Ode to S.H.S.

*Turn back the pages of the book of Time,
Frayed at the edges by the passing years,
And where tall city buildings skywards climb
The simple facade of a school appears.
'Twas there, O High, was kindled first the flame
Of pure endeavour, that has brightly shone
Through thy long story with a warming glow,
Inspiring still thy sons to laud the name
That thrilled the hearts of those who now have gone
And links in love the men of Ultimo.*

*For all have felt the pride that swells the breast
And dims the eye, when in the swimming pool
Or on the track, the boys of High, hard-blessed,
Summon a last grand effort for the School.
And we have felt thy subtle spell o'er all,
Who by the graves of Hinder and of Wright
New courage found, the doom of death to face;
Or hear within thy mem'ry ballowed Hall,
The "Last Post" sound for those who died lest Might Should wrest forever Freedom from their race.*

*In three-score years ten thousand lads have crossed
Thy threshold, learning ever to suppress
The selfish aim, and counting nothing lost
To reach the goal of truth and manliness.
And thou, their Alma Mater, e'er shalt rise
To greater heights of fame in years to be,
If still thy sons in selfless service vie
With those whose loyal leadership and wise
Has shaped for thee a noble destiny;
And all shall proudly claim: "My school was High."*

H.E. (Old Boy, 1920).

THE HEADMASTER, MR. J. H. KILLIP, B.A.

DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS

Flying-Officer Kenneth MacDonald Simpson (403778)

Congratulations to Flying-Officer Kenneth MacDonald Simpson on the award of the Distinguished Flying Cross.

CITATION:

"One night in June, 1943, Flight-Lieutenant Walker and Flying-Officer Simpson were Captain and Navigator respectively, while Flight-Sergeants Fuller and Goode were gunners in a Sunderland Flying Boat which was attacked by eight Junkers 88 in the Bay of Biscay.

"The Flying Boat sustained much damage, and a fire was started which caused burns to Flight-Lieutenant Walker. Nevertheless, he continued the engagement, and due to superb teamwork of Flying-Officer Simpson, who acted as fire controller, and Flight-Sergeants Fuller and Goode, three of the attacking aircraft were destroyed and two others severely damaged.

"Despite his burns, Flight-Lieutenant Walker, ably assisted by the skilful navigation of Flying-Officer Simpson, who was wounded in both legs, successfully flew his aircraft nearly 300 miles back to this country.

"These officers and airmen displayed great skill, courage and fortitude."

We regret to learn that Flying-Officer K. M. Simpson has recently been posted missing on an operational flight.

Flying-Officer Kenneth MacDonald Simpson, D.F.C., enlisted in the R.A.A.F., and left Australia in the Matson liner Monterey, September, 1941. He gained his "Wings" and first commission at Toronto, Ontario, Canada, leaving Canada for England May, 1942, since which he has been on operational work with Sunderland Flying Boats, in which service he gained his decoration. He gained his Blue at S.H.S., winning the 100 yards Senior Breast-stroke Championship, Combined High and Intermediate High School Annual Swimming Carnival held 11/12/30. Ken is a well known member of the Manly Surf Life-Saving Club; also a prominent member of the Manly Golf Club. In fact, several years ago, he reached the semi-final for the Championship of the Club.

Jack Crooks

Congratulations to Jack Crooks, who gained the Intermediate Certificate in 1938, on the honour of being "mentioned in despatches". He is Acting Engine-room Artificer, R.A.N.R., and although details are withheld, he was honoured "for courage and skill" when attacked by Japanese bombers.

Squadron-Leader Jack Napier Davenport (No. 403403)

Congratulations to Squadron-Leader Jack Napier Davenport on his Distinguished Flying Cross.

CITATION:

"Squadron-Leader Davenport has participated in attacks on some of the enemy's most heavily defended targets, including Hamburg, Essen and Dortmund, and has also taken part in mine-laying operations.

"Early in September, 1942, he was captain of an aircraft which flew to a North Russian base and participated in patrols over Barents Sea. While in Russia, Squadron-Leader Davenport acted as Flight-Commander, and by his example obtained the confidence and respect of all personnel.

"This officer has displayed leadership, courage and administrative ability of a high order."

Mr. and Mrs. Davenport, who have three sons in the R.A.A.F., all "Old Boys", live at 51 Kyle Parade, Blakehurst.

FLIGHT-LIEUT. PHILIP R. DAVENPORT

The extraordinary emergencies experienced by airmen are revealed in a report of an attack by six Junkers 88's on a Coastal Command Sunderland flying boat, captained by Flt.-Lieut. P. R. Davenport. The enemy fighters were first sighted 1,000 yards off, jockeying for attacking positions, and then diving fast firing explosive shells. Tail and amidships turrets were put out of action, two engines damaged. Shells tore holes as big as two feet by three feet in the Sunderland's fuselage. Evasive action and cloud cover enabled the Sunderland to shake off pursuers and make a forced landing on the South Coast of England.

SGT. JACK OLIPHANT WILSON

We regret to learn that Jack Oliphant Wilson has been killed in action. He was Captain of a Stirling aircraft on an operational flight over Germany last May, and the aircraft failed to return. He was posted missing, and his mother has received later information that he is buried at Verlo, Limburg, in Holland. Jack gained his Leaving Certificate in 1938, and then joined the staff of the Bank of N.S.W.

DISTINGUISHED FLYING MEDAL
Pilot-Officer Stephen J. Mondel

We congratulate Stephen Mondel on the award of the Distinguished Flying Medal. The official citation for the award reads:

"Sergeant Mondel has displayed outstanding skill as Flight-Engineer in many operational missions. He has been a most reliable member of air crew, and, by his vigilance, has warned his captain of approaching enemy fighters on more than one occasion.

"On his first operational flight, the aircraft was in difficulties during most of the return flight from Genoa, and arrived over England in extremely bad weather with the fuel supply almost exhausted. When the Captain ordered the crew to leave the aircraft by parachute, this airman gave all possible assistance to each member, and throughout the prolonged emergency worked calmly and without confusion, and was of the greatest assistance to his Captain.

"His work on the ground has been also outstanding, and in the capacity of Flight-Engineer Leader, he has shown high standard of leadership."

His mother, Mrs. C. J. Mondel, of Miranda, has since been informed of his promotion to commissioned rank.

Sgt.-Observer Assheton Taylor

We regret to learn that Sgt.-Observer Assheton Taylor (Leaving Certificate, 1937) is reported missing after an operational flight over Munich, October, 1943. Assheton had proved a skilful navigator throughout his training period in England, and we hope that later news will prove that he is safe.

Bdr. Kenneth M. Collins

We deeply sympathise with Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Collins, of Collaroy, in the loss of their eldest son, Bdr. Kenneth Martin Collins, who died of illness in New Guinea. Ken. gained his Leaving Certificate in 1940, and before his enlistment in the A.I.F. had completed his first year at the Teachers' College.

John Mc. Couat

Old Boys will be pleased to learn that John Mc. Couat has gained his commission in the Navy. He is now Sub-Lieutenant, and has served two and a half years in England and West Africa. John passed the L.C. examination in 1939, and was awarded a "blue" for football in that year.

THE LATE WILLIAM MUNDAY

Distinguished "S.M.H." War Reporter

A cable from London, dated September 30, announced that William Munday had been killed while covering the fighting in Italy. A War Correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Agency who was with Mr. Munday and two others (Mr. A. B. Austin, of the London Daily Herald, and Mr. Stewart Sale, of Reuter's, and who also lost their lives at the same time), states that the four correspondents had advanced with armoured vehicles from Caramella to Nocera, where they were watching a skilfully hidden enemy machine-gun spraying a bridge. Whilst they were standing on a street corner, the Germans apparently spotted them.

"Suddenly there was a blinding flash and an explosion. I was flung many yards and buried under debris. When I dug myself out I saw my three companions lying dead."

Mr. Munday had previously covered the Burma, Middle East and Tunisian campaigns, and his despatches were featured all over the world. After the capture of Sicily he landed at Salerno with the Fifth Army.

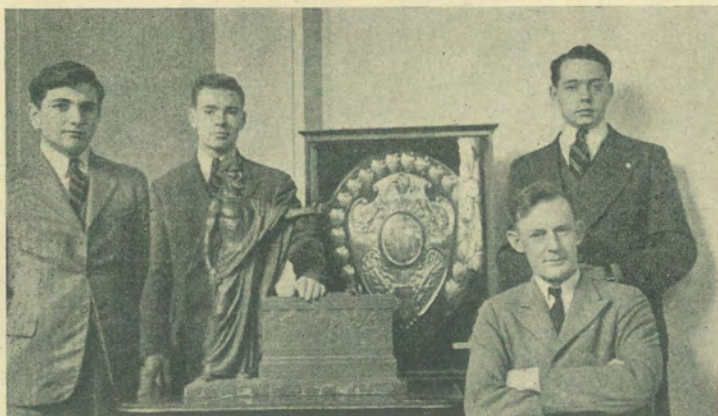

The deceased correspondent was 32 years of age. After leaving Sydney High School he continued his education at the Universities of Sydney and Melbourne. Subsequently newspaper work in these two cities attracted him; but the lure of London found him in Fleet Street for six years. In 1940 he joined The Sydney Morning Herald, but was transferred to Rangoon in 1942 when the Japanese were about to invade Burma. After some narrow escapes he was transferred to the Middle East, where he reported the Allied drive from Egypt which smashed the Axis forces in Africa.

We are indebted to Mr. Alan R. Beveridge, a personal friend of William Munday, for some of the material of this obituary.

Sgt. Kenneth H. Poynting

We regret to announce the death of Sgt. Kenneth H. Poynting, who gained his Leaving Certificate in 1937. He was killed 26th June, 1942, in an air attack on Bremen. Ken. had had a splendid record as wireless operator, and was due for leave after continuous flying when he and three other members of R.A.A.F. and a Canadian volunteered for this special mission from which they failed to return.

DIAMOND JUBILEE

Retrospect and Prospect

In a young country like Australia, a diamond jubilee represents a long period in the life of a school. Of the original enrolment of 46, there are still five "Old Boys" who treasure the memory of their first day at Sydney High School on 1st October, 1883. They and their immediate successors have set a fine example of loyalty and service to the School.

For the first 32 years of its existence, the School was fortunate in having only two headmasters, Joseph Coates for thirteen years, and John Waterhouse for nineteen years. This continuity of office and the support of a devoted staff enabled them to impress upon the School the stamp of their character, influence and scholarship which succeeding headmasters have striven to emulate.

Ten thousand three hundred and thirty-one boys have been admitted to the School. Not all of these completed full courses, nor do we believe that the courses suited everyone, but we like to think that the School standard of character, studies, sportsmanship has played its part in the general life of the community.

Almost two generations of Old Boys have passed through the School. The Roll of Honour in the Great Hall reveals that in the last Great War they knew their duty. In other fields Old Boys have distinguished themselves in medicine, law, engineering, dentistry, science, architecture and economics. Some have become university professors and lecturers. Others have risen to eminence in the fields of business, politics, and the public services. Abroad we have distinguished representation in financial and book-publishing circles in London, and in the diplomatic service Old Boys have responsible positions in the Australian legations in the United States and Russia. An Old Boy is among the recently selected cadets for the diplomatic service. Others are engaged in special research work for war purposes, and younger men are following courses of study to become the specialists of to-morrow.

Then there is the splendid array of virile manhood in the fighting services, in the air, at sea and on land in all parts of the world.

THE RECORD

We mourn already the loss of so many of the younger generation who seem to have left School only yesterday, nor do we forget many others who have been posted missing or are prisoners of war.

In chronicling the achievements of Old Boys we must preserve a sense of proportion in recognising that the School is only one of many factors in the moulding of character. But in any new order, the things that matter in school life, loyalty, integrity, industry, comradeship and a sense of co-operative responsibility, must have wider recognition in the community as a whole.

In this jubilee year we are particularly grateful to our benefactors, the Old Boys' Union and the Parents and Citizens' Association. The latter in all its activities will have a record year. Its buoyant revenue ensures generous support for the McKay Oval, rowing, and the library. The Headmaster much appreciates the help and interest of parents and particularly of the executive officers of the Association in promoting the wider interests of the School.

In some respects the School is anticipating coming changes. In encouraging the study of the Russian language, and providing facilities for discussion and listening groups in the senior years we are doing something to meet changing conditions.

Change is long overdue, and when it comes we shall welcome it with enthusiasm.

NUMBERS AT THE SCHOOL

Although the original Sydney High School was officially opened on 8th October, 1883, the first day of attendance was October 1st, when 46 boys, specially selected by examination, enrolled in the old red-brick building in Castlereagh Street, occupying the ground floor. Sydney Girls' High School occupied the upper storey, and the girls entered the building from Elizabeth Street. The School remained on this cramped site for eight years.

At the beginning of 1892 the School was transferred to Mary Ann Street, Ultimo, adjoining the Sydney Technical College, and had an average attendance of just below 300. This remained the location for 35 years, the number of pupils being fairly constant and not exceeding 470.

The landmark in location and numbers was in 1928, when the present building was occupied, with all the facilities of wide open spaces and, for that time, a well-planned building. The accommodation was planned for 750 boys, but that number was soon exceeded, and in 1932 was over 900. The present enrolment is 796.

OBITUARY

ALAN C. CORNER

We regret to announce the death, after a long illness, of Alan Charles Corner, who gained the Leaving Certificate in 1938. During his two years at the School, Alan took a keen interest in physics, and showed his interest in a practical manner. He showed skilled workmanship in constructing a hypsometer, fitted with pressure gauge, repaired a number of sonometers and remodelled the conductivity of heat apparatus, for which he made a case for special thermometers. His splendid work was much appreciated by the Science Staff, and we have pleasure in re-publishing the block at appeared in The Record, 1938.

After leaving school, Alan enrolled in the Technical College Diploma Course, and entered an electrical engineering firm as a trainee apprentice. Here he displayed outstanding ability and initiative, and after a couple of years in the workshop he was placed on research work, on which he was engaged until the onset of his final illness. He was twice rejected for the fighting services on medical grounds.

For the last few years of his life he was never free from pain, but despite this handicap he struggled to carry on this important work, till at last he was compelled to take to his bed, and eleven months later on 30th June, 1943, passed to his rest. His patience and fortitude were an inspiration to all who knew him.

His family has decided to link his name with the school he loved, and Mr. Corner has endowed a prize to be known as the "Alan C. Corner Memorial Prize for Physics," which will be awarded for the first time at the end of this year.

HISTORY OF SYDNEY HIGH SCHOOL, 1883-1933

At the time of the golden jubilee in 1933, a history of the School was published by the Old Boys' Union, with Mr. H. H. Wiedersehn as editor. It is a comprehensive volume, well illustrated, and much valued by all interested in the School. Additional copies of the history are now available, and are being sold for 2/6 each. We are glad to note that Capt. H. H. Wiedersehn, of the A.I.F., who was posted missing in Malaya, is now reported as a prisoner of war. Ten years have passed since he completed the splendid job of compiling the School history, and we find it invaluable for reference purposes.

THE DIAMOND JUBILEE OFFICIAL CEREMONY

The School in retrospect! Such was the tenor of all the speeches. The guest of honour, the Minister for Education (The Honourable Clive Evatt, LL.B., K.C., M.L.A.), was accompanied by the Director of Education (Mr. J. G. McKenzie, B.A., B.E.C.). Subsequently, he planted (with numerous diffident assistants!) a commemorative tree near the Cleveland Street entrance to the grounds.

The Headmaster, in extending a cordial welcome to the official and other guests, expressed the School's debt to the Government for post-war prospects of enlarging the dressing-shed on the Mackay Oval. They were honoured by the presence of five of the original Old Boys, who had been members of S.H.S. 'way back in 1883 (October 1). They were: Mr. A. M. Eedy, the winner of the first 100 yards sprint, and who would present the trophy for the same event in 1943; Mr. H. F. Halloran, who had presented "The Henry F. Halloran Diamond Jubilee Prize for Chemistry". There were also Messrs. W. C. Toms, A. C. K. McKenzie, and W. H. Paradise. Mr. R. T. Mackay (1884) was also present, whose monument was the Mackay Oval in Centennial Park. Mr. G. C. Saxby, too, was with them. His record was—an Old Boy, a Master, and, subsequently, for nine years, Headmaster of this great School.

Others welcomed were Messrs. F. W. Furth (1884), C. A. Fairland (who had held every office in the O.B.U.), Mr. R. S. Betty (President of the P. & C. Association), and Mr. E. Pye (President of the O.B.U.).

Apologies had been received from Messrs. W. H. Roberts and J. W. B. Molesworth.

On this Diamond Jubilee, said Mr. Killip, they honoured the foundation members, as they did also the long line of 9,500 Old Boys and Masters who had passed from the School, and who had enriched the life and thought of the community in so many ways. They thought, too, of Old Boys in all the years who had sprung to the defence of their country, both in the last and in the present wars.

Swinbourne (School Captain) at this stage read a statement of the aims and achievements in Sport during the year.

The Minister confessed that he had not attended S.H.S. Nevertheless, he was very proud to be present on this occasion. He referred to great memorials of the past on the walls of the Assembly Hall. It was fitting to pay a tribute to them. Old Boys had brought great credit on themselves and on the State. The great thing that had distinguished High had been its service to the nation and on the field of battle. It was certainly a great School with great traditions.

Mr. Evatt made reference to some historical data, mentioning particularly Mr. Joseph Coates (first Headmaster), Grafton Elliott Smith, and the distinguished newspaper reporter, Mr. William Munday. Four Rhodes Scholars had graduated from the School; also great university men and scientists, great educationists and churchmen.

In their hands were a trust and charge, calling on all to do as well as those who had gone before. The Government was proud of the work of this School.

The Director said that the traditions of the School had been worthily upheld. Although men to-day were devoting their intelligence to devilish works of destruction, the School as an institution was one of the finest inventions of man. Traditions and uprightness of character still remained with them.

Mr. Betty (P. & C.) stated that the Association had started in 1925. From 1925 to 1933 (Golden Jubilee), £3,000 had been raised. From 1933 to date an additional £7,000 had been aggregated, making a grand total of £10,000 spent in this School. To the co-operation of many workers (and especially to the Ladies' Auxiliary) was due this splendid return.

Mr. Pye (O.B.U.) was impressed by the evidence of progress all around him. The O.B.U. had felt in recent years a little ashamed that they had not contributed as much as they would have liked. They had been working under a handicap, as many Old Boys were on Active Service.

After a vote of thanks had been moved by the Captain, and seconded by the Vice-Captain (Morcombe), the ceremony closed with the National Anthem.

The Minister's declaration of a half-holiday was received with acclaim!

DIAMOND JUBILEE BUILDING FUND

As one tangible method of celebrating the Diamond Jubilee of the School, a Jubilee Building Fund has been launched with the aim of realising two practical objects: (1) the extension of the Dressing Pavilion at the McKay Oval in Centennial Park to link with modern sewerage and drainage facilities already provided by the N.S.W. Government, and (2) to provide at long last a Boat Shed of our own. The Parents & Citizens' Association has already established a building fund both for the Dressing Pavilion and the Boat Shed. The proceeds of this appeal will be added to that amount and invested in War Securities until the war situation permits of building being commenced.

One paragraph of the circular sent out by the Headmaster reads: "The appeal is addressed to all friends of the School, but particularly (1) to the parents of all boys now enrolled, and (2) to the parents of Old Boys who have passed through the School in the last ten years. We trust that all these have grateful memories of what the School has done for their sons, and that in a good many instances these younger Old Boys themselves will be prompted to contribute."

In the first month of the appeal the response has been most gratifying and encouraging. The sum of £321 has been contributed to date (18th October), and as the fund will remain open till the end of the term, we hope we shall reach a total of £1,000.

The Headmaster commends this worthy cause to all friends of the School.

"THE HENRY F. HALLORAN DIAMOND JUBILEE PRIZE FOR CHEMISTRY"

The School is grateful to Mr. H. F. Halloran for the endowment of an annual prize for Chemistry. Mr. Halloran is an Old Boy, one of the "Originals" who had his first day at Sydney High School 1st October, 1883, and to mark the Diamond Jubilee, he has arranged for a perpetual prize to be awarded to a Fifth Year boy, and to be known as "The Henry F. Halloran Diamond Jubilee Prize for Chemistry". A similar prize whenever possible may also be awarded to a Fourth Year boy. The endowment operates immediately, and the prize will be awarded for the first time at the Sixtieth Speech Day in December, 1943.

SECOND YEAR MEDICINE

We congratulate Old Boys who passed the Second Year examination in Medicine in September:—

J. Beveridge, R. V. Coombes, J. F. Correy, A. Freedman, L. Green, G. G. Harrison, K. C. Jackson, N. L. Lindsay, N. D. McInnes, L. L. Relf, and P. B. Wolfers.

John Beveridge shared the Caird Scholarship, and gained high distinction in three subjects, with distinction in the fourth. Most of these students gained two or more credits and, in addition, G. G. Harrison, K. C. Jackson and P. B. Wolfers gained distinction in one subject.

DEBATING

This year's School team—W. Fisher, G. Munster and D. Wolfers—are to be congratulated on a very successful season. They have won the C.H.S. competition for the Hume-Barbour trophy, and have reached the final of the G.P.S. competition, which will be decided in the near future. Our best wishes will accompany them in this last "ordeal".

JULIUS RINTELN (4A).
(Secretary, Debating Society).

---

G.P.S. DEBATING FINAL

The School debating trio completed a very successful season with the defeat of Fort Street for the "Hume Barbour" trophy, and a team from St. Joseph's for the "Louat" Shield.

The debate against St. Joseph's was a performance of very high quality, the team surpassing all earlier efforts. George Munster excelled even his previous high standard, and proved himself one of the finest speakers the School has produced. David Wolfers' eloquence as whip was very effective, whilst Bill Fisher gave a telling example of logical exposition and able leadership. Together the boys displayed those qualities of co-ordination and team-work which Mr. Gollan—the coach—had taken such careful pains to foster, and which are essential to the making of a polished and effective team.

ALLIANCE FRANCAISE EXAMINATIONS, 1943

The following boys were successful at the annual examinations conducted by the Alliance Francaise:—

Grade I—A. Baccarini.

Grade II—M. Hoffman (Prize), G. Munster.

Grade III—J. Harding (Prize), B. Mellor, E. Weiss, D. Gruzman, J. Rouse, F. Lyons, D. Lewis, M. Zylberyng.

Grade IV—W. Duval, G. Velkou, R. Windshuttle, N. Jackson, G. Tombs, B. Davis, L. Goldberg, R. Holmes, L. Goldman, B. McPherson, P. Peters.

LIBRARY

In response to the growing demand for books on international affairs and the war in general, many additions have been made to these sections. Many boys continue to read in the Science, Mathematics, History, General Literature and Fiction sections, but not enough borrowers read poetry and the classics of English fiction.

Class Libraries have been formed in First and Second Year Classes, and already are being used extensively. These aim to provide reading matter suitable for junior boys on a scale wider than the main Library.

The war has made the replacement of books more difficult, so we are fortunate in having a bookbinder who does such splendid work for us.

Among recent additions are: T. S. Eliot, Poems; Wyatt & Clay, Modern English Literature; Singer, A Short History of Science; Stephen Spender, Life and the Poet; Ehrenburg, The Fall of Paris; Priestley, Britain at War; Grew, Report from Tokyo; Marriott, A Short History of France; Darwin The Origin of Species; Jernyan, Carlson & Koss, The Growth of the American People; Brown, A Word in Your Ear; Cole, Great Britain in the Post-War World; Werth, France in Ferment; Stone, The Atlantic Charter; Levin, Children in Soviet Russia; Rothstein, Workers in the Soviet Union; Binder, Russian Families; Jackson & Lee, Problems of Modern Europe; Abbott, Listener's Book on Harmony; Rattenbury, Understanding China; Steinbeck, The Moon is Down; Galbio, The Snow Goose; Dyson & Butt, Augustus and Romantics; Batho & Dobrio, The Victorians and After.

Once again the P. & C. Association has made a generous contribution to Library funds. It is largely due to their splendid support that the School has such a finely equipped Library.

A committee of boys—A. Hall, P. Hoffman, A. Hodge and C. Friendship—carries on the work in the Library, and a warm expression of appreciation is due to them for the fine services they have rendered.

AIR TRAINING CORPS

S.H.S. Flight

Since June last the strength of the Flight has increased from 32 to 46. This is a considerable improvement, but not a totally satisfactory one, when it is realised that for Australia to fulfil her commitments under the Empire Air Training Scheme, a reserve pool greater than the present one must be provided by the A.T.C.

Visits have been made by most members of the Flight to various local aerodromes. These visits have proved of great interest and have gone far towards providing cadets with considerable technical knowledge. Also during these visits the cadets have gained valuable experience by flying in service aircraft.

During the last week of term most of the Flight will be in camp at Avalon. The main purpose of this camp will be to give cadets instruction in various essential subjects on which they will be examined before leaving camp.

Recently, under pressure of other duties, Mr. Cummings has resigned the position of Flight-Commander, which he held since the inception of the Flight fifteen months ago. His place has been taken by Mr. O'Rourke, and we welcome him to his new command.

Next year the strength of the Flight will have to be maintained and, if possible, increased. Consequently, we are looking to all the boys in the School who are approaching sixteen years to fill the gaps which this year's Fifth Year will make.

PERSONALITIES AND PESTS

Another G.P.S. record-holder in an Army lieutenant's uniform! Story is that Lieut. Clarke, on the day of the S.H.S. Carnival, saw the High flag on the roof of the Cricket Ground, and immediately paid us a visit. In future, let's call the grandstand roof Clarke gable. . . . The not entirely unknown David X. spent his last holidays, we read, playing chess with a lady aged nine. Careful, the wolf is at the door. . . . Several physicists, news reaches us, have been jilt-ed (o, kneel down for that vile pun). . . . Beneath moustaches at the Law School we perceive features vaguely reminiscent of Bob Roulston and Adrian Roden. . . . L.A.Cs.II Bacon and Thorpe in Air Force Blue. . . . Jack, what's cookin' (is that Ruth-less)? . . . Who is George's Gorgeous? . . . Question for Quiz Kids: What are the legal implications of an "injunction"? . . . Red-hot news: the comrades are making head-Way. . . . "Percy" Presgrave, in the Navy, is waiting for a ship big enough; but let us not press grave matters. . . . As this is the Diamond Jubilee Year of the School, the Executive Committee decided to increase the budget and commemorate the occasion in some practical way. The Association had particularly in mind the necessity for the building of a Rowing Shed for the School, and additions to the Sports Pavilion at the McKay Oval, Centennial Park. These two projects are essential to give our boys facilities similar to those at other schools. Already a Committee has been formed to select a site for the Rowing Shed, and we hope to secure a suitable position before the end of the year, so that, provided the necessary funds are available, building operations can be commenced as soon as the war ends. With this in view it was decided to create a Building Fund, and that money raised for this purpose should in the meantime be utilised in the interest of the Nation by the purchase of War Savings Certificates and Bonds; up to date we are pleased to announce that this fund now stands at a total of £483. We wish to thank all those boys, parents and Old Boys who have given such excellent support (namely, £321) to the appeal made by the Headmaster for this special purpose.

Although the School was opened in 1883, the Parents and Citizens' Association was not formed until 1925; as an illustration of the steady growth of this Association and its increased assistance to the activities and advancement of this great School, the funds raised up to the Golden Jubilee (1933) were approximately £3,000, and from that time until the present Diamond Jubilee (1943), an additional £6,775 was raised, making a grand total of £9,775. The following are the principal items of support given to the School since the inception of this Association:—

School Library	£1,150
Rowing	1,755
Centennial Park (commenced 1933)	1,675
School Equipment	1,300
Football, Cricket, etc.	728
Prizes	616

THE RECORD

This achievement has undoubtedly contributed to upholding the fine traditions and records of this School, and would not have been possible had it not been for the very fine spirit of co-operation given by the Headmaster and various members of the staff, to whom we extend our sincere thanks for their valuable assistance.

It was unfortunate that during the past 18 months, owing to the War and N.E.S. restrictions, we had to curtail some of our social functions, including the Annual Reunion of Past and Present Parents, but with the recent lifting of these restrictions we hope to resume some of these activities. The first of these was a Social Function of Past and Present Parents to celebrate the Diamond Jubilee, and was held on Friday, October 29th. There was also a Diamond Jubilee Dance on Saturday, October 23rd.

With the idea of increasing the attendance at our regular monthly meetings, an innovation has been made of occasionally presenting guest speakers, who review the various avenues of employment open to the boys when leaving school. Those parents who have not yet attended these meetings we feel sure would find these talks interesting, and helpful in deciding their boys' future.

Our monthly dances continue to prove increasingly popular, and as these are one of our main sources of revenue, we wish to thank all who attend and help to make these functions such a success. The total amount derived from this source since they commenced in 1925 has been £3,500. Please remember that another Special Christmas Party Dance will be held on December 11th next. Special prizes and attractions have been arranged, so bring your friends and have an enjoyable evening!

The Ladies' Auxiliary has again maintained its splendid work and interest in the activities of the Association, and has raised so far this year the sum of £330. Their effort has contributed much more than the actual amount in money received, the value of their personal contact with parents has definitely reflected on all phases of the Association.

Again we desire to thank those ladies who have made the sporting fixtures at the McKay Oval so successful and enjoyable by providing luncheon and afternoon tea to our own and visiting cricket and football teams.

A special word of praise is due to the Ladies' Comfort Fund Committee, who are still forwarding parcels of comforts to all Old Boys of the School on Active Service; the wonderful letters received from all parts of the world clearly illustrate how this service is appreciated.

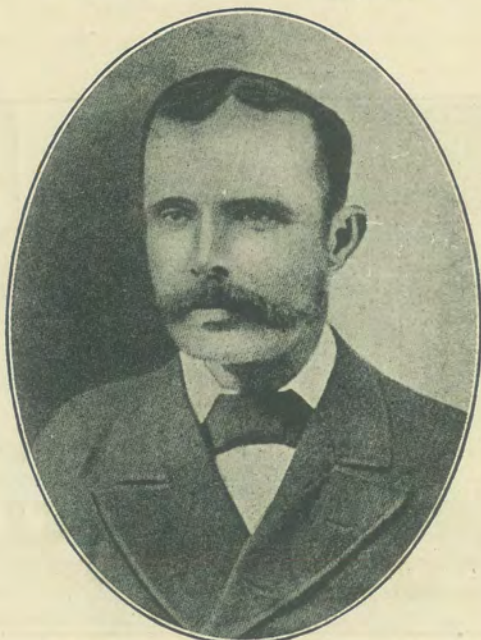

As we are approaching examination time, our thoughts go out to those boys who will be sitting for their Intermediate and Leaving Certificate Examinations. We wish them every success.

This, the Diamond Jubilee Year of the School, promises to be a record one for the Association, and the Committee desires to thank all those who have contributed in any way to such a fitting achievement.

OLD BOYS' UNION REPORT

It was decided at the General Meeting that an effort be made to get in touch with Old Boys.

Owing to present conditions this naturally was a big job, but from the first appeal the committee had every reason to be hopeful as further members were obtained, and the membership has already increased threefold from that of 1942. Two very interesting evenings have been held, an Austerity Tea at the Millions Club, and a tea and picture presentation at the University Club. Amongst those present were three members who attended the School in 1883.

The committee are all working to get the Union back to its old glory days, and with the assistance of Mr. Killip, we hope to build our numbers from students as they leave the School, while old members are being traced up and returned to the fold.

In this way we hope to be in a position to help the School as of old, when conditions return to normal.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Old Boys will greatly assist us in forwarding their addresses to E. A. Molesworth, Commercial Bank Building, 62 Margaret Street, Sydney.

THE FIRST FIFTEEN, 1884.

FIRST GRADE

Living up to early expectations, the First Fifteen has completed a very successful season. A fast, heavy pack was the main factor in our success, and forwards scored on numerous occasions. Our backs, though small, displayed skill in their attack and courage in their defence.

In the Combined High Schools' Competition we were undefeated premiers—a most creditable performance when one realises that 14 consecutive games had to be played. The fact that we were leading throughout the competition gave the other schools additional incentive to win and gain the honour of "topping the leaders". Because of this, especially in the second round, we had some very hard games.

In our closest game we gained a 9-8 victory in the last minute over Canterbury, whom we had previously beaten 33-0.

The most pleasing game of this competition was the last of the season. Behind 11-0 at half-time, we proved our metal by beating North Sydney, 16-14.

North Sydney Technical High School played its first season of Rugby Union this year, and though displaying fine spirit, were handicapped by lack of experience.

The results of the C.H.S. games were as follows:—

S.H.S.—

v. Fort Street—Won 14-10; 23-0.

v. Canterbury—Won 33-0; 9-8.

v. T.H.S.—Won 13-0; 8-0.

v. Parramatta—Won 21-0; 20-3.

v. N.S.T.H.S.—Won 34-0; 31-8.

v. Hurlstone—Won 6-3; 10-3.

v. North Sydney—Won 10-8; 16-14.

This competition resulted in a clear-cut win by six points.

In the G.P.S. Competition we were co-premiers with The King's School. This is the first time in the history of the School that we have won this competition. The games were all evenly contested, and were thoroughly enjoyed by players and spectators.

The only disappointment in the season was our defeat by St. Joseph's College. We hoped to create another School record by defeating their team, but their superior backs paved the way to a fairly easy victory over us.

We leave the honour of beating "Joey's" to some future First Fifteen.

THE RECORD

The following list shows the results of the matches played:—

S.H.S.—

- v. S.C.E.G.S.—Won 17-10.
- v. Grammar—Won 28-6.
- v. Scots—Won 19-3.
- v. Riverview—Won 23-5.
- v. King's—Lost 0-8.
- v. Newington—Won 8-5.
- v. St. Joseph's College—Lost 0-14.

We have set a School record—two defeats in 21 matches. The factors enabling us to set this record are apparent to all of us. First, there was the co-operation of the headmaster, who continually endeavoured to stimulate interest in the Saturday games, and aided us to the extent of erecting practice goal-posts in the grounds. His support was constant and solid, and always a grand help in a very strenuous season.

Then there was the self-sacrifice of the coach, Mr. O'Rourke, whose unflagging interest has been a constant source of encouragement for us. Mr. O'Rourke ran up and down the oval with us on numerous occasions, and endeavoured to teach us the game "as it was played by real footballers".

Last, but most important of all, was the enthusiasm and determination of the whole team, all of whom have benefited physically and mentally from the season.

Witness to the quality of our players is the fact that in the combined G.P.S. teams, P. Denton, R. Khan and K. Stephen were chosen for First Grade; K. Gordon and E. Morcombe for Second Grade; K. Khan and B. Spence for Third Grade; and C. Campbell, R. Hart, P. Dreelin, P. Gawne were picked as reserves (11 representatives in all).

We leave you a hard task—that of beating our record—but the pride we feel to-day will be far exceeded by that which we experience when, as Old Boys, we see a Sydney High School team undefeated in the C.H.S. and G.P.S. Competitions.

E. MORCOMBE, Captain.

K. KHAN, Vice-Captain.

SECOND GRADE

Second Grade had an outstanding season both in C.H.S. and G.P.S. competitions. Losing one game in the C.H.S. Competition, we finished outright premiers, scoring 179 points to a total of 43 by our opponents.

In G.P.S. we were defeated in only one game by a strong S.J.C. team, thus finishing level with S.C.E.G.S. and S.J.C., and we take this opportunity to congratulate the above two teams on their performances. In seven matches we scored 104 points to our opponents' 42.

THE RECORD

Although a fine team spirit was built up through constant practice, that practice was not sufficient to overcome the lack of experience in the back line and, at times, good work by the forwards was spoiled by faulty handling and passing by the inside backs. Tackling was also weak at times, caused by some players hanging off.

Burnett was an outstanding full-back, very safe, and possessing a powerful and accurate kick. During the season he scored 60 points with his accurate goal-kicking, and it was unfortunate that he was injured in the final match of the year. McKell did well as half, and gave his wingers, Campbell and Watts, many opportunities to score by skilfully working the blind side. Our captain made the most of these opportunities to score many brilliant tries, thus gaining 53 points for his team. Hain was a speedy outside centre, and Watson scored some valuable tries at critical moments.

Although fast and elusive, the forwards were at first inclined to hang off in the rucks. However, when this was overcome they settled down and, ably led by Lewis and Dadour, developed into a good pack, with Mitchell, Smith and Fienberg outstanding, and Casson, Cocks and Cummins shining in the loose. Skyring and Aubrey gave excellent displays in both the backs and the forwards.

In conclusion, we would like to thank Mr. Hagan for the valuable coaching and advice that he gave us, and without whom success would not have been possible.

THIRD GRADE

Once again Third Grade won its competition, sharing the honours with North Sydney. May we congratulate North Sydney on their fine performance.

THE RECORD

After being defeated by North Sydney in the first round, the team settled down to solid training in order to become co-premiers at least, and we are pleased to say we accomplished our aim. Brooks, as Captain, capably led the backs, whilst Westlake, a veteran and vice-captain, led the forwards excellently, and should be congratulated on his fine work. The front row, consisting of Westlake, A. Stewart and Hastie, secured a fair share of the ball, and played untiringly throughout the season. Pain, Berry, Hanson, McKay and Grey did well in the second row. Berry was forced out of the team halfway through the season with an injured shoulder, and Pain played full-back for the first round until Rudd dropped back from the centre position. Mullinger, who is a fine tackler and extremely fast, played well at breakaway and centre. Also Webb and Casson played excellently at breakaway. March, weighing over twelve stone, played lock, and gave our forwards a little extra weight in the scrums. The forwards throughout the season tackled and rucked hard, and developed into a well-balanced pack. In the backs B. Stewart, five-eight, played splendidly. Stewart developed, as the season progressed, into a fine player. The centres, Tofler and Turner, cut in and dum-mied well, and made openings for many fine tries. The wingers, McMinn and Thorburn, scored many spectacular tries between them. Rudd, full-back, gave some excellent displays at taking and kicking, some singling him out as the best goal-kicker in the School. On the whole, the backs played some very fine games, and developed considerable combination throughout the season.

Most Third Grade players will find positions in higher ranks next year, especially players like Stewart, Rudd, Mullinger, A. Stewart, March, Thorburn and Hanson.

Our congratulations are extended to Casson, B. Stewart, Rudd, March and Webb, who played in the Second Grade G.P.S. team, and to Casson, A. Stewart, Webb, March, Tofler, McKay, Hastie and McMinn, who played in the Second Grade in the C.H.S.

Lastly, we would like to thank all those reliable reserves such as Strange, Freedman, and others, who helped Third Grade to do so well.

Results:—

S.H.S.:

- v. Fort Street—Won 10-6; 16-5.
- v. Canterbury—Won 9-3; 15-5.
- v. Sydney Tech.—Won 2-3; 8-0.
- v. Parramatta—Won 12-3; 14-6.
- v. North Sydney Tech.—12-0; 19-6.
- v. Hurlstone—Won 33-0; 11-3.
- v. North Sydney—Lost 0-8; Won 8-3.

14 matches, 13 wins, 1 defeat—176 points for, 51 against.

THE RECORD

FOURTH GRADE

The Fourth Grade team, 1943, played some delightful football, and although only third in the competition (three points behind the leaders), deserved a better reward for their enthusiasm and skill. We heartily congratulate Canterbury (winners) and Fort Street (runners-up), and warn them that their success will only be an added spur to us. Our three defeats were remarkably narrow—by one point, two points and three points.

Results:—

S.H.S.:

v. F.S.H.S.—Won 14-9; Lost 8-9.

v. C.H.S.—Lost 9-11; Lost 0-3.

v. S.T.H.S.—Won 22-6; Won 6-0.

v. P.H.S.—Won 31-3; Won 35-0.

v. N.S.T.H.S.—Won 10-3; Won 14-0.

v. M.M.A.H.S.—Won 36-3; Won 28-0.

v. N.S.H.S.—Won 21-0; Won 24-5.

At the end of the season two combined Fourth Grade teams were selected, including no fewer than ten S.H.S. players, a greater representation than that of any other school. The representatives were: Merrett, a very fine winger; Bennie, who was the season's most improved player; Graham, a very polished centre, who was unfortunately unavailable through injury for the most important games; Spillane, a light but very dangerous five-eighth, who will go far in the game. Forwards chosen were Cawsey, Appleby (vice-captain), and May, who were a match-winning front row; Kyd, Horder (a grand lock) and Wilson, the finest breakaway in the competition. J. Emerson, the Captain and brilliant half, was also chosen, but withdrew as he had to play with the Second Fifteen against St. Joseph's.

Other boys who played regularly were Meers (full-back) and Stern (wing), who both showed good improvement; Sumsky, who developed as a penetrating outside centre; K. Emerson and Brown, two breakaways who troubled all teams; Adamson and Lyons, two vigorous and successful forwards.

Excellent team-spirit was shown throughout, none better than that of Ganger, Hall and Macpherson, who trained diligently to help the team and performed very well when called on to play.

FIFTH GRADE

Although the team did not start its training until after the start of the season, it was beaten only once in the first round, after fighting hard in all games. However, in the second round we avenged our former defeat, and once more Fifth Grade won the competition. Simpson was the outstanding back, and scored 25 tries in the season after many brilliant runs.

THE RECORD

He was well supported by an excellent back line, which consisted of Elliot, Du Val, Shields, Mosely and Norrington. These players were brilliant in attack and safe in defence. Weir, at full-back, was safe.

The forwards started as a mediocre pack, but later in the season became a tower of strength and paved the way to many wins. Annetts was outstanding, and his hard runs often put the team on the attack. The remaining forwards were always on the ball, and were untiring in defence.

A tribute should be paid to the team for their great display of clean, open football. The team extends its thanks to Mr. Gollan for his fine coaching.

SIXTH GRADE

Results:—

S.H.S.:

v. F.S.B.H.S.—Won 3-0; Won 9-0.

v. C.H.S.—Drawn 0-0; Lost 3-5.

v. T.H.S.—Drawn 6-6; Drawn 0-0.

v. P.H.S.—Won 21-0; Won 30-0.

v. N.S.T.H.S.—Won 6-0; Won 8-0.

v. M.M.H.S.—Drawn 6-6; Won 11-3.

v. N.S.B.H.S.—Lost 3-8; Drawn 3-3.

Won 7, drew 5, lost 2 matches. Points scored, 109. Points against, 31.

The Competition was extraordinarily even, the standard being very high, and the scores in nearly every match very close. The team lost even matches to the premiers, Canterbury High School, and the runners-up, North Sydney Boys' High School, finishing third in the Competition.

The forwards soon welded into a strong "pack", always on the ball, and always attacking. D. Armstrong, vice-captain, was outstanding in every match, scoring 30 points during the season.

J. Bird, as full-back, was very safe, and on many occasions brilliantly turned defence into attack, showing football ability of a high order.

The three-quarters were keen, and improved steadily during the season. A. Griffith, on the wing, gave the best exhibition, scoring 21 points.

J. Fleming capably led the team which, by its enthusiasm, determination and sportsmanship, upheld the tradition of S.H.S. "Sixths".

ATHLETICS

CUP WINNERS, S.H.S. ATHLETIC MEETING

Left to right: E. Morcombe, B. Lewis, R. McLaren, P. Mullinger,
P. Turner, B. Thiering.

ATHLETICS REPORT, 1943

This year we regained the aggregate championship, thus showing that Sydney High School is not a school to take a defeat lying down. The credit for our victory goes to the excellent teamwork, and also to the unsurpassed coaching of Mr. Bassar. The teams displayed the usual fighting spirit of Sydney High School, and our win was mainly due to the members of the teams fighting on into second or third places.

As you all know, Brown smashed the Under 13 High Jump record with a great leap of 5ft. 1in., thus raising the record by 4ins. Peter Denton was again one of the props of the Senior team, and he recorded a win in Div. I. of the Shot-putt and Div. II. Broad Jump, while in the Div. I. High Jump he only lost on the countback. He putted the shot further than he had ever done before, and in the High Jump surpassed his previous best by 1½ins. Morcombe came second in the 1st Div. Broad Jump with a jump that eclipsed his previous best by 6ins. Everyone performed better than he ever had done before.

The Senior team won the Senior Shield. The Juniors came third in their division, and only for an unfortunate happening in the Relay, would have been a comfortable second. The Juvenile team came an impressive second, and the Shield depending on the final Relay.

We have the nucleus of a fine Juvenile team for next year in Blanche and Brown, not forgetting Burke, who will still be under thirteen for the C.H.S. next year. The other teams should be very solid but not outstanding. They will have many good athletes. Powys and others will form the core of a formidable Senior team for next year. The Senior Relay should be outstanding with such performers as Skelton, Robinson, Dunn, Hardwicke and Lewis. The Juvenile Relay will also shine, as they will have Blanche, Griffith, Thiering, and others. The Juniors will have many good performers in McLaren, Featherstone, Turner, and Davis. With good teamwork and plenty of training, we have a good chance to retain the aggregate next year, although the opposition is getting steadily more formidable.

THE RECORD

In conclusion, we should like to congratulate North Sydney High School on their win in the Junior competition—incidentally with one of the best teams on record—and also to congratulate Newcastle on taking the Juvenile Shield for one of its rare visits to the city.

G.P.S. ATHLETICS MEETING

Thanks to careful preparation, High faced G.P.S. with a team greatly improved from that which contested C.H.S. a month before.

The meeting opened with a fanfare for High supporters, for Blanch set a fashion by winning the first 220, which was followed so admirably that we scored four wins in the first five events, including one record.

From then on, except perhaps in the distance races, High was never far out of the picture, and ended the day with ten firsts, five seconds and four thirds, collecting three records for good measure.

Senior Team

E. A. Morcombe was the star of the meeting, convincingly defeating strong opposition in the Under 17, 100 and 220 each in brilliant times, which set new G.P.S. records. His 10.3 seconds and 22.7 seconds displace the 10.6 and 23.0 set by R. F. Dethick of this School in 1941.

P. M. Denton, our special example of the value of intelligent technique in athletics, gained third in the shot-putt, and a very unlucky third in the high jump.

P. Dreelin, second in hurdles, A. Powys, third in mile championship, did well, and Hudson and Davies also ran soundly.

Junior Team

B. Lewis provided the thrills in this section by winning the 100 and 220 Under 16 championship from strong opposition. Keen judges had expected fast-finishing D. Howell, of Grammar, to take the Junior Blue Ribbon, but Lewis produced a brilliant 10.5 seconds run for the 100, equalling the record. He also took second place in the broad jump with 19ft. 6ins., and led home the winning Junior relay team in 46.8 seconds, a record time for this School. P. Robinson took both the second division sprints very decisively in 11.0 seconds and 23.7 seconds—good running. N. Brown, at 5ft. 1in., won the Under 14 high jump (equalling S.H.S. record). B. Blanch took the Under 13 100 in 12½ seconds (S.H.S. record), a division of Under 14 220 in 25½ seconds.

For the rest—McLaren, Pulford, Robinson, Lewis, Junior relay, 46.8 seconds (S.H.S. record). Mullinger, Fetherstone, Rains, Serafim, second in Under 15 relay to record-breaking St. Joseph's team. Mullinger also second in 1st Div. Under 15 100. Loewenstein third, Junior high jump. N. Burke second in 1st Div. Under 13 100. Burke, by the way, was narrowly beaten in 12.1 seconds, and will still be Under 13 for G.P.S. next year!

The G.P.S. record of 12.0 seconds is surely shaking in its running shoes.

LITERARY

EXILES

On headstones weathered by a hundred years and more,
 That mark the resting-place of pioneers,
 May still be read the names
 Of towns and countries in the Motherland
 That gave them birth.
 As though this vast new land of drought and fire,
 Of sudden flood and lonely distances,
 Had not yet gripped their hearts and made them all her own.
 And here where they had struggled manfully
 To found a wider, freer world,
 Their bodies needs must lie;
 But like lone exiles in a foreign clime
 The dying thoughts of each sped back
 To soft green English fields and quiet woods;
 With autumn tints of red and gold on oak and elm;
 To Scotland's mist-wreathed crags and heather-covered hills;
 Or to the ancient towers that stand like sentinels
 By Erin's fairy lakes.
 A hundred years and more have passed away,
 And we who have not known another home
 Have, pulsing in our hearts and coursing through our veins,
 A love of surf-washed sands and shimmering plains,
 Of sere brown hills and ranges ever beckoning.
 And we have known a freer land, where men
 May speak out unafraid and reverence
 Their Maker as they will . . . And now alas!
 There sleep by Alamein and battle-scarred Tobruk,
 In moist Malayan forests, and along the heights
 Of wild Kokoda trail, our sons and brothers, who
 Had deemed their lives a fitting sacrifice,
 To foil the power-lust of beast-like men
 And man-like beasts.
 Lone are the graves where heroes lie,
 Not exiled, like their forebears, from a northern home,
 But parted ever from our southern land
 Where they would be.
 No headstone tells of tall green trees
 Of Dorriggo or Dandenong,
 Of bleak Monaro heights
 Or sleepy inland billabongs:
 But we who live, shall build within our hearts
 A Temple of Remembrance, where
 Their names shall be enshrined
 Forever, in the Homeland that they loved,
 What time their bodies lonely lie neath alien skies
 To pay the price of Liberty.

H.E. (Old Boy, 1920).

THE AWAKENING

*The visions splendid of golden castles
That only a glittering dream can see
Are gone . . . I awaken . . . The world is silent,
And only my sadness remains to me.*

*Farewell, sweet dream: they say thy dwelling
Lies where no mortal shall e'er destroy
The memory of those timeless moments
When every thought was a glade of joy,
When every smile was a mortal Eden
And every beam a heavenly toy.*

*On heaven and earth the bells are chiming,
Around my abode the world is gay.
The mists have risen—the world arising
Calmly awaits another day.
The dew doth glisten:
The dawn is gray.*

*Yet must it not pass, like moments fleeing
Along the path of a happy hour,
Toward a grave that we will not know?
(For who knows the goal of the withered flower?)
Must it not end, as all have ended,
Beneath the dread hand of a mightier power?*

*Avaunt, ye notes of despair and doom!
Flow on down the never-ending stream
Of visions unreal and vain ideals
Toward eternity, ye who eternal seem!
When I am gone your day too must end—
Your memory too but a fading dream.*

*Arise, oh mortals, brief though your hour;
Your sorrow recede at the passing of night!
To dawn's first rays no prison's too gloomy—
Where there is darkness is also light.*

FOR ANTI-FASCIST FIGHTERS Armistice Day, 1943

*At Barcelona in 'thirty-eight
They fought the heavy-armoured foe,
And though they faltered 'neath the weight,
They boldly parried blow for blow.*

*A year had passed, the world at strife
Beheld all Poland red with fire;
And unknown men laid down their life
On bomb-torn Warsaw's funeral pyre.*

*And yet a year. The armies, "battered",
Withdrew from Dunkirk's sandy dunes,
And the machine-guns loudly clattered—
Sbrill sbrapnels singing mourning tunes.*

THE RECORD

*At Stalingrad the guns spewed death,
And lit the night with fateful glow;
While some there breathed their latest breath,
Or drenched with blood the cold white snow.*

*Still Death, grim father, takes his toll,
Though these have stayed and turned the tide,
And when to-day you call the roll,
Add those whom Naples saw and died.*

PROMISE OF FREEDOM

*Though the faint wind the sounds of battle bearing,
Sweeps through the softly scented air of May;
Though through the heart of Man the missile's tearing,
Though I read plainly all it has to say;*

*Though all the countless millions who are lying
Cold in the colder sod that gave them birth,
Call to my feeling heart that their slow dying
Can never be repaid on this cold earth;*

*Though I have thought of hungry children pleading,
And answered by a mother's weeping plaint;
Though few know where the fight is leading,
Though there are many weary, many faint,*

*Still I can see a time in distance shrouded
When the rich fruit these martyrs hardly sow
Shall ripen into happiness unclouded,
And bury all the misery we know.*

*That is why gallant men must ever suffer,
That is why hope must sometimes dim and wane,
That is why seas are ever growing rougher;
For Man is ever struggling to be sane.*

*And the day will come when men no longer battle,
The day will come when men are fully free,
When never more the cannon's throated rattle
Intrudes above the silence of the sea.*

RAIN

*Majestic remnant of forgotten days!
No man's so proud, no cloud-bestrident tower
Of man's ambition, but must fear the shower
Shed by gentle drops; for now his gaze,
Made fearful by the breathless, cloudy haze,
Turns skyward; 'en the brave do cower
Before a moment's sudden doom—the power
Of thunder, lightning's flashing rays.
When all is still, the world at peace again*

THE RECORD

*With dumb and woeful eyes returns to seek
The doubt that certainty can ne'er reply:
What was't I felt when silent, padding rain
Assumed the power of a god to speak
Of things majestic, and eternity?*

LIGHTLY TO-DAY

*Lightly the pavement sinks beneath my feet,
Lightly my heart is fresh and gay;
Smiling, my glad lips joyfully greet
All whom I pass on my airy way.*

*The thundering tram-cars on the stony street,
The roaring buses round me play.
Lightly the pavement sinks beneath my feet,
Because I am in love to-day.*

THE WITCH OF HAARLEM A Fantasy

To the truly wonderful painting of the same name by the well-known Dutch painter, Franz Hals, do I owe the inspiration for this sketch.

Art is the oldest Muse, born centuries before its sisters far back in the days before men found expression in the pen; and, as such, it has mellowed more than the other arts. It is the revelation of life, as no man-made words might vainly try to describe it. And as he wandered through the art gallery wherein lie untold treasures, this thought more than once occurred to him. What follows might well have taken place.

Passing from frame to frame along the loaded walls he paused before that sneering cynic or smiling gallant, "The Laughing Cavalier", and, as he turned, a pair of gleaming eyes set in sunken face accosted him.

"Who are you?" demanded the youth of their owner.

A peal of mad cackling drowned his question. It subsided.

"To those who to-day are flesh and to-morrow dust, am I known as the Witch of Haarlem; but I live on. As long as man is divided by hate I thrive. . . . But stay, 'tis you I want!"

"You have no business with me," returned the youth. I love my fellows. Why, we are as brothers. Your charms are powerless."

"Powerless, they all say when first they visit me, but as Time and Age grow upon them they change, yes, they change and come eagerly then to share my embrace and beverage on which I am bred."

So saying, the hag pointed to a large mug that stood on the table before her in which lay the ill-smelling evils of the world.

"You must now taste, only a small sip at present, but you may have a little more later."

The youth thought quickly.

"Whatever you wish, so will I do. But first reveal your true identity that I may know you for the rest of Time." The witch drew back. "Grant me not this, and drink I will not!"

"I . . . I am Poverty, Strife, Intolerance, Misery, Suffering, Bigotry. Yes, yes, I am all that is evil and foul. I was suckled by Hate and fostered by Civilisation. Every time a book is burnt or a learned man stigmatised by society I grow, I live, I revel. Now, drink!"

While saying this the witch had, from faltering, become excited, and her voice had risen to its fullest pitch of intensity, while the parrot of Ignorance on her shoulder mimicked every word.

The youth took hold of the mug and brought it to his mouth as she followed, like a pin to a magnet, his every movement, her gleaming eyes growing even brighter as he placed it at his mouth.

"Drink! drink!" she urged.

But he, with sudden decision, flung the mug from him.

Turning, the youth rushed to the frame yelling, "I will tell men. They will know you for what you are."

Mocking, derisive laughter pursued him, and the witch shrieked:

"Though you may never submit to my attentions, there are those (and they outnumber you many times) who court them. They will stifle you."

"They are old," he said. "I will warn youth, who is as yet untouched by your diseased talons. It may take centuries, but finally you will be trampled underfoot—your grave, the filth from which you are sprung!"

You knew, Franz Hals, in your inspiration! This is your warning—the red lamp of danger to mankind, and it is the "Witch of Haarlem", against whom particularly we, still young, must guard.

"MY DAY" AT GYM.

(With Apologies to Eleanor Roosevelt)

I had a vague notion formerly that the study of gymnastics was a rather pleasant way of wasting a period. However, I was speedily disillusioned; for, at the first gym. period, I was horrified to see just what we are expected to do for the benefit of our physique.

Rather intrigued by the mats laid out upon the floor, and being of a somewhat inquisitive nature, I ventured to question Mr. Hercules (P.T. master) regarding their use. To my delight I was rewarded with a gentle smile, a lucid explanation, and the invitation to be taught tumbling quickly. Needless to say, I was extremely proud to be singled out from the class to perform (as I fondly imagined) in a graceful manner for their amusement and instruction. First of all I was told to tuck in my head and roll over on the mat from a standing position. This would have been all very well had I not forgotten to tuck in my head. Thus, to my disgust, I discovered two things: firstly, that the seemingly soft mat was, in reality, as hard as iron; and, secondly, that Mr. Hercules was not so pleasant and good-natured, but was a true sadist with that added menace, a perverted sense of humour. Moreover, in a rather scathing manner, I was informed just what I was, what I had been, and what I always would be, as regards the gentle art of tumbling, the perfect physical atrocity.

Returning in confusion to the amused and entirely unsympathetic class, I felt I was free from his terrible glare. However, the class was then put through such a rigorous set of exercises, that I was not at all surprised to see a line of more or less unwilling and incapacitated boys at the next gym. lesson.

I learnt that an "unforged note" was needed from one's parents, explaining just why one could not, or would not, do gym. I immediately armed myself against Mr. Hercules with a score of such notes dated for two or three months ahead; and, now, I sit luxuriously, in one piece, on a wooden bench, a mere spectator of adolescent effort—the boon of an unforged parental missive.

Once humiliated, twice incapacitated.

FRIENDSHIP

(Dedicated to a Friend)

To have a friend is to have one of the sweetest gifts that life can bring:

To be a friend is to have a solemn and tender education of soul from day to day.

—A. R. BROWN.

Four elements go to make friendship: the first, Faith; the second, Sincerity; the third, Sympathy; the fourth, Steadfastness.

If he is a friend, before him I can think aloud, for he is like a second self; he counsels me justly with all his soul; he sympathises with me and dispels my sorrow to the best of his ability; and he remains in adverse times—in poverty and other misfortunes—a sure refuge.

There are three kinds of friends: the first, like a small yacht frolicking joyously before the short-lived gale; the second, like the leaves of the tree which, in the wealthy, lustrous summer are a rich green, but in the desolate winter wither and blow away never to return; the third, like the priceless diamond, which, no matter how much it is abused or hammered, remains the same under all conditions.

The first type is only a shallow person; the second merely an opportunist; while the third, the true friend, remains staunch through thick and thin. A friend, therefore, should not be cast off in a moment, for, as Saadi stated:

"A stone is many years becoming a ruby; take care that you do not destroy it in an instant against another stone."

There are no rules for friendship; it must be left to grow itself. The comfort of having a living friend may be lost; but not that of having had one.

J. DUNN (4A).

THE LOST TROOPER

"Oh, why did I have to break away from the troops to get some water at the creek!" These words continually ran in my mind as I made my way through the thick undergrowth of an Indian jungle. I soon realised the stupid mistake I had made; but how to find my friends again? That was the question!

My cries to my comrades were not answered, and in a feverish haste I made my way in any direction. I had filled my bottle with water, but would have exchanged it a thousand times to be with friends. Instead, I was roaming in the jungle scared that, at any moment, a tiger or some other wild animal would jump down on me and tear me to pieces. True, I had my gun; but of what use was that against dozens of enemies, all around. . . .

What was that? Did I hear something? It sounded like a . . . Yes! There it was uncoiling itself at my feet! I couldn't move! I was petrified! A deadly cobra was throwing back its head about to strike! Oh! the suspense of it all. Nothing could save me. But hark! I can hear soft-padded footsteps. The cobra turns round and there, facing it, is a tiger! I thought I was as good as dead; but, luckily for me, the snake and the tiger were bad friends.

Then the fight began. I didn't stay to witness it. I ran as hard as I could away from the scene. Half an hour later found me still running. However, at last I came to a clearing where my trooper friends were camped.

They hustled and bustled around me, eager to hear of what had happened to me. When I told them one man cried, "Ha! ha! Saved by a villain!"

"No," I answered, "saved by a hero!"

"2A SWOT".

A COUNTRY TOWN

The sprawling main street was deserted, save for two sulkies parked haphazardly in the kerb, and an antiquated mangle, masquerading as a bicycle, leaning at a precarious angle over the old stone-slab gutter, on to the hot asphalt pavement. On either side of the road, encroaching upon the pavement, stood the stores, alternated with vacant allotments and houses, whose iron roofs glared harshly in the sunlight.

Back from the street, surrounded by a plot of struggling grass and faded flowers, stood the School of Arts and the granite and marble War Memorial, on which was inscribed a surprising number of names. Opposite, in all its majesty of two stories, large windows and tall flagpoles, stood the Town Hall, on which the tumbledown shack that served as Fire Station leaned dependently, as if in need of support. Farther down the straggling street was the Railway Station, the old stone Post Office, and the Railway Hotel—the latter being considered infinitely more important than the former. Still farther down the road stood the yellow Police Station, and then came the Town Park, which had been left to the tender mercies of a group of fowls which had wandered through a hole in a neighbouring paling fence.

Indeed, the fowls—excepting the ever-busy flies—seemed to be the only sign of life in town that morning. It would have been difficult to find the owners of the sulkies and the bike, for the shops, whose window displays vainly advertised amazing prices, both high and low, were, with the exception of the store-hands, abandoned. Such a deserted air had the town, that some enterprising tourist agent might successfully have taken a group of tourists through it as a "ghost town".

Then the owner of the bike, seemingly emerging from nowhere, pushed the ancient machine into the middle of the road, slithered on to the saddle, and free-wheeled slowly down the street.

Someone came out of the Produce Merchant's store, loaded a sulky with bags of bran and pollard, sprang in and, with a crack of the whip, clattered off down the road.

Silence once more. From the railway line a goods train, giving the entering whistle, broke the silence. A brief period of activity at the station, another whistle, and the train steamed slowly out, amid mocking echoes from the hills. More echoes, and then silence again.

Farther down the street two dogs picked a quarrel in the middle of the road, breaking the stillness with a murderous chorus of howls, growls and yelps. Suddenly, from round a corner, whisked a rattling milk gig which separated the howling dogs and ended their quarrel. Another sulky and horse plodded up the street, and turned abruptly into a side lane, in which a group of women were busily swapping scandals of the day.

The women stopped talking and went to their homes; the two dogs, with more friendly feelings, together sought the shade of a nearby shop awning; the milk-gig pulled up outside the railway station, the thirsty horse helping itself to a drink from a neighbouring horse-trough; the fowls trooped back through the hole in the paling fence, and silence once more reigned.

A country town, indeed!

J. HAGAN (2A).

THE MORNING

To-day, when the whole world seems to be filled with strife and death, I feel that there is need for a little cheer-up for many. To those who have experienced some misfortune or a severe loss (you will know whom I mean), I am telling this story. It is a story of misfortune and disaster, not uncommon in the winter-months in Europe. The result was death, which especially to-day seems worth very little.

THE RECORD

It is a few years ago now, that a small party of skiers set out to climb the Jungfrauoch in Switzerland. They planned to reach the summit before sunset, and to spend the night in one of the huts just below. A snowstorm set in that afternoon, and the party went astray. When night came over the mountain pass, the skiers were far away from the hut. During the night the storm increased, the food was consumed, and no shelter could be found. Towards midnight one member of the party collapsed, and shortly afterwards died of exhaustion. Everyone was praying for the morning to come, when the search for the lost track could be taken up again. Well, the morning did come. They reached the hut, while one of their comrades lay dead in the snow many miles away.

This is the story. You will say this is not much of a cheer-up. I think it is. I told you this story because there was desperation among those skiers; desperation which is common to many a front-line soldier. The only way of escape from death was by means of the light of day.

If the result, the prize of this terrible war is kept before our eyes constantly, and we know what comes after, the misfortunes which perhaps seem heavy to-day will seem lighter. So, when the clouds will pass and the clear skies of a peace will approach, you will forget your sorrow; you will be able to live in happiness in the daylight and forget the night.

Why not spend your vacation at the M.B.C.

as Mr. Douglas Everingham did at the end of his second year Medical Course?

Owing to war conditions, University Medical students are doing a six years' course in five years, and have only three weeks' Christmas vacation.

Mr. Douglas Everingham spent two weeks at the M.B.C., six hours daily, studying SHORTERhand, and completely mastered the whole of the system in that time, and put into SHORTERhand a long article from the "A.B.C. Weekly."

Mr. Everingham is now using SHORTERhand in his University Course.

Positions under War Conditions

The M.B.C., in the four years up to and including 1941, filled 8,821 positions; but is now co-operating fully with the Man-power authorities.

We shall be glad, as previously, to advise young men with regard to studies for future careers. War is gradually drawing to a victorious close, and young men must, in addition to war service studies, keep in view their return to normal civil life. If you do nothing about your return to civil life now, you may be seriously prejudiced later.
