generally accurate if not hostile, and Mitchell proved his worth as an all-rounder more than once, especially as a slip fieldsman.

Willcox batted with confidence, and although a little reckless at times, was an example to the remainder, who were often over-cautious. Hain came to light against Canterbury with a solid half-century, and we expect great things of him next half.

The details are as follows:—

First Round—Sydney High, 88, beat Hurlstone, 44 and 27 (Tresidder 11 for 22).

Second Round—North Sydney, 78 and 79, beat Sydney High, 125 (Willcox 83) and 33, by 1 run.

Third Round—Fort Street, 132 and 9 for 57, beat Sydney High, 99 and 81.

Fourth Round—Sydney High, 8 for 120, drew with Canterbury, 8 for 46.

WATER POLO

In the competition of 1942, our first team won the competition by one point.

In this year's competition, our first team has played six matches and has won five.

While the whole team has shown commendable keenness in the matches, their success is to a large extent due to the outstanding play of J. Campbell as centre-forward and E. Swinbourne as centre-back. P. Dreelin is playing as skilfully as ever. He will greatly strengthen the team in the second round of the competition.

The second team has played two matches this year. They tied with Tech's second team and beat Canterbury.

Result of Competition Matches

S.H.S. beat Canterbury by 8 goals to 2.

S.H.S. beat Fort Street by 7 goals to nil.

S.H.S. beat North Sydney by 4 goals to nil.

S.H.S. lost to Technical High School by 1 goal to 3.

S.H.S. beat North Sydney Technical High School by 9 goals to 1.

S.H.S. beat Canterbury by 13 goals to nil.

LIFE-SAVING

During the first half of the 1942-'43 season valuable time was lost owing to unfavourable weather. This resulted in less of the essential water practice than usual, but in spite of this, the work during the December examination was of good standard.

A larger number of candidates were examined in April, and the results were very satisfactory, particularly in the Bronze Medalion and the all-important lower awards. Squads were capably handled by boys seeking Instructors' Certificates. The efforts of such boys who volunteer to teach squads are greatly appreciated. They are doing a great service by enabling us to cope with all boys who wish to be trained, and at the same time are receiving excellent experience themselves.

It is pleasing to see boys who have graduated to water polo from the life-saving classes retain their interest in the work. Some of them still present themselves for higher awards on examination day. A number of these boys now hold the Bar to Award of Merit, the best work being that of A. Campbell, J. Campbell and E. Swinbourne.

In the Award of Merit examination, the work of D. Parr was most outstanding, while J. Merritt was responsible for a particularly fine effort in the Australian Bronze Cross Award.

ROWING

Owing to the influence of the war on sport, rowing was carried out on a modified scale this year. However, this did not in any degree diminish enthusiasm, and the results obtained more than compensated for the comparatively short period of training. Each crew took full advantage of the limited training and facilities available with commendable results. Unfortunately, we could not afford the time to enter crews for St. Ignatius' Regatta, so we looked forward the more eagerly to the G.P.S. Unofficial Regatta, which took place on the Parramatta River on April 17.

THE RECORD

High School entered an Eight and four Fours. Early in the programme, the Fourth Four gained third place to St. Ignatius and Shore. In the next event, the Third Four finished second to Shore, and enthusiasm increased. However, despite great efforts, the Second and First Fours were unsuccessful in gaining places, the latter being beaten by Grammar for third by only three feet.

And then came the main event. Keyed to a high pitch, the Eight rowed to the mark. A false start further put them on their mettle. This time the crews got away to a good start. Shore at once took the lead, and held it throughout. High, about third at the start, held on to St. Joseph's, and just held off St. Ignatius until the last quarter-mile, when a great struggle developed for second place. Raising the rating a little, and High's weight taking effect, the Eight finished second, three feet ahead of St. Joseph's, with St. Ignatius and Grammar, in that order, a little further back.

We take this opportunity to congratulate Shore's Eight and Fours on their successes.

G.P.S. Unofficial Regatta Results

Fourth Fours ($\frac{1}{2}$ -mile)—St. Ignatius 1, Shore 2, High 3. ($1\frac{1}{4}$ lengths, 2 lengths.) Time: 3 mins. $22\frac{1}{5}$ secs.

Third Fours ($\frac{1}{2}$ -mile)—Shore 1, High 2, Grammar 3. (5 lengths, 2 lengths.) Time: 3 mins. $13\frac{1}{10}$ secs.

Second Fours ($\frac{1}{2}$ -mile)—Shore 1, St. Ignatius 2, St. Joseph's 3. (3 lengths, 3 feet.) Time: 3 mins. $4\frac{1}{5}$ secs.

First Fours ($\frac{1}{2}$ -mile)—Shore 1, St. Joseph's 2, Grammar 3. ($\frac{1}{4}$ length, 2 lengths.) Time: 3 mins. $4\frac{2}{5}$ secs.

Eights ($\frac{3}{4}$ -mile)—Shore 1, High 2, St. Joseph's 3. (5 lengths, 3 feet.) Time: 4 mins. $1\frac{1}{10}$ secs.

The fine performance of our Eight was due largely to the careful handling of the coach, Mr. F. M. Nichols, who spent much time and effort training the crew, for which he has our sincere thanks. Our gratitude is also extended to the coaches of the Fours, Messrs. A. Callaway and K. Webb, who worked well to build the four crews into good combinations.

A ferry carried a large and cheerful crowd of High enthusiasts to the Regatta. Their support throughout the afternoon was inspiring to the crews. They also appreciated the evening scene as they rowed home in the sunset.

Considering all factors, rowing this year has done very well, and the responsibility falls on those boys who are suitable of deciding to start training for next year's crews as soon as possible, preferably this winter, so that the traditions of this School in such a noble sport may be worthily maintained.

LITERARY

ELEGIAC SONNET ON THE PASSING OF MANKIND

A Sonnet

*The swift-winged winds are sporting o'er the plains,
 The flowers yield their nectar to the bees,
 The grass is washed and fed by pleasant rains,
 The golden corn sways gently in the breeze,
 The earth is deep rich brown—no reddish stains
 Besoil its wholesomeness. The unchanging seas
 Roll on, their sighing mingles with the strains
 Of dove and linnet cooing in the trees.
 A thousand years ago, the last man died,
 And rose and ivy coil about his home,
 For Nature erred, and with a bloody tide
 She blotted out his page in Her great tome.
 And now, their masters gone, the birds are free
 To wanton with the wind atop the lea.*

BENIGHTED

A Sonnet

*I watched the breaking dawn. I watched the dark
 Recede, and slowly merge into the day.
 Deceived, I thought that light had come to stay
 And show'r its gold on meadow, grove and park.
 But, as the roar of thunder follows close
 Upon the silent clearness of the stroke
 Of lightning, so did darkness' sombre cloak
 Enshroud me, and the world is in the throes
 Of yet another night. The thund'rous call
 Of her calm curfew bell forbodes the fall
 Of pulsing human hearts that dare to fight
 For Freedom, Honour, Glory, Love or Light,
 Or Slav'ry, Treason, Cow'rdice, Hate or Gloom.
 Whate'er his goal, each meets the same cold doom.*

A PROLOGUE TO "MACBETH"

*Ascend, ye powers of Orcus! Ope the gates
 That long have veiled the evil and the shame
 Of darker deeds than Erebus himself*

THE RECORD

*Hath e'er concealed. Yea, who by light of day
Hath bravely daunted dangers thousandfold
Doth tremble now before the ghastly fears,
The spectres terrible of Scotland's night.
Begone, ye soothing words that glibly hide
The stark and naked truth in treacherous folds
Of false desire! Begone, unhappy wretch,
That comest here to laugh, and entertain
Thy greedy senses in an empty dream.
This is a tale of truth and boundless evil;
'Tis not for miserable man's mortality
This tale is writ—'tis for the soul
That passeth on to torture everlasting
When once a victim to the claws of hell.
Enough! The stage is set, the tale begun.
Ascend, ye powers of Orcus! Lift the veil,
That we may see—and shudder.*

P. KLEIN (4A).

TO SLEEP

*Oh sleep, embalmer of our mortal wounds!
Abode of mercy, where our pain and sorrow
The sting of amity betrayed, possessions lost,
Is oft, for some sweet hours, dimmed and gone!
How sweet indeed, engrossed in care and strife,
Depressed by never-ending thoughts of idle dreams,
To lie and drift beyond this narrow circle of mortality!
Verily, to forget—in nothingness.*

*But ah! how short is this respite between the bouts,
Of such relentless and unhappy a tournament!
How short the time when even bleak despair
Doth softly lull untroubled slumber!*

*Whence dost thou come, sweet sleep? What power immortal
Hath made thee, God of mercy, king of night?
By what undying deed may we lay claim
To a reward so great as to o'ershadow in its might
The beauties of young Nature, yea, the very majesty
Of Neptune's paradise?*

*When comes the day of ecstasy, of joy unbounded
The day when you and I may sleep forever,
Unto eternity?*

P. KLEIN (4A).

THE RECORD

IN THE WOODS

*Flash of brown and flash of red,
Quick ears popping overhead;
High up where the branches sway,
'Tis the squirrel leaping,
Through the gold leaves peeping.
Little brother brown, I pray,
Come and play with me to-day!*

*Faster than the swallows light,
Flying in the evening bright,
Darts the squirrel in his play,
In and out; while pitter-patter
Everywhere the ripe nuts scatter.
Little brother brown, I pray,
Come and join my play to-day!*

*Little friend of mine, I feel
If you, your wisdom would reveal
That comes from ages far away,
Humble would I be, and try
To live in tree-tops near the sky.
Little brother brown, I pray,
Come and play with me to-day!*

C'EST LA GUERRE

Martin Desfarges lit his pipe and turned to us again. Outside the rain drummed against the windows of the carriage and ran in little rivulets down the panes. The clatter of the train wheels was muffled by the closed windows, and within, the carriage was semi-darkened, warm, cosy.

"Yes, messieurs, you call them brave women who do not show their fear; but the bravest woman will go through any crisis without flinching . . ."

"Before I escaped from France, I knew such a one. They had called her Margarita because Monsieur le curé, who understood the Latin, had said it meant a pearl. Ah, she was indeed a pearl. She had a fine son, barely nineteen, who had escaped to England after that terrible capitulation. She had had no word from him since then, for we were in the occupied zone, but one day a one-legged hawker brought to her a letter that he had smuggled across the border in his shoe. It said Jean was safe in Britain, and was fighting in the R.A.F. Sacrebleu! how she was proud! And every day when the sirens went, she would stand at her door to see the British planes go over with a proud but anxious smile as if to say, 'Perhaps he is up there in one of those'.

"But one afternoon, messieurs, the Nazi planes met those British fighters above the town, and for an hour they raged across the sky, wheeling, banking, and swooping like so many little silver birds high above. Two dusty black plumes showed where two more Huns had gone to their deaths; but just as the sun was sinking, one of the British planes faltered in its stride and, trailing a ribbon of smoke, plumed earthwards.

"But up in the dusk we saw a white mass billow forth and float gently earthward, and we knew, yes, we knew, that the pilot was not dead.

"To what am I leading? Tenez! You shall see! About nine o'clock that night I received a message. Madame Mirailles was not well, and would I come to her at once? I picked up my little black bag and left immediately. When I reached her house I was admitted immediately by her daughter and taken down the long dark hall to the flag-stoned kitchen. There, sitting before the fire, were Margarita and—Jean. It was he who had been shot down that day; and, although wounded in both shoulders he had stolen like a fox to his mother's house. I listened to his story as I worked, cleansing and bandaging his wounds, and when I had finished, she sent me home. Misericorde! she would not have me implicated, no, not me nor anyone.

"Que faire, monsieur! I offered to help her; I told her I knew how to get him across the border; I even promised to accompany him, but—pas moyen! No chance! She would not have me run any risk for her. For two days she kept Jean out of sight in her cellar, while she packed her most valuable possessions into two bundles which they could easily carry. She had planned to leave on the third night, but some traitor—qu'il soit maudit!—some traitor gave warning to the authorities. I was sitting by the window when I saw the Nazis go past. Mon Dieu! But how I feared!"

He was silent. I watched the play of the half-light on his face, twisting it and making it gloomy, morbid. The train plunged through a tunnel with a roar. The noise seemed to awaken Desfarges to a realisation of his surroundings.

"I did not wait, messieurs, but ran out across the back lane to their house. I burst in upon them at their mid-day repast. 'The Nazis! They come!' I gasped out. Margarita was calm. 'Go with him, Jean,' she said, and to me she added, 'Guard him, Martin, for my sake.' We just left the house as the troopers entered."

"Did they find him?" asked a voice from a dark corner of the compartment.

"Peste, non! The devil, no!" said Desfarges. "They ransacked her house but found nothing until they looked into her closet. There lay her two bundles. She was accused of trying to escape into Vichy France and was sentenced accordingly.

"What would you have, messieurs! That day, in the blood-red flaunting of sunset's golden banner, she was shot by a firing squad. Jean and I, we dared not even to attempt to attend her funeral. She was buried on the hill that overlooked the town . . .

"That night Jean and I left the town and, within forty-eight hours, had crossed into Vichy France, whence we reached England, but our hearts . . ."

Again he relapsed into silence, a silence broken only by the trickling of the rain across the window panes.

"And Jean?" asked the voice from the corner.

"Dead! He was shot down in action over France in March this year . . ."

MEET PEOPLE !

The institution known reverently (and otherwise) as School is a seat of learning, but one thing which is not taught, an art in itself, is how to meet people. Man, we are content to believe, is a social animal; and yet it is only given to a lucky few to learn to meet and befriend people.

Don't be afraid of making new acquaintances! The characteristics of fear and reserve prevent your knowing the other fellow, and so they must be eradicated. These disabilities can be overcome by realising that he is probably just as anxious to know you, as you, him. So that if you meet him half-way he will respond with pleasing effect.

When you are young, that is the time you should create your new spheres of friends and casual acquaintances; for youth is freer than its elders, who, after reaching their peak period in life, tend to become retiring, due to suspicion, gained through life, of the other man, and resulting in a cultivated reserve.

How can I do this, you ask? By talking to people on trams and buses, and in other places of public assembly. Cultivate a genial attitude and an open mind and people will accept you as you are. Remember! they too are eager for your acquaintance and friendship.

In the case of the opposite sex a little more tact is naturally required; but don't draw into that shell! If you approach them and discuss the subjects which you find contain common ground for you both, go straight ahead, and you will find your feeling of amity reciprocated.

THE RECORD

There is no need to stress the importance of an ever-widening contact with people, generally, be they baker or barrister, but the more personal associations you establish in life, the more can you appreciate human nature at its best, develop a more tolerant attitude, and so (with everyone playing his part) make the world a better place. Briefly, then, if you really desire a full life, make it your business to meet people.

ADDENDUM TO ROLL OF HONOUR

Pilot-Officer Hal Dent

The School regrets to learn that Pilot-Officer Hal Dent has been posted missing on an operational flight with the Coastal Command. Hal will be remembered as Prefect, Captain of the First Eleven, member of the First Fifteen, and a prominent member of the Athletics team which won the G.P.S. premiership in 1938.

Trained in Canada as a navigator, he gained his commission immediately at graduation. He was selected as a navigator of a bomber in the Atlantic ferry service, and after further experience in England, was posted to the Coastal Command, which entailed many varied and special missions from his southern base.
