"I made many friends, and they are still my friends."

This simple sentence climaxed the reminiscence of a distinguished Old Boy speaking at the recent dinner which marked the 83rd Anniversary of The Sydney High School.

He had paid just and eloquent tribute to the school, to its traditions, to its achievements, to those who had contributed to its renown, to the distinctions won by its former students; he had appreciated all that the school had done for him and for generations of Old Boys, but he finished with this brief but significant statement of perhaps the greatest boon that his school had given to him.

This simple sentence was indeed the keynote of the evening and conveyed the very spirit of a memorable re-union.

And this simple sentence can and should mean a lot to you who are not yet Old Boys and who are still attending Sydney High.

School-life is not just a matter of lessons, of subjects — and, nowadays, of levels, nor is it a matter of games or clubs or functions. School-life is certainly all these things, but in the playground, in the classroom, on the sports field it is something far, far more — it is the association with your class-mates, your team-mates, your club-mates — it is the living together, the getting to know the other fellows, and the beginning, the foundation of the making of friends of whom you will say, ten, twenty, fifty years later: "They are still my friends".

Do not make friends easily or lightly, do not expect to be accepted as a friend on first acquaintance.

You will look for qualities in those whom you will want to be your friends — they will look for the same qualities in you.

You will need to be a decent, straightforward, sympathetic kind of fellow, a reliable team-mate, a self-respecting chap who is ready to respect others. You will need NOT to be the show-off, brash and self-seeking type, one who will let his mates down, the chap who is not a good "team-man".

You will make mistakes, you will see others make mistakes. You will strike difficult situations, you will feel "out of it" at times. But if you have quality you will find yourself accepted: you, too, will have many friends.

THE RECORD

C. J. OSLINGTON — DEPUTY HEADMASTER 1960-1966

Fifth Deputy Headmaster of Sydney High, Mr. C. J. Oslington, retired from the service of the school and of the Department of Education on 15th June, 1966. His distinguished association with the school had commenced with his appointment as Master of Mathematics in 1957: then, like Mr. P. W. Hallett (Mathematics Master, 1927-1934; Deputy-Head, 1935-1953) he had moved up from this position to become Deputy Headmaster.

Born in White Cliffs, in the far west of New South Wales, C. J. Oslington was educated at Leeton Primary School and Fort Street Boys' High School and graduated from Sydney University in 1928. His first post as a teacher of Mathematics was at Manly Intermediate High School; then, after service at Broken Hill, Bathurst, Hurlstone, Goulburn and North Sydney High Schools, he was appointed Master of Mathematics at Sydney Technical High School in 1950. After a trip overseas in 1956 he commenced in the following year his ten-year term at Sydney High.

C. J. Oslington's association with this school can very truly be described as distinguished. Tributes paid to him by previous Headmaster, Mr. K. J. Andrews, and the present Head, by present and past staff colleagues and friends, by a generation of parents and by students of many years alike, were eloquent testimony of the esteem, affection and appreciation that all feel for C. J. Oslington. A splendid teacher, a capable and sympathetic administrator, a loyal and respected deputy, he was withal one who sought neither honour nor adulation: his first thought was to service.

On occasions he took over the duties of Acting Headmaster and in this capacity he represented Sydney High as all associated with the School would have wished it to be represented.

At his side, his good wife entered with grace and enthusiasm into the many-sided activities of the school and all who spoke in honour of her husband at functions of farewell acknowledged sincerely and gratefully Mrs. Oslington's close and interested association with Sydney High.

The school wishes Mr. and Mrs. Oslington many happy years.

STAFF CHANGES

During 1966 the following members of the staff left Sydney High as well as the service of the N.S.W. Department of Education: Mr. B. Andrews, Mr. W. Freeman, Mr. B. McFarland, Mr. D. Salmon and Miss R. Vickers. Mr. P. Hobson joined the staff for a little more than a term and has proceeded to London for further study. Mrs. B. Zeman is on leave. The good wishes of the school accompany each and every one of them in their present fields of activity.

THE RECORD

Sydney High welcomes to the staff the following: Mr. L. Banbury, Mr. J. Congreve, Mr. J. Cowan, Mr. M. Fraser, Mr. R. Free, Mr. L. Gavrishchuk, Mr. E. Griffiths, Mr. R. Robinson, Mr. V. Taran and Mr. J. Taylor.

IVAN ROY CRACKNELL

The school has cause to mourn the loss of Ivan Roy Cracknell, who died during July. Mention of his name immediately recalls prolonged and unselfish devotion to the tasks assigned him both within the boundaries of the school itself and beyond them. "Sam" Cracknell, as he was familiarly known, was responsible for introducing and supervising the latest developments in the field of Physical Education (1947-1954) and brought to the atmosphere of the gymnasium a great spirit of adventure and an imaginative approach to all done there. This fine teacher was a happy and generous man and in association with Peter Mullins (an outstanding colleague) introduced great verve and joy into all the physical activities associated with the school.

Under the guidance and competent coaching of these two men the football XV performed with great success. Skill in athletics was greatly increased and rowing received a great fillip. "Sam" Cracknell, who had rowed in the second fours for St. Joseph's College during 1935 and 1936, took on the arduous task of Master of Rowing at the school in addition to his numerous extra-curricular jobs and went so far as to purchase a speed-boat from which to coach the crews.

Yes, generosity was the key note of "Sam" Cracknell's character and it is little wonder that he earned the esteem of all at the school and all interested in the school.

What C.S.R. does: C.S.R. is one of the largest industrial and commercial organisations in Australia. It employs about 11,500 people in Australia, New Zealand and Fiji, of whom 1,700 are salaried officers. ☐ Its main business is the production and marketing of basic goods — food (mainly sugar), building materials and industrial chemicals. It is about to increase its mining activities. The company and its subsidiaries operate 51 factories.

OPPORTUNITIES WITH C.S.R.

Opportunities to work in many fields: The C.S.R. Company offers opportunities, which can lead to positions in top management and administration, to suitable young men in many fields: ■ accounting, finance and commercial work ■ agricultural research ■ chemistry and chemical engineering ■ engineering ■ field staff ■ marketing and sales ■ research and development.

Opportunities for training: C.S.R. staff receive training appropriate to their work. There are three main parts in the company's training programme:

- formal courses in tertiary education leading to a degree or other qualification at a university or other teaching establishment, initially on a part-time basis with the opportunity to complete courses on a full-time basis. The courses give skill and knowledge to help staff officers advance in their own field. (The choice of a course for the officer rests with the company and depends largely on Leaving Certificate or Higher Schools Certificate results.)
- a plan of on-the-job training and rotation of appointments to give wide experience of work in the company.
- a programme of development to encourage young men of ability to equip themselves for promotion.

Applications: Applicants should preferably be under 19 years of age and must have obtained the Leaving Certificate or be sitting for this examination in 1966.

☐ They should submit applications in their own handwriting, preferably before the end of October 1966 addressed to:

The Chief Staff Officer,
The Colonial Sugar Refining Co. Ltd.,
1-7 O'Connell Street, Sydney.

ALFRED van der POORTEN

Alfred van der Poorten

Mr. Alfred van der Poorten (Sydney High, 1959), was one of two joint winners of the 1966 Youth Citizenship Award made each year to migrants under 25 years of age by the National Youth Council of Australia in conjunction with the Department of Immigration.

The Minister for Immigration, Mr. Opperman, announcing this award, said Mr. van der Poorten had been chosen for his outstanding achievements in citizenship and the example he set, not only to migrant youth, but also to Australian-born young people.

Mr. van der Poorten, who came to Australia from the Netherlands in 1951, is a Teaching Fellow in Pure Mathematics at the University of New South Wales and has had a distinguished career, academically and in youth leadership.

In the 1959 Leaving Examination he received a maximum pass, coming seventh in the State on aggregate marks and equal first in both mathematics subjects.

After his Matriculation he spent eleven months in Jerusalem in 1960, studying at the Institute for Youth Leaders from abroad.

He resumed at the University of N.S.W. in 1961. Last year he completed his Bachelor of Science degree in pure mathematics with first class honours and was awarded the University Medal.

He is now enrolled for a Bachelor of Arts degree, majoring in Philosophy and is studying for his Doctorate of Philosophy in the School of Mathematics.

He was nominated to the National Youth Council of Australia and selected to represent Australia at the World Assembly of Youth Asian Regional Seminar in Melbourne on the role of youth in the demographic problems of Asia.

He became President of the Students' Union in 1964 and in August that year led a delegation of student inquiry which visited Papua, New Guinea and West Irian.

GEOFFREY LEWIS

backed up by his wonderful achievement in scoring "150 marks out of a possible 120" in the 1965 University of N.S.W. Mathematics Competition. This year he followed up this success in another Maths Competition by having one of the two equal best entries out of the first four years of four Universities, winning four prizes out of twelve.

Geoffrey Lewis climaxed his five successful years at the school with an outstanding Leaving Certificate result and was placed an overall second in the State. He topped the State in Maths I and was second in Maths II — a rare achievement. Geoffrey was awarded the Barker Scholarship and the Horner Exhibition Prize for Mathematics and a Cadetship in Mathematics at the University of New South Wales. Geoffrey has always been an outstanding student of mathematics — this is

STEPHEN SYMONDS

Another successful student at the school is Stephen Symonds who capped an outstanding school career by coming eighteenth in the State, twelfth in Maths I and forty-second in Physics. Last year he was co-dux with Geoffrey Lewis and won the John Waterhouse and Lodge Sydney High Prizes as well as the Shell Scholarship. He was Senior Prefect for 1965 — the first boy to hold this position at the school and was captain of the Second XI.

This year he is studying Engineering at Sydney University.

REUNION OF THE CLASS OF '65

The dual nature of this annual event, which took place on 22nd July this year, was explained by the headmaster in his opening address. Not only do the students receive their certificates acknowledging five (or more) years of sweat and toil, but the opportunity of renewing old acquaintances is offered to one and all of the year.

THE RECORD

The success of the evening, only the second to be held, was evident from the almost complete attendance of the sixty-fivers.

The first of the guest speakers was Mr. C. E. Rubie, President of the O.B.U., who congratulated the parents as heartily as the boys, because he regarded them as the guiding light and inspiration behind the students' success. He observed that more of the '65 year became members of the O.B.U. than any other year in its history.

This boosted total membership to the 1,200 mark, but a larger membership was needed to compare favourably with those of other G.P.S. O.B.U.s now that the trend was for the O.B.U.s to take a more active part in the development of their schools.

The presentation of certificates was made by Mr. Frank ("Paddy") O'Rourke. The popularity of this choice was confirmed by the tremendous applause accorded this veteran teacher.

Mr. O'Rourke shared with those present, the experience of teaching at girls' high school, and reminisced on past happenings and pupils. High Old Boys had an uncanny ability to succeed in whatever field they tackled, stated Mr. O'Rourke, carefully refraining from any elaboration.

The back-slapping and quiet celebrations continued after the close of the evening, an evening which is certain to be established as an integral part of the school calendar.

SCHOOL CAPTAIN

Jonathan Isaacs, following his father and elder brother to the school, became a pupil in 1962. In July, 1966, he was appointed to position of School Captain, for a unique two-year term of office resulting from the introduction of the six-year course. The four and a half years filling this gap were marked by Jon's keen participation in school activities and his ability to win friends by means of his warm personality. During the same period, Jon also revealed himself to be a precise and adept scholar.

As he rose into the Senior School, the only changes in his interests were additions, for to cricket, football, Cadets and chess, he added debating and the foundation Presidency of the Interact Club. This year Jon has played cricket with the 1st XI and relinquished his office in the Interact Club, only to take on the leadership of the newly formed United Nations Club. He also took a principal role in the school's production of "Hamlet" during Education Week.

Through these activities, and by reason of his character, Jon has gained outstanding popularity, while he has proved himself well-equipped in the sphere of leadership, and, not least of all, shown himself to be a proficient public speaker. It was in the light of all this that Jon Isaacs was appointed School Captain. That this high office has been entrusted to a pair of hands capable of upholding the finest traditions of this school has already been well demonstrated.

THE RECORD

SPEECH NIGHT, 1965

The 82nd Annual Speech Night of the school was held on 14th December, 1965, when the school was honoured by the presence of many distinguished guests. Mr. C. L. Ferrier, B.A., B.Sc., was in the chair whilst the Managing Director of the Commonwealth Banking Corporation and the brother of our Headmaster, Mr. B. B. Callaghan, delivered a stimulating address. Also present was Mr. I. Dawes, a former pupil of the school who had recently been awarded the Rhodes Scholarship for 1965, and thus became the seventh Old Boy to attain this honour.

In his address, Mr. B. B. Callaghan pointed out to the boys that they should recognise and appreciate the true values of life. For these values it was to their parents that they should look, although the "oldies" often appeared to be old fashioned. Through the glare of their own world, the youth must learn to discern what was permanent in their heritage and to do this no one could help them more than their fathers and mothers.

Before presenting his report, the Headmaster extended the school's congratulations to a distinguished Old Boy, His Excellency, Sir Roden Cutler, V.C., C.B.E., on his appointment as Governor of New South Wales. In his annual report the Headmaster drew attention to the many achievements of the school, both in the scholastic and in the sporting spheres. He noted that at long last the school was being extensively renovated and plans were expected to be drawn up for a spacious new wing.

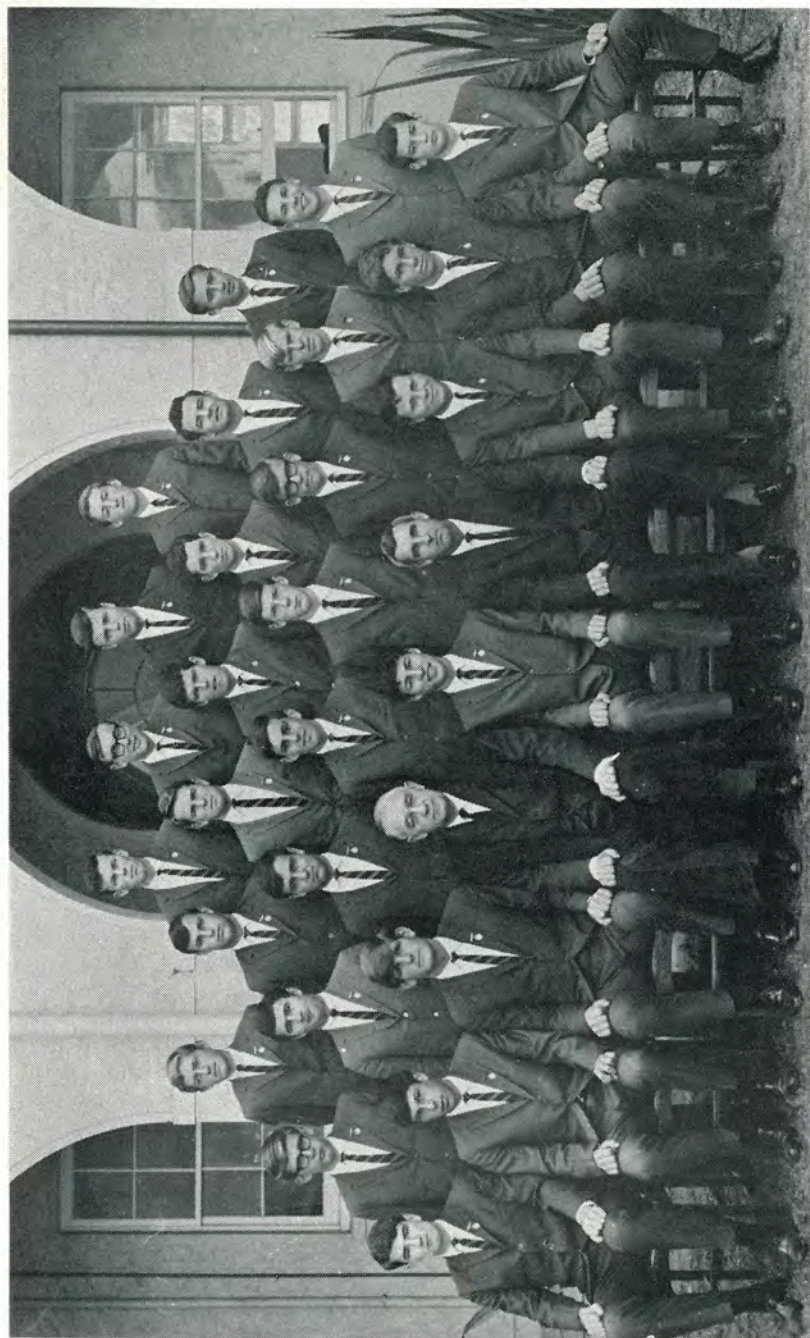

The Headmaster took the opportunity to draw attention to different aspects of the Wyndham Scheme with which the general public were not acquainted. In particular he paid tribute to all those professional people in the schools and universities who had given freely of their time, purely on a voluntary basis, to draw up syllabuses for the various courses. Greater recognition, he said, should be accorded to them.

The Headmaster also pointed out that there was a need for liaison between schools and universities in determining the requirements for prospective students. He called for the formation of a standing committee for consultation where all problems could be discussed and evaluated. This, he said, would bring clarity into places of confusion.

In conclusion the Headmaster reaffirmed his support and enthusiasm for the Wyndham Scheme and reassured the parents that their sons were embarking on an exciting and challenging course of study which would be of inestimable value to the student.

The Orchestra and the Choir under the batons and guidance of Miss Morris and Mr. Murphy respectively and the School Band under the able direction of Mr. Goodchild contributed a very pleasant programme of choral and musical items to the evening.

CHESS CLUB

Once again the School's Chess Club has enjoyed a prosperous year with over thirty regular members and attendances of sixty on occasions during second term. Teams were entered in all of the Chess Association's grades, with two of each C and D grades. All teams did well, but only the C and D teams made the finals. First and Second Formers made up the bulk of the club, but seniors are taking renewed interest.

We regret that John Isaacs found it necessary to leave the club when he was appointed School Captain. He had been for a long time the mainstay of our A grade team. At present a competition is being held within the club for the cup which is annually presented.

Our thanks are given to Mr. Parker for letting the club use the art room and to the Headmaster and his Deputy who have allowed the grade teams to leave early when they have had to play at distant schools. As always our thanks is extended to the School Union for its financial assistance with which we have equipped the club with a dozen new sets and many new boards to replace the boards which have now been in use for many years.

New members are welcome to the club and anyone who wishes to learn chess should contact either myself or Mr. Wegener; either of us will be glad to help. Lastly and in particular, all boys wish to thank Mr. Wegener for his constant attention to the club and his interest in each individual member.

CRAFT CLUB

The Craft Club meets each Monday afternoon during term. Boys, mainly from senior years, who do not take Craft as part of their regular curriculum have the opportunity of pursuing their interest in Craft at this time.

At the moment, restricted as we are by temporary accommodation, only leatherwork and bookcrafts are offered, but as our facilities improve it is hoped that a wider variety of crafts will become available.

Boys interested in joining this club should contact R. McMahon, who will introduce them to the group.

HAMLET

This year Sydney Boys' and Sydney Girls' High were chosen to present scenes from Shakespeare's "Hamlet" in the annual Education Week activities. The play was presented on the steps of the War Memorial in Hyde Park on Monday, 8th August and proved very enjoyable.

Producer and director was Mr. D. Dempsey, the Education Department's Supervisor of Speech and Drama, who came to the school in June and auditioned many senior boys for the lead roles in the play. After a thorough examination of the potential talent available, Philip Morris was chosen for the part of Hamlet; Bruce O'Meagher, Claudius; Jon Isaacs, Polonius; John Sackar, Horatio and Craig Bell as Player-king. Rosemarie Livingstone was chosen as Ophelia, Pam McLeod as Gertrude and Jan Papple as Player-queen. The balance of the cast contained a few Players and 20 Lords and Ladies of the court.

Following the selection of the cast, the task of producing the play commenced. It is here that Mr. Dempsey's ability to develop a polished cast from the raw talent of a group of individuals, was fully appreciated. Many rehearsals were held during and outside school hours and gradually the play took shape.

On the day of the presentation, all worked smoothly and the pivot of the play, Philip Morris, gave an impressive and polished performance as Hamlet. He was ably supported by the other actors and the production turned out to be a successful piece of drama.

All connected with the play would like to thank Mr. Dempsey for the advice and instruction in all phases of the production, without which, the performance of the play would not have been possible. The students who participated in the play benefited greatly, as they gained an insight into the nature of Shakespeare's drama.

THE CHOIR

The choir has been very active this year. Its first main function was the Combined Choral Concert at Sydney Town Hall, in which the tenors and basses sang selections from Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas" and Strauss' "Tales from the Vienna Forest". The combined choir, gathered from seventeen secondary schools, was conducted by Mr. Terence Hunt, B.A., Dip.Ed., Inspector of Schools in charge of music.

THE CHOIR

At the Father and Son Dinner The "Daniel Jazz" was sung by the trebles and was well received. In a lighter vein was the "Barbershop Quintet" which rendered several vintage numbers, "I Left Because I Loved You", "I Want a Girl" and in honour of the occasion, "Dear Old Dad". Dressed in appropriate costumes, the group received a very hearty reception.

On the 25th September the choir sang during the Anniversary Service at St. James' Church, King Street. The Anthem was Thiman's "Lift Up Your Hearts". We are now looking forward to our Annual Speech Night in the last week of the term.

Although the standard of the choir has improved, more regular attendance is required. The tenor section has been very small this year — about five members, compared with twenty in the bass section, so tenors are urgently needed to improve our choir even more.

R. J. E.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

This year the instrumentalists in the school have been working in smaller groups than formerly. The aim has been for boys to work at their own level of performance, and chamber music groups seem most suited to this condition. In third term, players will again work in combination as the school orchestra, which should be about forty strong for our performance on Speech Night.

The advanced wind ensemble, comprising seven woodwind and brass players, ably represented the school at Sydney Town Hall for the Official Opening of Education Week in August, playing three movements from a suite by Antony Solborne. At the same function, a trio by Ostransky was performed by the three woodwind players from the wind ensemble. These two groups are to be commended for their selection by the Department of Education to take part in such a programme.

Junior woodwind players rehearse once a week. One group, comprising two flutes, two oboes and three clarinets, is being trained in basic ensemble playing in preparation for their promotion to the orchestra. A group of ten recorder players also practise regularly, and are making good progress.

String tuition classes continue each morning before school. There are at present sixteen violinists and violists within first and second forms. This year we have also experimented with a junior string orchestra for these boys and other string players in the school. A piano trio has emerged as an extra pursuit for a few of the more advanced players in this group.

A Jazz Group was formed to entertain the school at the Annual Father and Son Dinner, and it certainly contributed to the enjoyment of the evening.

A French horn class has been formed this year, and three boys have a weekly lesson from Mr. Patrick Brislan, a member of the Sydney Symphony Orchestra.

Our thanks go to the Parents and Citizens for their provision of a bassoon scholarship for a first form boy.

THE BRASS BAND

The standard of playing in the Band has been higher this year than any previous year since its formation in 1962. This is very largely a result of the effort put into preparing for four competitions during the year. Most of this work was done by our conductor, Cliff Goodchild, who comes to the school three mornings a week to instruct the players.

At Easter, the Band flew to Dubbo to compete in the Junior Grade section of the Australian Brass Band Championships. For the three days that we were at Dubbo, the band was billeted by the Dubbo Brass Band, the organisers of the contest. The S.H.S. Band and the other two school bands that Mr. Goodchild teaches were the only school bands in the contest; in the Junior Grade section there were seven bands competing. The S.H.S. Band did not gain a place in any event, but it was an achievement even to have entered the contest.

At the school Anzac ceremony, the band accompanied the hymns. One of our cornet players, Robert Evans, sounded the "Last Post" and "Reveille".

On 29th May the band competed in the N.S.W. Junior Band Championship. Here we had more success than in the Dubbo contest, gaining second place in the "own choice" selection, second in the hymn, third in the street march, and second in the aggregate.

The next contest was the School Band Championship, held at the University of N.S.W. The band did not gain a place in either the hymn, march or selection, but G. Klye won the Drum Major's Prize.

On October 2nd the S.H.S. Band and Mr. Goodchild's other two bands, were the only school bands out of the thirteen bands competing in the D Grade section of the N.S.W. Brass Band Championships. The S.H.S. Band is one of the few school bands capable of playing the test selection for a D Grade contest. The band came eighth out of thirteen in the aggregate.

THE RECORD

This year was the first time, and we hope not the last, that the band played at the Sydney Girls' High School fete.

The school recently bought 20 instruments, bringing the band's total number of instruments to approximately forty. We are in need of more junior boys to learn to play these instruments in order to maintain the standard. With the help of Mr. Goodchild, the band is likely to continue to improve as it has done in the past.

DEBATING

Senior Team: W. Donaldson, P. Foster, W. Halliday, J. Isaacs, G. Klye, B. O'Meagher, M. Smith.

The team this year had a fairly successful season. In C.H.S., although rarely having the same team for two consecutive debates, the side won the zone C.H.S. competition undefeated and reached the semis, where it was narrowly defeated by North Sydney. In the G.P.S. competition, the team never showed its true form and was defeated by St. Joseph's, St. Ignatius and S.C.E.G.S. in some close debates.

Perhaps the highlight of the year was the team's defeat of "the skirts over the fence" — success that has long eluded the stronger sex due, some believe, to sentiment on the part of past adjudicators. All thanks to Mr. Little for his unbiased judgement.

The team would also like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Jenkin and the small number of helpers who supervised supper following "home" G.P.S. meetings.

Junior team: S. Akierman, D. Blomberg, D. Gantman, M. Holmes, K. Kinstler, P. Martich, M. Stang.

Many times during the season the team lost only on account of lack of experience, which many of their opponents had. Nevertheless, the team still fared fairly well. In the C.H.S. competition, the juniors were narrowly defeated by Enmore for the right to enter the semi-finals, while in G.P.S. they managed a creditable draw with St. Ignatius.

This year has certainly served as a good foundation for future years, and the team takes this opportunity to thank Mr. Jenkin for his valuable assistance.

INTER-SCHOOL CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

I.S.C.F. is a Christian movement existing in many schools throughout the State. It is a subsidiary of the Scripture Union movement.

The group exists to help its members who are already Christians to grow in the faith and to bring others to the knowledge of Christ. The weekly meeting is held in Room 6, each Friday, at lunchtime and there is a prayer meeting on Wednesday morning before school in Room 20. The meetings aim at presenting Jesus Christ to all who are interested through Bible studies, film strips and talks by members of the staff, visiting clergymen and senior students.

During the school holidays many I.S.C.F. members from many schools meet at I.S.C.F. camps. These camps provide an enjoyable holiday in a Christian atmosphere.

We would like to extend our thanks to the members of the staff who have assisted us during the year, especially the Headmaster, Mr. Cooney, Mr. Di Salvia and Mr. Proctor. We pray that in the coming years the group will aim to uphold the I.S.C.F. motto: "To know Christ and to make Him known".

GYMNASTIC CLUB

The club has been in existence now for about 4 years and the membership in the summer months is about 15-25.

With the New Year came the influx of interested First Formers, many of whom have stayed on; some of these lads show possibilities of becoming fine gymnasts.

The equipment used mostly by the members is: the vaulting horse; spring board; parallel bars; highbar and tumbling mats.

A healthy body promotes a healthy mind and gym work produces a balanced, dependable and well co-ordinated person who is fit for any other form of physical activity or mental exertion. We would, therefore, like to see more boys participating with the present members.

The club meets every Thursday afternoon and the members would like to thank sincerely Mr. Hodge for contributing so much of his valuable time to the club and also express appreciation to Mr. Fielding for making available the gym equipment.

LAPIDARY CLUB

The Lapidary Club has now been an active organisation for a little over 15 months.

Despite the pressure of examinations two collecting trips have been organised during this school year. One was to Long Reef for fossils. Although the weather was wet, all those who attended had an enjoyable day. The second was to Bass Point, near Shellharbour, where petrified woods, agates and jaspers were found.

One of the main projects by the club, during the second term, was the tuition of members in the art of cutting and polishing of gemstones.

The club is indebted to Mr. B. Di Salvia, for the loan of a cutting wheel, and his supervision of its use. His unfailing interest in the club's activities has been an inspiration to all members. The club also wishes to thank both Messrs. Higham and Dyball, for their interest and assistance to the club.

In last year's report, mention was made of participation in the school's annual fete, and it is pleasing to all concerned, to be able to report that over $80 was raised by the exhibition and stall.

The club hopes to participate in the 1966 fete and toward that end has raffled a camera, which was won by P. Wills, Fifth Form.

The money from this will be utilized in stocking a stall for sales at the fete.

Next year the club hopes to be much more active and more interested people would be welcome at our meetings. These are held on Thursdays at lunch time in Room 24.

THE RECORD

INTERACT CLUB

The Interact Club, sponsored by South Sydney Rotary Club, is a club for members of the school aimed at community service and the promotion of international understanding. The club was formed in March, 1965, and was the fourth of its kind to be inaugurated in the Sydney area. Since then ten other clubs have been formed. Membership is by invitation and total membership now is about 45.

The club has completed several projects. It has sponsored a film festival, a book collection for a Sydney hospital, an art competition and a record bar at the school fete. It also undertook the production of the school football magazine.

The club meets every two weeks in Room 8 on Fridays. We have had four guest speakers so far who have given talks on a range of subjects. Earlier in the year at Newington we had a debate. These activities are not only aimed at the interest of the members but also at the development of character.

The club is indebted to the help and interest shown by visiting Rotarians, Mr. J. Murphy and the headmaster. Any boy interested in Interact activities is invited to attend any meeting, you will be most welcome.

UNITED NATIONS CLUB

It was during the 1966 May vacation that twelve bright-eyed, rather critical, wet-nosed Sydney High students (Girls' School inclusive) stepped into Sydney University for four days of what we then thought intensive U.N. propaganda. We took our place among students from all States, at first rather wary of the whole proceedings. Not until the third day was it realised by us that we had fallen hook, line and sinker, and were now taking an active part in the United Nations Organisation. Contrary to our original conception of U.N. propaganda consisting of striking clichés and vague euphemisms, we were converted (if boldness is allowed such a term) by objectivity and factual evidence.

Since leaving the fourth Dag Hammarskjöld Memorial Conference, Sydney High has established the first U.N. Club in N.S.W. Correspondence between States is also active, and evidence of an Australian system of School U.N. Clubs in Tasmania, South Australia, Victoria and N.S.W., as well as periodic inter-school U.N. meetings in Queensland and Western Australia, should have some bearing on the success of the conference and the seriousness of all those who attended.

Looking back on the past six months, I can only say that the U.N. has given most of us a good deal of worry but a greater degree of self-satisfaction. It is not easy to establish a club of this nature and make it entertaining and inspiring to all its members when those who are forming it themselves have little idea of the necessary requirements. Therefore, this opportunity is taken to thank Mr. Callaghan and Miss Wane for the liberal manner in which such a formation was viewed, and their interest and co-operation since the club was founded. Thanks must also go to Mr. Hannan and Mr. Little on the boys' side of the "fence", and Mrs. Birchill and Miss Jarrett on the girls'.

The club is at present open to 3rd, 4th and 5th Forms at the Girls' School and 4th and 5th at the Boys'. Active members who come regularly, would number 50 to 60, while at some meetings attendance has exceeded 120.

At the moment the U.N. club is not supporting a financial project but a sub-committee is investigating possibilities. Of course an ambitious club can not hope to exist without financial support, and since subscription by members is not permitted, the club relies heavily on voluntary donations and money raising campaigns. These campaigns will probably include such ventures as film festivals, car washes, use of gymnasium for inter-school sporting activities with barbecues. The club also supports the U.N.O. by selling U.N.I.C.F. cards.

The meetings themselves are enlivened by the system of discussion groups — mixed groups of about 8-10 meet to talk over an assigned topic. We also have films, guest speakers and open-forums on controversial topics.

The club's aim is to support the U.N.O. not only financially but in any possible way: for example, the girls' school has conducted a book appeal and many members of the club have done voluntary work for the Freedom From Hunger Campaign.

It would, perhaps, be difficult to reduce or confine all the aims of the U.N.O. to any one motto, but, from a club's point of view, Rotary's "Service Before Self" would, I think, best suit the situation.

CADET UNIT

O.C.'s REPORT

The Cadet Unit continued under the command of Capt. Davis until July this year, when, much to the regret of the unit, he found it impossible to continue as O.C. owing to the pressure of his busy schedule. His experienced leadership has greatly benefited the cadets in many ways, and the unit offers its sincere thanks to Capt. Davis for the time he has devoted to it in his skilful guiding of its activities.

The C.U.O.'s have this year been given a great deal of responsibility over the actual running of the unit and have achieved really good results. These boys, who, by their bearing and efficiency, have set a fine example to the rest of the unit, communicated their enthusiasm to all under their command. The N.C.O.'s also contributed greatly to the unit's successful year. I extend my congratulations to these cadets on a job well done.

I must thank my Q.M., Lt. M. Jenkin, for his efficient handling of the Q store. For a unit to function well good Q work is essential, and Lt. Jenkin has carried out most capably the task of running the store. Thanks are also due for the assistance given by Capt. Mills and other members of his staff at 7 Cadet Bn, and in particular for the work of W.O. II C. Curtis, our Unit Instructor.

Chairman: Maurice Isaacs Esq., B.A.

Master of Classics: A. R. Jessep Esq., B.A.

A Praesidivm is by lexical definition a defence, protection, guardianship and assistance. The Litterarvm Praesidivm Hvmaniorvm has been called into existence to exercise those functions in the field of Humane (i.e. Classical) Studies within S.H.S. At a meeting held in the Headmaster's study last year, under the joint chairmanship of Sir Charles McDonald and the Head, a resolution was carried urging the establishment of an organisation whose aim was the promotion of Classical Studies. At this meeting were representatives of the academic, medical, legal and teaching professions who unanimously evinced a desire to see that academic standards were maintained in this school through the study of Latin, Greek and Ancient History.

THE AIMS OF THE PRAESIDIVM are:

- To promote classical studies by suitable individual incentives, e.g. prizes, special awards, etc.
- To stimulate new teaching methods.
- To act as a nexus between the school and external bodies interested in the Classics.
- To establish a Societas Academica under its Aegis to be managed by the pupils themselves (Vide Alibi).

This is a major development in the field of classics at this school orientated by eminent professional men and Old Boys — obviously we need all the active support we can obtain. Please contact the Praesidivm at the school if you wish to participate or assist.

1 Platoon

This year 1 Platoon, under the capable leadership of C.U.O. B. Smith, has worked quite efficiently as the specialist platoon. The platoon comprises two sections, the Band, led by Sgt. Klye and the Signals section, led by Sgt. Reid.

The Band has increased in numbers as well as musical ability — probably owing to the fact that two cadets, Cdt. Nachum and Cdt. M. Gerber, were sent to the Band course last May.

The Signals section has also increased in numbers. There has been an increase in the variety of equipment available for use. Quite a lot of valuable knowledge was gained by practical experience at the annual camp.

Sgt. Reid attended the May specialist course, attaining the rank of qualified signals sergeant.

The high standard of work which has been attained through the efforts of Sgts. Lawrence, Reid and Klye with the help of the corporals will, I hope, be maintained in future years.

C.U.O. A. J. Graham

2 Platoon

Because most cadets in the platoon were recruited in the middle of last year, it was necessary to continue basic training this year. The cadets developed their fundamental skills with the rifle, with the Bren light machine gun and in drill. However, interest this year was directed towards fieldcraft with emphasis on the individual within a section. Elementary map reading and section offensive tactics as well as instruction in personal camouflage and concealment were highlights of training. Lessons learnt at school were practiced in Moore Park and especially at camp, where all members of the platoon acquitted themselves in a distinct soldierly manner. I must thank my N.C.O.'s for their enthusiasm throughout the year. Without them the platoon would not have reached its high standard.

C.U.O. W. G. Donaldson

3 Platoon

What these young cadets lacked in numbers they most assuredly made up in heart. Early in first term the C.U.O.'s were quite dubious about their approach and mental attitude towards drill. Although still displaying signs of this attitude their conduct and behaviour in the field is of the highest quality for any cadet unit, and gained the respect and congratulations of many other schools as well as Regular Army umpires who were always present.

A little advice to members of these platoons — there is a time to work and a time to play. You have already proved yourself in the bush; now make doubly sure of it on the parade ground.

ACADEMICA SYDNEIENSIS

Under the Aegis of the Praesidium.

Chairman: J. ISAACS.

Treasurer: D. TAYLOR.

Secretary: B. LONEGAN.

It is apparent to those studying classics, that they are embarking on a pursuit of learning which includes more than translations and learning of facts.

For this basic reason, a group of some twenty boys representing those boys doing classics in all the forms met in the Great Hall under the chairmanship of the Classics Master, Mr. Jessep. It was decided to establish a society within the school in an attempt to widen the member's outlook on subjects inherent in classics yet not on the respective syllabi, such as Philosophy, Architecture, Dramatic Presentations — in fact the society is interested in purely academic study, as distinct from the various sporting activities within the school.

Membership is 75 cents joining fee plus 75 cents per annum and is open to all students taking classics within the school. Those interested should see any of the above executive members or Wayne Donaldson or David Mitchell, the senior and junior representatives.

THE RECORD

BIVOUAC

One highlight of the first term cadet year was an overnight bivouac held in the Holsworthy area. This provided an excellent opportunity for training the younger cadets in the fundamentals of bushcraft and infantry service.

Apart from the vigorous daily training a night exercise was organised (Operation Highstrike) in which two infantry night-patrols made "contact" as well as being harassed by smaller bands of "blue-beret" guerillas. Flares and blanks were issued to strengthen the sense of reality of the exercise, which proved to be worthwhile.

Credit is due to all officers and N.C.O.'s who proved themselves in the bush (as well as the parade ground) and special thanks must go to Capt. Davis for providing and arranging almost the whole exercise — his last "active service" duty before resigning from the unit.

CENTENARY PARADE

In June, 1866, a group of boys formed together where the King's School now stands, to begin the first Cadet Corps in Australia. From this unimposing beginning, has grown the Australian Cadet Corps, a body involving ten thousand school boys in New South Wales alone. It was to commemorate the beginning of this corps that a Centenary Parade was held at the King's School on 10th June this year. Three thousand cadets from more than sixty schools in N.S.W. were paraded including two details from Sydney High School Cadet Unit, under the command of C.U.O. Donaldson and C.U.O. B. Smith.

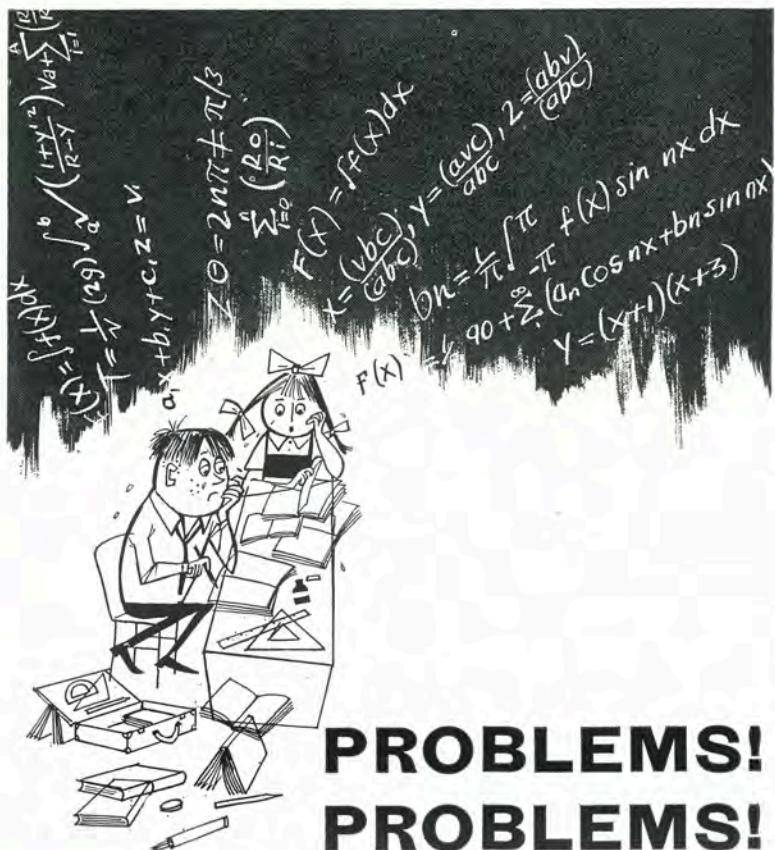

The inspecting officer was His Excellency the Governor of N.S.W., Sir Roden Cutler, V.C., K.C.St.J., himself an old boy of Sydney High. Sir Roden brought with him a letter from Prince Phillip, the Duke of Edinburgh. In the letter, the Prince sent his best wishes to the corps and spoke of the many benefits to be gained by being a cadet. He referred to self-discipline, mateship, and the opportunities of becoming a junior leader. With these words fresh in our minds, Sir Roden reminded us of the obligations we had to the community as a whole, and in particular of the obligation we all had to the protection of Australia's interests at home and overseas.

The parade was run through smoothly in fine, warm weather. The march past marked the parade as a spectacle and the day finished on a high note with the King's School Cadet Corps firing a Feu de Joie, symbolising the pride and pleasure of the boys on parade. Sydney High's detachment put on a worthy performance with high standards of dress, drill, and general behaviour.

particularly apparent during camp, held in the holiday from 1st-9th September. Camp this year was exceptional because almost half the time was spent in the field on bivouac, Exercise Guerilla, or on field shoots. Activities on the two-day bivouac included a lantern-stalk, a night compass march, and a full day of contact and ambush drill, which proved the quality of all cadets in fieldcraft.

On the day after the return from the bivouac forty cadets took part in the new exercise "Guerilla", and put in a very good performance indeed. This is a patrolling exercise around four checkpoints each about 1500 yards apart, with marks being given to each patrol on its handling of contacts with patrols from other units. Our patrol embussed at 7.00 a.m. under C.U.O. M. Smith and was then taken to the starting point where "hutchies" were erected. After successfully fighting our way out of an ambush set by a guerilla force 300 yards from the starting point, our mapreading went astray and we soon became lost. However, after lunch the enemy village was sighted, and here the patrol was extremely successful, performing the tasks required of it and displaying rare initiative. At night the patrol stood to while a fighting patrol was sent out. During this time we captured three cadets from another school in our perimeter: not a bad achievement.

Those cadets who did not go on "Guerilla" had a shooting practice on the new miniature range.

On the Tuesday afternoon three details, each of nine riflemen, a Brengunner and a fire controller, took part in a practice on the Field Firing Range. Whereas other schools averaged 25 per detail, our first detail scored a creditable 39.

On Wednesday four supersonic Mirage fighters simulated strafing and bombing raids over the camp area. Thirty-four members took part in a Bren shoot and did considerable damage to the targets offered.

On Thursday, after a repetition of the simulated air attack, the tents were dismantled and other preparations for breaking camp were made. A game of football was played in the afternoon.

This camp was unusual in that the usual emphasis placed on drill, formal lessons and inspections was lacking; instead the cadets learned what they joined in the first place to learn — a bit of discipline and the experience of living as soldiers; and I emphasise the words living as soldiers in the bush and in camp.

Camp this year was remarkable for the responsibility given to the cadets themselves. This was our camp. We, the C.U.O.'s planned the activities and did what we thought would be best in the long run for the cadets. There was an encouraging sense of mutual co-operation between all ranks, and the feeling of belonging to a worthwhile unit was fantastic. The responsibility for making this annual camp the best ever must undoubtedly go to Lts. Proctor and Jenkin, who imparted their knowledge and at all times kept a watchful eye on us. On behalf of the S.H.S.C.U. it is my great pleasure, sirs, to thank you for a marvellous experience, which we shall always remember, and which undoubtedly will return the unit to its desired strength, once the word about camp has passed around.

In competition let me say that we, the C.U.O.'s, feel that because of camp those pupils of Sydney High School who attended are now not only better cadets, but better, wholesome young men.

SO ECHOES THE PAST

Our cadet service is voluntary. We have attained one of the highest reputations among cadet units both in parade and in field training. This, we feel, is due in no small part to voluntary service. Because of this we are often struggling to maintain satisfactory numbers and thus compete with other schools on an equal footing. Accordingly, I appeal to all boys in second and third forms; if you want to join in the rugged, independent life we have in cadets, if you wish to be a part of something really worthwhile for yourselves, for your school and for your country — join the Unit. You will not regret it, for here is one activity that brings out the best in personality, discipline, leadership and friendship. Join next year and help to keep alive one of the proudest traditions of Sydney High School.

T. Ash, C.U.O. and School Vice-Captain, 1964.

CAREERS

Many boys who approach the Careers Adviser seeking information about their future career show incredible naivete about the seriousness and far-reaching consequences of this decision. Several expect the Careers Adviser to be able to perform some strange hocus-pocus with their mysterious V.G.B. Test results and be able to pronounce with absolute authority — "You will be a successful doctor/lawyer/Indian chief, etc."

Unhappily, things are not quite as foolproof as this. The ultimate decision as to which career you intend to follow is one which can be made by you alone, and, within reason, the earlier you make it the better, e.g., your subject choices and levels in Forms V and VI virtually decide the vocational fields you will be qualified to enter.

Suppose you elect to become an engineer. Do you realise you will find the degree course extremely difficult unless you have studied Advanced Maths, Physics and Chemistry to the Higher School Certificate?

Let's suppose you decide to leave school with Pre-School Certificate because you wish to enter a trade. If you decided in Form II-III to switch from Advanced to Ordinary Maths, you have considerably reduced the scope open to you.

To make a sound choice of a career you must think about and relate two vital aspects — the JOBS and YOURSELF. You must relate these with each other, drawing parallels between your level of education, abilities and INTERESTS, with those required for a particular job. Many boys fail to do this, and blithely state, e.g., "I am going to be an engineer!" when their school record, exam results, attitude to study, etc., just do not support this DEPARTMENT OF MAIN ROADS, NEW SOUTH WALES.

Careers for Boys

IN PROFESSIONAL AND CLERICAL POSITIONS

Vacancies usually exist in the Department of Main Roads, New South Wales, for boys leaving school who desire employment in the following positions:—

ENGINEERING TRAINEES:

Matriculants (to study full-time Degree Course in Civil Engineering at the University of Sydney, the University of New South Wales or the University of Newcastle) — fees paid by the Department in addition to a living allowance plus an allowance towards cost of books and equipment.

SCIENCE TRAINEES:

Matriculants (to study full-time Degree Course in Science at the University of Sydney, the University of New South Wales or the University of Newcastle) — with conditions as shown for Engineering Trainees.

SURVEYING TRAINEES:

Matriculants (to study full-time Degree Course in Surveying at the University of New South Wales and in addition to satisfy the requirements of the Surveyors' Board of N.S.W. for registration) — with conditions as shown for Engineering Trainees.

JUNIOR CLERKS:

JUNIOR DRAFTSMEN:

(Engineering, Survey, Land Survey, Mechanical and Architectural).

JUNIOR TESTING LABORATORY OPERATORS:

The Department advertises vacancies in these classifications towards the end of each year. In the meantime boys and parents who are interested in these careers are invited to call on the Staff Officer (telephone 2-0933) to discuss the opportunities that exist, salary ranges, and the prospects of advancement in the service of the Department.

THE RECORD

demanding ambition. There is certainly no harm in setting yourself a high goal for your vocational future, but it's up to YOU to see that you make the utmost of your educational opportunities, in order that this goal be sensible and attainable.

Careers can be very broadly classified as:

- (i) Work in offices
- (ii) Work with people
- (iii) Active outdoor work
- (iv) Practical and technical work
- (v) Scientific work
- (vi) Artistic work.

Which of these (remembering that some overlap) seems to fit in with your personality and interests?

Realise this important aspect, too — we may be good at a thing without being keen on it, and conversely we can be enthusiastic about something without being capable at it. Many boys are unwilling to recognise this when it comes to choosing their careers — they insist that just because they want to do something they will automatically be good at it. Of course you should be keen and capable, but there are many people who are failures because they took up jobs in which they had great interest, but little ability.

All of you, before you leave school, will do (probably in early Fourth Form) a Vocational Guidance Bureau test at school, from which we can deduce detailed information that can be of considerable assistance to you in determining your choice of career. Treat this test with complete seriousness, as your future could partly depend on it.

There are organisations, as well as the Careers Office, which exist to help you.

The facilities of the Vocational Guidance Bureau are open to you throughout your school life. Interviews and reports may be arranged through the Careers Office at school.

When in your final year at school, you can obtain down-to-earth information about actual jobs through the Commonwealth Employment Service, 207 Albion St., Darlington, or any other branch.

All these services, and others, are completely free and obligation free.

All these points can be reduced to very simple terms — people who are successful at school stand the greatest chance of success in their business life. Outwardly trivial aspects such as homework, study, conduct, etc., are of immeasurable value when you realise that strict, sincere and regular attention to these matters for 4-6 short years leads to success in your vocational career which could easily last up to 50 years — surely this is worth the effort!

MESSAGE FROM MAITLAND

Per medium of "The Record", I am delighted to send greetings and all best wishes for a successful 1967 to Principal, pupils and staff of S.B.H.S. from all at M.B.H.S.

At the suggestion of Mr. Callaghan, I hope that before this year ends, we will be able to welcome and entertain your cricket team and that this will be the forerunner for many such annual visits.

As octogenarians it is our privilege to delve into past history recalling the fact that in our early days our schools (to quote the Wyndham Report) were for the "educational elite". One had to be a scholar or a Bursar to gain enrolment. Perhaps for this reason or the fact that entrants were more mature, boys gained their matriculation in four years study at High School level. Later, at times when M.R.C. and R.J.C. entered high school (both to same school but at different times) they had to qualify at a stiff test called the Q.C. and the Matric required 5 years study. Many years passed and in 1962 with the introduction of the Wyndham Scheme and entry for all to high schools at age of 12+ we find our present 5th Form still have one more year study making a total of six years study for matriculation.

You senior boys in our schools who are the pioneers of this scheme are probably more mature at this stage and more capable of assessing the standards and the development of our new educational scheme. Have you developed to a greater extent, gained more maturity, become more critical and analytical? Are you able to assess the scheme and give constructive criticism for its improvements? At the completion of your sixth year we will look for constructive criticism from those actually engaged in the new era of education. Not just criticism but suggestions for our improvement.

I have confidence in our youth of today and especially in those who belong to our older schools — schools with years of tradition and character building behind them.

Although we are distant in miles we are close in spirit, aims and achievement and I support your Headmaster's hope that the boys of these schools may come to associate and know one another much better in the future.

R. J. COCHRANE,

Principal, Maitland Boys, High School.

MAITLAND BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL

Once again, at the close of another school year, we, the pupils of Maitland Boys' High greet the pupils of our brother school, Sydney High. We were very pleased to read of the advances made at your school as chronicled by J. Newman and R. Wiseman, and, while we have no magnificent extensions to report, such as you have had this year, we feel that achievements in other fields may be of interest to you.

Perhaps the least happy occurrence of 1966 was the demolition of "Sauchie House" in Church Street, West Maitland. This building was the private school opened by Dr. Frazer in 1862 and became the first "home" of Maitland High when it was taken over by the Department in 1883. The building was used until 1892 when the school moved to its permanent position in East Maitland and became the "school on the hill". Your first Headmaster, John Waterhouse, was also our first Headmaster in 1884 and administered the school in the old building.

A happier achievement, and one which we are proud to share with our brother school occurred earlier this year. William Coleborne, a former pupil of both Sydney High and Fort Street, gained the first Doctorate of Philosophy conferred by the University of Newcastle, for a thesis on "The Linguistic Approach to the Problem of Structure and Composition of 'The Shepherd of Hermis'." By a minute analysis, covering some 400 pages, Dr. Coleborne has shown that "The Shepherd" was the work of six different hands and that it was written over a period of fifty years and was finished by 100 A.D. Dr Coleborne has been on our staff since 1941 and has been language master since 1954.

"Hinder House", the hostel next to the main building, celebrates its 75th Anniversary this year. It was first conducted by R. J. ("Boss") Hinder, one of the school's most popular headmasters, and had fifteen boarders. Today it has accommodation for twenty-eight boys and has recently been renovated.

This year, also, the Maitland Branch of the "Old Boys' Union" was revived. It had been started by Russell Hodge, another famous Headmaster, in 1946, but had become defunct very soon after. The attendance at the Annual Dinner a fortnight ago seems to indicate that the same fate will not befall this revival.

The school has acquired, over the past two years, with the assistance of the local Council and the Department of Education, a rather impressive playing field close to the buildings. Since there is a mass exodus every Wednesday afternoon for sports fields located at all points of the compass and up to seven miles in distance, the new field has proved a boon, especially for after-school practices for footballers and athletes.

The school Cadet Unit remains a strength in the school. It is the largest Unit outside Sydney and celebrates its centenary in 1972. The Cadet Unit Band again won the 2 Cadet Brigade Band Competition in May, achieving its hat-trick. Captain J. W. Palmer remains the O.C. of the Unit and Captain B. J. Ayers continues to train the band.

One of our staff members, Mr. Ian Barton, has been chosen for the second year in succession as a member of the N.S.W. Colts cricket team.

Our sporting achievements are of usual interest, and Mr. Dave Moreland, our Sportsmaster, lists the following information:

Rugby League

Seven teams were entered in the competition: 1st, 15A, 15B, 14A, 14B, 13A and 13B. Results were as follows:

First Grade, 15A, 15B, 14A, 13B undefeated premiers; 14B runners-up; 13A, third.

Cricket

Four teams were entered and at the time of writing, the following is the position:

1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th grades are leading the competition with two games to play. David Rawling (son of Doug Rawling) captained the N.S.W. 14-years-old team in Perth and was also chosen captain of the Australian team in the same age group.

Tennis

Four teams entered the winter competition:

1st, 2nd and 4th grades were undefeated premiers and 3rd grade were runners-up.

Athletics

Our best year ever. Won the Area Championships by 509 points to 374. Produced one State champion.

The school competes in what is known as the Coalfields Competition and this includes Maitland Marist Brothers, Cessnock, Kurri Kurri, Singleton, Scone and Muswellbrook. As you can see, much travelling is involved.

Finally, may we convey our best wishes and regards to the pupils of our brother school, to its Headmaster and Staff and wish them a year of continued achievement in 1967.

FOOTBALL

The 1966 Rugby season just concluded could not be counted amongst the most successful that Sydney High School has experienced. However, one of the most notable features was the improved showings by several of our top junior teams.

It would hardly appear to be coincidental that the teams which were most encouraging were those that had received the most encouragement — by way of coaching either from a member of the staff of an interested parent. Old Boy coaches are particularly sought after for the coming season.

The performances of the 12As (Mr. Paling), 13As (Mr. Free), 14As (Mr. Swinson), 15Bs (Dr. Bentivoglio) and 15As (Mr. Parker), augur well for the coming seasons.

Although no High team captured a G.P.S. premiership, Mr. Parker's 15As were premiers and champions in the C.H.S. competition.

THE RECORD

The twenty-three teams which are fielded each week-end could easily be increased if more boys honoured their school obligations and took the field for High in preference to an outside club. The school will have increasing commitments with a 16 years grade in the 1967 season.

Five boys won selection in the combined G.P.S. squad — John Murray (1st XV), Chris Dawson and Alex Johnston (2nd XV) and Jeff Williams and Graham Abbott (reserves). Congratulations!

The 1st and 2nd XV's found the opposition particularly strong during the G.P.S. competition. Both teams had performed successfully in the trials against C.H.S. and Associated Schools, however, after a promising start the strength of the opposition and an unusually high number of injuries took their toll. The 1st XV finished a creditable equal fourth.

The bulk of next year's 1st XV will come from the 1966 2nd XV, bolstered by some up-and-coming material from the age teams; several 1st XV's from '66 will add valuable experience.

No report would be complete without a thank you to the following, who contribute worthily each season: the coaches, the mothers for the much-welcomed afternoon tea, the McKay Grounds Committee and our groundsman, Mr. Brown, for their efforts in the preparation of the playing fields — and lastly, the small band of enthusiastic supporters who do much towards lifting the play when encouragement is needed.

1967 should be a year of consolidation of standards reached and gradual escalation in the numbers participating in playing, officiating and coaching for Sydney High School.

S.H.S. v. S.C.E.G.S. 11-6-66

High defeated Shore 2 tries to nil in an exciting game at McKay. From the kickoff High's backs were on the attack and were rewarded by a try to Nosworthy after a particularly fine run was instigated by half-back Johnstone. High continued on the attack but the Shore defence held until Johnstone scored a brilliant try from the scrum base.

Upset occurred when Shore's kicker, Lee, notched 2 penalty goals in succession after mistakes made by High's bustling forwards. Half-time: 8-9.

High came back in the second half with a strong offensive but Shore's determined defence held. Shore broke through and looked set to score but were penalised. Furness' golden boots gave High a full-time victory: 11-9.

S.H.S. v. St. Ignatius College. 18-6-66

St. Ignatius took early command in a fine tactical game. From the kick-off Ignatius' almost scored but a clearing kick from Coyne saved the situation. From the lineout Abbott broke through, centre-kicked to Price who passed to Theodore who just failed to score. A succession of kicks saved Iggies and they received a penalty goal. Only a fine kick by Furness regained lost ground after the kick-off. Murray broke through and passed to Theodore who just failed to score again. From the ensuing lineout Murray passed to Theodore, back inside to Abbott who raced to score brilliantly in the corner. Furness converted. Another fine kick from a penalty gave Furness 3 more points. Half-time: 8-3.

The second half saw some inspiring defence by the High backs. Ignatius received the lion's share of possession, but could not break through. From a fine line kick by Williams the ball came out along High's back line to Bird who lobbed over the defence's heads to put Williams in under the posts. Full-time: 11-3.

S.H.S. v. St. Joseph's College. 2-7-66

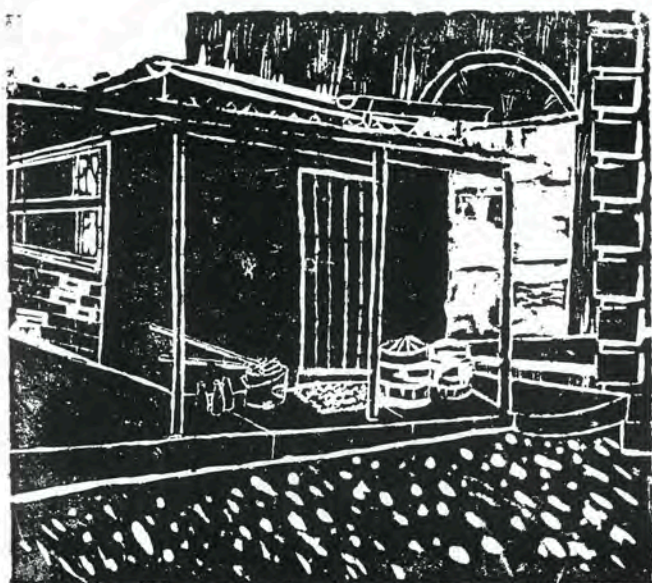

In the most exciting game of the season, Joeys kicked off and gained ground. But Dawson made two brilliant runs downfield from resulting line-outs. The ball came to Hamilton on the wing and after a 35-yard dash he was pulled down on the Joey's 25 and

HIGH'S WALLABIES

With the belated medical clearance of Philip Smith, the contribution by Sydney High to the 1966 Wallaby Rugby Union tourists now totals five — the others being John Thornett (captain), Peter Johnson, Peter Crittle and John Brass.

During this last decade particularly, High players have been well to the fore in Australia's rise in world Rugby status. To represent one's country is certainly among the greatest honours available to any individual sportsman, and not unnaturally, all those who have been associated with such a player share in his achievement.

We of Sydney High are indeed proud of our five representatives, and feel sure they will bring even further prestige to their country, their schools, their clubs and to themselves.

subsequently was taken off — Meech replaced. Play fluctuated but the High forwards took command, headed down field fed the backs who were stopped a yard from the line after good runs by Meech and Bird. From the scrum Murray dived over for a try: conversion failed.

Joeys attacked again and were rewarded with a penalty in front. Play continued with High pressing Joey's line continually. Half-time: 3-3.

After half-time the Joey's inside backs employed the high kick to send their dangerous wingers through. Ground was lost and Joey's half Roven scored a try from the scrum base. Murray and Dawson combined well from the kick off to gain ground for High but a hard defence and kicking helped Joeys to push High back. Muray and Abbott were tremendous in defence. But the tired defence could not stop Joey's last try on the final bell. Full time: 3-9.

Grammar kicked off and pressed the High line but Williams relieved with a clearing penalty. Grammar found a loophole in the defence and were almost over only to be stopped by a desperate stand. Dawson and Price burst down field from the lineout but with no support Grammar swarmed back only to be saved by Furness' clearing kick. The defence held strongly and each Grammar attack was foiled until Grammar were rewarded with a field-goal just before half time: 0-3.

From the kick-off High attacked but handling mistakes allowed Grammar to score from a loose ruck near the High line. Conversion was successful. Stung by this, the High backs retaliated and Bird made a fine run to dive over for a try in the corner: 3-8. Grammar's backs continually attacked and were rewarded when they scored classically after all of them had touched the ball, sending the

From the kick-off King's penetrated deep into High territory and looked dangerous until the High backs made a brilliant run and regained lost ground. King's infringed and Furness kicked a magnificent goal. Again King's pressed the High line but a good kick and following up gave High an advantage and once again King's were penalised and made it easier for Furness to convert. Play fluctuated and half-time score was 6-0. Meanwhile Whitehouse and his replacement Coyne had been taken off injured . . . Coyne minutes after going on.

The second half saw a determined rally by King's but the High defence held. Mid way through High were penalised in front and King's converted. Inspired by this King's made repeated attacks but could not penetrate the cool High defence. Finally the High backs rallied and pressed the King's line and were rewarded with another fine penalty goal to Furness. With the resumption of play Dawson was taken from the field injured. High continued to defend well and ran out the winners: 9-3.

S.H.S. v. The Armidale School. 23-7-66

From the kick-off High asserted its authority with tight rucking and hard lineout play. Only minutes from the start Murray routed the Armidale defence to score near the posts. Furness converted. Armidale looked dangerous from the kick-off but the High backs gained possession and Miller made a brilliant 70 yard run to score under the posts after beating off eight opponents. Furness converted. Five minutes before the break Furness nonchalantly kicked a penalty goal from just inside half-way: Half-time, 13-0.

The second half brought some exciting but scrappy football. With a following wind Armidale kicked two fine penalty goals. Right at full-time Murray brilliantly dummied and weaved over in the corner. The conversion attempt failed. Full-time: 16-6.

S.H.S., 16; The Armidale School, 6

S.H.S. v. The Scots College. 30-7-66

This was an important match which would determine High's place in the competition table. From the kick-off High tried to hold the game in the forwards but Scots made continued assaults on the High line. High's back row forwards defended strongly. Several chances to score were muffed by bad handling on both sides. Play was hard in the forwards and Boon had to be replaced at half-time by Sinclair. Half-time: 0-0.

THE RECORD

The second half saw an opening up of the game as High used its backs to a greater advantage and Nosworthy scored a fine try. Scots hit back and scored 2 penalty goals after mistakes by High forwards. High rallied, charged down field and a forward burst sent Abbott over for another fine try. Again High's backs broke through and a hotly disputed try was disallowed. Scots converted a penalty goal right on full time: 6-9.

S.H.S. v. Newington College. 6-8-66

In the last game of the 1966 season, played at Stanmore, Newington defeated High 20-16, in an exciting game. The Newington backs were dangerous whenever they got the ball, scoring a total of four tries. Their forwards crashed over for two more tries, with Steve Finau landing one conversion. High retaliated with tries by Chris Dawson and Ross Miller, Miller also landing two penalty goals and two conversions. Best players on the day were Dawson, Murray, Williams, Abbott and Miller.

SECOND XV

Team: G. Whitehouse (capt.), D. Sinclair (Vice-capt.), J. Adrian, C. Allsop, J. Brand, P. Bull, L. Colnan, P. Davies, W. Donaldson, R. Foley, S. Hamilton, I. Meech, M. Smith, S. Taylor, P. Wills, C. Wood.

Coach: Mr. N. Ryan.

Although not meeting with outstanding success during the 1966 G.P.S. competition, the 2nd XV have displayed potential which would indicate that the High 1st XV of 1967 will be a force to be reckoned with. Owing to a large number of serious injuries, constant changes in the backline and a fluctuating response to pressure the team did not live up to its early promise.

In the C.H.S. and other trial matches prior to the commencement of the G.P.S. competition, seconds had notched up 179 points to 18 against. A successful season seemed likely.

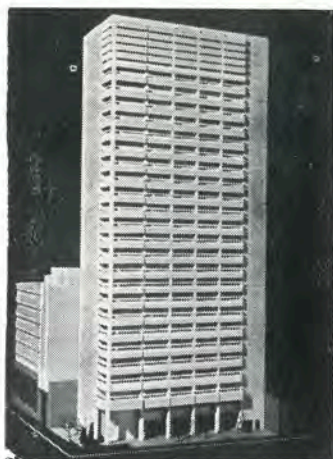

The opening game, played in muddy conditions, against the previously undefeated Shore team was a hard-fought forward battle in which the High pack excelled themselves. Tough, solid work by the front row combination of Larry Colnan, Dennis Sinclair and Wayne Donaldson, together with Sid Taylor and Col Allsop dominating the lineouts 23-7, set the trend of play and High emerged victors and were described as "potential premiers".

It was difficult to recognise the same team the following week at Riverview. In a fast moving game the teams played a 3-3 draw. The game saving tackle of Steve Hamilton will long be remembered by High supporters.

In another muddy game High were overwhelmed by the steam-rolling St. Joseph's team to the tune of 11-0. Here the team particularly missed the services of Hamilton who was in the Firsts, and Mick Smith who was unavailable.

At McKay the following week, the Seconds were defeated by Grammar, 6-0. Because of injuries the backline was greatly disjointed and the team could not penetrate the solid Grammar defence.

Again at McKay, High were unlucky to go down to King's 11-6, after scoring two tries to one against the very strong defence. This game illustrated High's need for a competent goalkicker to take over from injured captain Garry Whitehouse.

Once again the McKay hoodoo was present when High went down to Armidale 3-0 in a very scrappy game. Except for break-away, Ian Meech, the High team seemed to be off colour.

Traditional rivalry against Scots at Bellevue Hill brought robust forward play, particularly by the much improved Sid Taylor who was playing against his old school. High were again unlucky not to win, scoring two tries to nil, but the match ended in a 6-6 draw. Col Allsop and Phil Davies were outstanding for High.

The last game of the season at Stanmore saw a team, depleted by injuries and playing one man short for almost the entire second half, fight on bravely to hold the premiers, Newington, to a narrow 14-6 victory. High can thank the magnificent defence of the school's hardest tackler, Col Wood, for halting many of the premiers' raids.

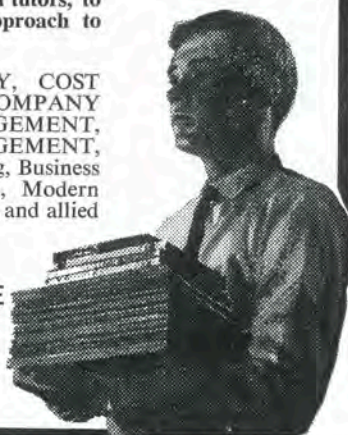

Although more was expected from the team, the Seconds were never disgraced, while the experience gained will be invaluable in 1967. The season was most enjoyable and those in the team wish to extend their sincere thanks to Mr. Ryan for his devotion, advice and above all his enthusiasm throughout the season.

Coach: Mr. G. Cooney.

The season started off brightly for Third Grade with good wins over Cranbrook and St. Pius' Colleges. But with the start of G.P.S. competition the team was unlucky in losing each of its first three games by only three points. The next, against Grammar, was lost 6-5 but it was a tense and satisfying game for both sides. Following Grammar a 6-6 draw was played against King's School and a 6-3 win was recorded against Scots. The team finished off the competition as it had started by losing a rugged match against Newington by three points (9-6).

In the C.H.S. competition Third Grade played for Newtown 1st Grade, winning a fast, open game against Enmore 1st XV, 17-10. Third Grade then deputised for Sydney High's 1st XV when they withdrew from the C.H.S. competition.

The Thirds played bright open football at times, but it was not consistent enough, owing largely to the many injuries and changes caused by players moving to and from higher grades.

The team would like to thank Mr. Cooney for the coaching and encouragement he has given throughout the season.

THE RECORD

Owing to the loss of players to higher grades and withdrawal of boys because of injury, the 4th XV did not live up to early expectations. In the C.H.S. competition the Fourths played as Newtown Second Grade and then followed this by playing as S.H.S. Seconds in the second half of the competition. The games proved to be hard fought and rugged and several were won and drawn.

The G.P.S. fixtures were even more rugged and the only bright spot in the season was our 11-11 draw with Scots. Although not a single game was won in the G.P.S. round many of the matches were close and some fine football was produced. It is hoped that many of the boys will progress into higher grades in the coming season.

Our sincere thanks goes to our coach, Mr. Cooney, for his time and energy spent during the year and for making the season a most enjoyable one.

FIFTH XV

Team: W. Beard (capt.), G. Glover (v.-capt.), R. Ayton, K. Berg, P. Colwell, R. Dodgson, L. Dunn, G. Klye, A. Lawrence, C. Little, N. Martin, G. Mortlock, C. Warren, R. Wood, T. Uren.

Coach: Mr. S. Gerovich.

This year's Fifth Grade had a reasonably successful season. Playing as a 2nd XV team in the C.H.S. competition, the team put up a good performance. In the G.P.S. competition Fifth Grade won a majority of games.

More success would have been assured if the team had not been handicapped in size and weight to all of our opponents and if the team could have been finalised early in the season.

The team learned from the other 5th XV teams and some of the team gained experience by playing regularly in 3rd and 4th grades. Thus Fifth XV can guarantee many players for positions in the higher grades next year.

Some of the more outstanding members were G. Glover and R. Ayton, whose ability was recognised at the end of the season and who played in 3rd grade and K. Berg who thrived on both tight and loose play. The top point scorer was G. Klye.

Looking back on the past season, Fifth XV can say that it was both successful and enjoyable. The team is greatly appreciative of the efforts of Sam Gerovich on its behalf.

SIXTH XV

penetration of the backs was surpassed only by the fire and all round ability of the forwards. Thanks to the safe hands of the out-centre many a fine try was scored by the backline, a feat which enabled the team to win more G.P.S. games than any other open grade. Highlights of the Gentlemen's approach and determination to maintain their high standard was the appearance of twenty men on the field at one time, and a field goal by McKean inside his own half. The team regrets to report, however, due to some slight misinterpretation of the rules, heavy penalties were inflicted by the referee and only through the outstanding performances of the kickers, McKean and Bowman, the team managed five conversions from some forty tries.

SEVENTH XV

Team: I. Gilbert (capt.), D. Mitchell (vice-capt.), A. Austin, D. Campbell, R. Davenport, J. Firbank, I. Hamblin, L. Hill, J. Jones, D. Luxford, S. Marks, J. Mitchell, B. Murray, G. Odze, S. Reid.

During the season the 7th XV had varying success in G.P.S. with overwhelming wins against Newington, St. Ignatius, Grammar, St. Pius and Cranbrook. Although only a light combination, the team gallantly fought out the C.H.S. competition. We gained valuable experience from these encounters.

The best and fairest competition was won by S. Reid, prominent second-rower and the kicking of Arthur Austin was a valuable asset.

The keen support by Mr. Luxford and other parents was an inspiration to the players on and off the field. However, the team's success was cut short by radical changes during the season.

EIGHTH XV

Team: I. Hind (capt.), D. Finlan (vice-capt.), J. Bullock, R. Fairbairn, I. Falson, N. Forrester, H. Henwood, G. Hunter, R. Little, D. Low, D. McKenzie, J. Puckeridge, A. Ramsay, J. Taylor, B. Tope, G. Wintle.

This year's 8th XV, a group of fifth formers, consisted of a few more experienced players who wanted to concentrate on studies, rather than train, and a few who were playing grade football for the first time. The team played in the 3rd Grade C.H.S. competition and after a few training talks by Mr. G. Cooney, started to develop a smart combination. In the G.P.S. competition, the team had many good wins and were only defeated by the stronger St. Joseph's team. Our game against Scots' 6th Grade will long be remembered by the players as it displayed our team spirit which enabled us to defeat a bigger and more experienced team. The season proved most enjoyable and the players are looking forward to next year's season when we will be playing as the Gentlemen's XV.

Coach: Mr. J. Parker.

Ably coached by Mr. Parker, the 15A XV had varied success during the season. The team was undefeated in C.H.S. competition and enjoyed many close games in G.P.S. competition, having three successes. The team combined medium sized forwards and small speedy backs, who played hard, rugged and at times hectic football. The highlight of the season was the trip to Armidale, which was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. Our thanks go to T.A.S. for our visit, to our own school for making the trip possible and in particular to our coach for the time and effort he spent for us.

Coach: Dr. E. Bentivoglio.

The 1966 15Bs had a very happy and successful season, which culminated in G.P.S. co-premiership with St. Ignatius.

Our success was due to the unflagging determination, patience and motivation of Dr. Bentivoglio who was greatly appreciated by all team members.

Whilst all players had the will to win and gave their very best at all times, special mention goes to Ray Hick (centre), for his brilliant play and Kevin James (forward) for his tireless efforts throughout the season.

Coaches: Messrs. J. W. and B. K. Duckworth.

Although this year's 15C team was not outstanding, we had an enjoyable season, winning 4 G.P.S. matches. These wins were due to combination and occasional speedy back work.

Those players deserving special mention are J. Arrowsmith (inside centre), full-back C. Bennett and hooker R. McCormick.

Thanks and appreciation go to our coaches John and Brian Duckworth for their enthusiasm and unfailing support.

The most important aspect of the season was the great improvement achieved; if this can be maintained, the team should have great prospects next season.

Although only two of the G.P.S. games were won and one drawn, all except one were extremely close and hard fought. The C.H.S. games, however, left much to be desired.

It is difficult to single out individuals as the whole team played well, but mention can be made of the great hooking of Steve Layman and the brilliant runs of Robert Beetson.

During the season the team had a most enjoyable visit to the Armidale School where another evenly contested match was played, resulting in a 3-3 draw.

The team would like to extend thanks and appreciation to the two coaches, Mr. K. Swinson and Phil du Rhone for their time and enthusiasm throughout the season.

From the beginning of the season the team was hit with very bad injuries and because of this we were very rarely at full strength. But when we were all together as a team against King's and Scots we managed to struggle ahead and stay there.

We wish to thank Bruce O'Meagher and Geoff Puckeridge for giving up their time to come and coach us.

Coach: Mr. R. Free.

The 13As were a comparatively small team, in the G.P.S., which may account for the successive number of defeats early in the season. However, as the experience of the team developed, weight was no problem, and the fast backline was on the attack, instead of perpetually being on defence as before. Changes mid-way through the season also upset the understanding between the players on the field.

The C.H.S. competition was more pleasing, the 13As ending up runners-up to Randwick. In this case the 13As were a bigger team than most of the C.H.S. sides. In all I think that the team did not really start functioning until too late in the season, just when they were beginning to settle down.

Our thanks are extended to Mr. Free for his patient coaching during the season.

The 13Bs did not have a very successful G.P.S. season. With the As calling for players throughout the season, the Bs were never sure of the team until the As posted theirs. Our thanks go to our devoted coaches who gave up their afternoons to help most of us just learn the fundamentals.

Although the team was equal to most of the G.P.S. sides in size and strength, it was unsuccessful, owing to frequent alterations in positions and the lack of teamwork.

However, towards the end of the season, with backs and forwards combining, a great improvement was noted, thanks to the great efforts of the coaches.

Team: J. Brand (capt.), A. Betts (vice-capt.), W. Donaldson, G. Glover, W. Halliday, R. Hick, J. Isaacs, G. Ireland, R. Miller, D. Taylor, A. Tzannes.

Coaches: Messrs. G. Hannan and F. Murphy.

Scorer: M. Godfrey.

G.P.S.

The first match, against Riverview at Riverview, was washed out because of heavy overnight rain.

The following match against Newington at Mackay resulted in a thrilling one-run victory for High. Batting first on a hard wicket High reached the mediocre score of 114, against sound bowling. J. Brand (26), R. Miller (24) and G. Glover (22) batted well. The opening attack, comprising A. Betts and A. Tzannes, soon had Newington struggling but determined batting by the Newington middle-order batsmen retrieved the position and the match seemed to have slipped from High's grasp. Then R. Miller captured two quick wickets and in the next over A. Betts dismissed the last two Newington batsmen, leaving the Newington total at 113.

High were well beaten by Scots at home in the next match. Starting well High raced to 2-74, but fine bowling by the Scots fast bowler, caused a middle-order collapse. Only a determined stand by J. Brand (36) and J. Isaacs (32), enabled High to reach a respectable total of 142. Scots, although losing their openers cheaply, soon mastered the High attack, and scored 268. A. Betts (3-62) and W. Halliday (2-9).

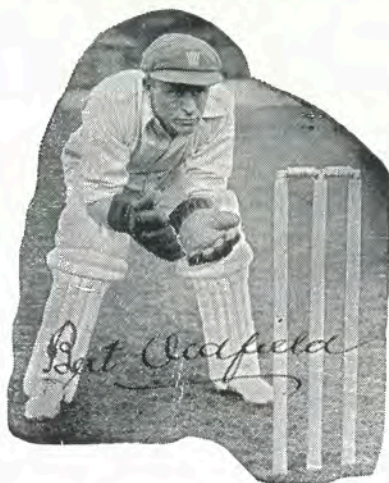

In a match seriously affected by rain, High was again defeated on the first innings, this time at the hands of Grammar at Weigall. Batting first on a wet wicket High collapsed for a meagre 75. J. Brand (39) and J. Isaacs being the only batsmen to bat with any certainty. The High bowlers forced a collapse in the Grammar innings, but on a now firm wicket they managed to scrape home, with 88. A. Betts (3-28), R. Miller (2-8), D. Taylor (2-18), and A. Tzannes (2-24), the successful bowlers.

After a late start, in another match affected by rain, High batted first on a flooded pitch and helpless to the St. Joseph's College bowlers, collapsed for 53. R. Hick batted well for 26. St. Joseph's replied with 5-98. A. Betts (4-37) once again bowled intelligently.

For the third successive week, rain interrupted play. This match, against King's at Mackay, ended in a draw. High batted first and reached a creditable 8-199 (dec.). J. Brand hit a slashing 78, and was well supported by G. Glover (32 n.o.), R. Miller (24), A. Betts (23), and R. Hick (21). Rain forced play to be abandoned after King's had lost 1-41.

THE RECORD

The last match of the season, against Shore at Northbridge, saw High suffer another first innings loss. J. Isaacs (27), was the only batsman to fare well. A determined last wicket partnership between D. Taylor (18 n.o.) and W. Halliday, helped High to 110. Shore, however, batted confidently and reached 177. The most successful bowlers were A. Betts (5-49), A. Tzannes (3-18) and R. Hick (2-38).

In their second innings High at stumps was 6-80. R. Miller batted well for 47 n.o. and was supported by G. Glover and A. Betts.

Congratulations to J. Brand on his selection in the G.P.S. 1st XI and to A. Betts on his inclusion in the G.P.S. 2nd XI.

C.H.S.

The season started against Enmore at Marrickville, the match ending in a draw as the second day was abandoned due to rain. High batting on the first day reached 124. R. Hick (29) and J. Isaacs (28), batted well. The feature of the day was a glorious six by A. Tzannes. Enmore was 2-33 in reply at stumps.

A slashing 91 by J. Brand set the trend in the next match against South Sydney at Mackay. The support of R. Miller (52 n.o.), A. Betts (24) and R. Hick (22), allowed High to declare at stumps with 5-217. The following week South Sydney collapsed under the onslaught of A. Tzannes (3-9), G. Ireland (3-15) and A. Betts (3-18), for 78.

Rain on the second day forced another draw in the match against Vaocluse. High, batting first on the long-grassed Woollahra Oval, reached a creditable 130. W. Donaldson (29), R. Miller (26) and G. Ireland (21), scored well; Vaocluse did not bat.

A great team effort in the next match against Randwick, gave High an outright win and the lead in the competition.

Batting first, Randwick was dismissed for 51, by the sound bowling of A. Betts (3-19), D. Taylor (2-2), R. Miller (2-10), and A. Tzannes (2-19). In the remaining 25 minutes of the first day's play High scored 1-49. The following week High again scored quickly and declared at 9-128. J. Brand (33).

High sent Randwick back to bat and with spirited bowling had them in the pavilion for 65. The climax of the match came when A. Betts dismissed the last of the opposition with the last ball of the day. The bowling was handled by A. Betts (4-8), R. Hick (3-7), and R. Miller (2-10).

The team would like to convey their thanks to the two coaches, Mr. Hannan and Mr. Murphy for their efforts on the team's behalf; to M. Godfrey, the scorer; and especially to the ladies who prepared the fine lunches for those associated with the games at Mackay.

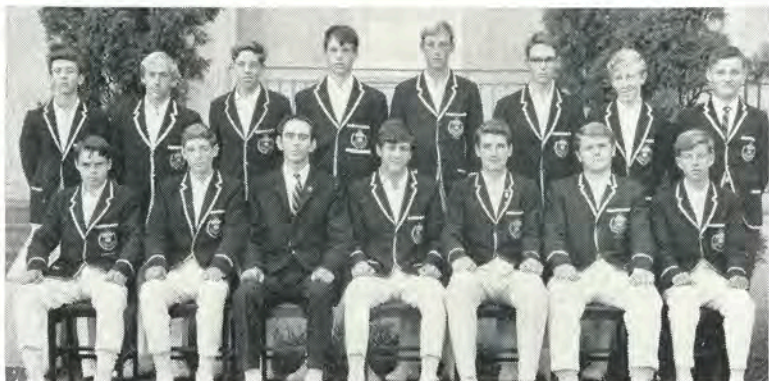

THE RECORD

SECOND XI

Team: W. Selby (capt.), B. Murray (vice-capt.), M. Price (Assoc. capt.), R. Bartlett-Taylor, D. Campbell, S. Hamilton, C. Kiriazis, G. Klye, C. McMurray, D. Mitchell, J. Mitchell, C. Spencer, I. Taberett.

Coaches: Mr. W. C. Lucan-Roberts and Alan Betts.

This year's Second XI was an unusually young team when compared with its recent predecessors; the team thus took a long while to cohere, with the result that they met only with limited success.

SECOND XI

Back Row: C. Kiriazis, S. Hamilton, D. Mitchell, C. McMurray, C. Spencer, I. Tabrett, D. Campbell, J. Brown
Front Row: R. Bartlett-Taylor, B. Murray, Mr. W. C. Lucan-Roberts, W. Selby, A. Betts, M. Price, J. Mitchell

The season, however, started on a good note with the trip to play R.A.N.C. XI. Burdened by the loss of an opening bowler and middle-order batsman, the captain, only a medium-paced change bowler, was forced to open the bowling attack, and on an indifferent pitch High won soundly.

Next came the C.H.S. competition. High performed extremely well, gaining an outright win over South Sydney XI, a first innings win over Randwick and draws with the Vacluse and Enmore XI's. The captain, W. Selby, topped both the batting and bowling, with averages of 5.0 runs per wicket in the bowling and 59 runs per innings in the batting.

Unfortunately in the G.P.S., High was faced with many problems and subsequently did not fare as well as in the C.H.S. The loss of the opening bowler was compensated by the return of M. Price, who also proved himself to be a capable batsman and was later appointed associate captain. The season started badly when, as the rain came down, High was defeated by one run at the hands of St. Ignatius XI. The rest of the season was similar, with bad weather and narrow defeats. At many times, High was in a winning position, but was unable to capitalise.

THE RECORD

High was often defending, and this meant that the captain could not use spin bowlers B. Murray or D. Mitchell, and so the bulk of the bowling rested with pace bowlers. Often the bowlers had to score runs where the batsmen failed; the best batting average was 17.7 runs per innings by S. Hamilton, who also headed the bowling average, 9.6 runs per wicket. D. Campbell also scored well, saving one match with a fine 60 not out.

Thanks must go to Mr. W. C. Lucan-Roberts, who, although faced with a multitude of problems during a mixed season, did his best to improve the team and also further cricket generally in the school. Also Alan Betts deserves thanks, as he, too, helped the team, even though he is a member of the First XI.

THIRD XI

Team: P. Tremont (capt.), W. Griffiths (vice-capt.), C. Brown, I. Dickings, G. Dodd, I. Gilbert, G. Klye, R. Lewis, A. McIvor, G. Minucos, R. Osmond, A. Ramsay, B. Tope, R. Tregidgo.

As the season was interrupted by rain the team could not reach peak form. Despite this, all the matches were close and the season proved to be an enjoyable one. Because the team did not have a coach the season was not particularly successful, but some good scores were recorded. G. Klye, with a good knock of 45 n.o. against King's, helped us to our first win. Other good scores came from R. Tregidgo with a solid 40 against Scots and I. Gilbert with 36 against Newington. The bowling was also good but was let down by poor fielding in most matches.

Our thanks go to Mr. Hannan for allowing us the use of the practice nets and for a few handy hints which he gave us. It is hoped that some of the boys who did well will progress into higher grades in following seasons.

FOURTH XI

Team: M. Middleton (capt.), M. Pokorny (vice-capt.), A. Austin, G. Barnard, R. Cook, N. Confos, S. Denny, W. Evans, S. Marks, P. Martich, G. Nairn, S. Reid.

This year's Fourth XI was formed by Fourth Form boys wishing to play cricket without the seriousness of the higher grades.

Although the season was marred several times by rain, it was a highly enjoyable one.

The first match resulted in a win for Newington. It was followed by a good win over Scots in a low-scoring game. The season ended with a loss to King's and an exciting draw with Shore.

15A XI

Team: V. Kline (capt.), R. Sleeman (vice-capt.), P. Dymock, D. Hinds, G. Hunter, D. Lyon, G. Martin, W. Nosworthy, R. Piggott, B. Russell, R. Smith, M. Upsall.

Coach: Mr. J. Higham.

The season overall for the 15A's was an entirely luckless one. The enthusiastic team was often deprived of victory when a certain win was turned into a draw by rain. In fact five out of the eleven matches scheduled to be played were cancelled due to the weather. As it turned out, we failed to achieve a victory. The bowling honours

Team: S. Bradford (capt.), J. Armstrong (vice-capt.), R. Alexandrou, K. Breakspear, G. Burns, H. Cohen, R. Cox, R. Dooley, P. Johnson, G. Mortlock, N. Nicholls, C. Polis.

Coach: Mr. J. Higham.

Only four games, of the G.P.S. season, could be played because of the wet weather. Of these two resulted in wins, while two were lost. Time saved High from an outright loss in the opening match, against Newington. The following week, however, High, finishing with 62 runs, defeated Scots who could only manage 56. After suffering defeat at the hands of King's, High was able to defeat Shore in the last match, through the splendid bowling effort of H. Cohen (8-8).

The most successful bowlers were H. Cohen, P. Johnson and J. Armstrong, supported by R. Cox and S. Bradford. The batting, while not strong, was adequate. G. Burns and K. Breakspear performed well in this department. G. Burns also performed creditably as wicketkeeper.

The team would like to thank Mr. Higham for his coaching, and transportation of gear to the games.

14A XI

Team: B. Chard (capt.), W. Lewis (vice-capt.), R. Allsop, R. Betts, J. Clarke, G. Dunn, D. Fraser, T. Grose, R. Juchau, J. Robinson, C. Tope, C. Tremont.

Coach: Mr. F. Gallie.

The 14A's have had so far a very successful season as their record shows, only one loss.

The team has progressed considerably since last year. There has always been quite a lot of individual skill in this team but it has now learned to play as a well-balanced and knowledgeable team, which, whilst it will, no doubt, have its setbacks, should always be able to win and lose gracefully, making a good, enjoyable game of it to the very end.

Bruce Chard, the captain, has again had an excellent season, scoring well (including his second century for the school) and bowling determinedly. Bill Lewis (6-20), Robert Juchau (5-12), Ray Allsop (6-4) and Tony Grose (5-8), have had good bowling and batting performances. Colin Tremont's excellent fielding, Geoffrey Dunn's good wicketkeeping and Ron Bett's improved batting technique were also features.

14B XI

Team: P. Berghouse (capt.), J. Chrichton (vice-capt.), P. Bear, B. Bradford, P. Castle, R. Christie, B. Dymock, C. King, M. Lakeman, S. Lang, S. Lumsden, I. Luxford, K. Moon, A. Pointing, R. Teepel.

Newington. After dismissing them for 20 runs, I. Luxford capturing 6-10, High was able to close at 4-67. The next two matches against King's and Scots both ended in draws. In the last match the team was soundly beaten by Shore.

P. Bear was the most successful batsman, including fine innings of 46 and 67, while I. Luxford was the best bowler, taking 6-10, 6-12, 8-15.

The team is very grateful to Mr. Griffiths for his time and for his patience in coaching the team.

Coach: Mr. B. Andrews.

The 13A XI had a good tally of results at the end of the season. The season was disappointing in that it was marred by rain, no fewer than five of the scheduled eleven C.H.S. and G.P.S. matches being washed out. Of the matches finished in the G.P.S. one was won, two were drawn and one was lost. Against Newington, the opposition declared with six wickets down. At the end of play High had six wickets in hand and a reasonable score. Against Scots, High had an easy win, thanks to a splendid knock by Errington (64 n.o.) and the bowling of Besomo and Dobeson. A wet day at King's produced a draw, though Keen brought us to within 13 runs of victory. The last match — against Shore — ended in a win to Shore.

Of the C.H.S. matches, High lost narrowly to South Sydney and had a good win over Cleveland Street.

The best batsmen were: Errington, Halliday and Besomo; Keen, towards the end, was batting brilliantly and wicketkeeping well and Francis was consistent and has potential.

Besomo was the most consistent bowler with figures of 4-23, 3-12 and other good performances and Dobeson, originally an emergency bowler, did a fine job taking 6-68 against Newington and several other good sets of figures. Clark had some good bowling figures and took a hat-trick against Cleveland St.

The team would like to thank Mr. Andrews for giving up his time to coach the team, which improved visibly under his guidance.

13B XI

Team: L. Osborne (capt.), R. Marshall (vice-capt.), R. Allen, A. Brown, G. Franklin, G. Goddard, P. Hansen, G. Kendall, D. Ling, W. Miller, P. Molina, G. Sawyer, R. Smith.

Coach: Mr. G. Sims.

The 13B's had a very successful season, being undefeated. Of the four games played in C.H.S., one was won outright, one on the first innings, one drawn and one won by forfeit. In the G.P.S. two were won on 1st innings, two drawn, and one abandoned due to rain.

The outstanding batsman was R. Marshall with scores of 59 and 102 n.o. G. Goddard performed well all round, scoring 46 n.o. and taking 4-13 and 3-3.

ROWING

By early November, 1965, rowing training at Abbotsford was operating smoothly. Useful pre-season work with weights had been undertaken at school by most of the boys and this was reflected in the high standard which was apparent from November onwards. The Senior Eight acquired useful race experience before the Christmas vacation.

The Penrith crews went into camp at Abbotsford at the beginning of February, 1966, and there can be little doubt that this was a most successful camp. The atmosphere and morale among the boys was excellent and this was reflected in both training and the early races of 1966. This was also evident at the Open Day on 19th February which was a great success.

This has been a season of changes and additions to the club. The responsibility for these changes lies with those parents and friends of the school who work constantly and so hard to maintain and improve the facilities at the rowing sheds. The Rowing Appeal launched at the end of 1965 has realised over $3,500.00. This money has made possible the purchase of a new racing eight, new racing oars for the Senior Eight and Senior Fours, a new launch hull and speedboat equipment and an extensive overhaul of all the older boats. I would like to thank all those people who have contributed in some way to the appeal. The club and sheds have been improved by the replacement of a large section of the staging area, repairs to the sea wall, inside painting and a complete replacement of the roof. S.H.S. Rowing Club may certainly be considered one of the best equipped rowing clubs in Sydney.

The season may with justice be considered as having been the most successful for some time. The First Four is to be congratulated upon winning the C.H.S. Championship and the Sir Earle Page Cup at Grafton. The Second Four did well to win the Second Fours Shield in the C.H.S. The Third and Fourth Fours are to be commended for their placings in the G.P.S. Regatta. The placing of the Senior Eight at the G.P.S. Regatta was not in my opinion a real indication of their capabilities, particularly in view of their performance in the few weeks previous to the big race.

Congratulations to Warwick Duffy who was awarded the prize for the "Best Club Member" for the second year running. Congratulations to Ian Falson and Ken Latona who shared the award for the "Most Improved Rower" of the season.

On behalf of the club I would like to thank all the rowers for their hard work and co-operation in making this a season of much improved performance. I would like to thank Dr. E. O. Longley, Col. D. J. Duffy, Mr. G. Cheers, Mr. B. Haymet and the junior coaches for their efforts during the season. We will be very pleased to welcome them back in the coming year.

THE RECORD

In "The Record" last year, I predicted a resurgence of rowing at S.H.S. This prediction has been justified and I feel that with continued interest and hard work, that S.H.S. can do even better in the coming season.

SENIOR VIII

A. Nicholas (Bow), E. Ackman (2), W. Duffy (3), J. Taylor (4), C. Allsop (5), K. Latona (6), I. Falson (7), I. Meech (Stroke), R. Madden (Cox).

Coach: Dr. E. O. Longley.

The season began quite early for the VIII and they commenced training in earnest under the expert guidance of their new coach Dr. E. O. Longley. A great amount of time and effort went into the pre-Christmas season and by the end of December the crew was functioning well, and spirits were high.

After a short break the crew commenced training in January. At the commencement of camp in February the VIII was improving rapidly and achieved a fair amount of success in a number of club regattas.

Following a fortnight break in March the crew began its final and most important stage of the season. Dr. Longley, from his past international experience, had timed the rest period so that the crew would reach its peak on the day of the race. The crew was producing very inspiring rowing in the final weeks of training but the VIII was not up to the standard required by Dr. Longley. Determined to win at all costs, Dr. Longley changed the crew only four weeks before Penrith. Three members of the very successful First VI, Ian Meech, Ken Latona and Ian Falson, were seated in the stern IV of the VIII, and Rod Palmisano, Bruce O'Meagher and Ross Whittle were switched from the VIII to the First IV.

This change, together with the use of the new boat, the "Colonel Des Duffy", resulted in a tremendous improvement in the performance of the crew, enabling the VIII to be the only G.P.S. crew to reach the final of the Riverview Gold Cup.

Thus with great confidence the crew moved to Penrith. On the smooth Nepean water the crew produced some of the best rowing Dr. Longley had seen in his career as an oarsman and coach, and according to many rowing critics High was the superior crew and emerged as favourites on the morning before the race.

However due to a misunderstanding of Dr. Longley's orders the crew produced a very poor row on the day, managing to finish only fifth.

The VIII would like to thank Dr. E. O. Longley for the time and effort he devoted to the crew and for making the season a very enjoyable one. Thanks also go to Colonel D. J. Duffy for his valuable assistance as camp co-ordinator and launch operator.

The crew would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Newington on a very well-rowed win.

FIRST IV

I. Coyle (Bow), R. Palmisano (2), B. O'Meagher (3), R. Whittle (Stroke). D. Blomberg (Cox).

Coach: Mr. G. Cheers.

The original First VI was finalised during the summer vacation. This crew, consisting of I. Coyle, K. Latona, I. Falson, I. Meech and D. Blomberg, soon showed signs of becoming a winning combination and under the excellent guidance of Mr. Cheers managed to convincingly win a number of club races.

However, since the Eight was not racing well enough K. Latona, I. Falson and I. Meech were moved to the Eight and R. Palmisano, B. O'Meagher and R. Whittle were seated into the First Four. These changes were made four weeks before Penrith.

The new Four, despite the capable and determined coaching of Mr. Cheers, was not as successful and finished fifth at Penrith.

The greatest of admiration for Mr. Cheers is held by the whole of the rowing camp. Mr. Cheers gave up the majority of his successful Four so that the Eight might perform better and accepted the boys dropped from the Eight with the fine spirit for which he is well known.

SECOND IV

P. Paling (Bow), T. Coleman (2), J. Puckeridge (3), R. Foley (Stroke), D. Paling (Cox).

Coach: Mr. G. Cheers.

The season began very early this year for the Second IV, the crew being selected in mid-December. Resuming training after the Christmas vacation the boys worked earnestly and soon moulded themselves into a good, spirited crew, performing magnificently during the season in club regattas and training races.

It can be truly said that the relationship between the Second IV and its coach Mr. Cheers was a very strong bond which made the rowing season possibly the best time anyone in the crew has ever had.

THIRD IV

P. Bull (Bow), D. Whyte (2), W. Finnerty (3), C. Jackson (Stroke), M. Livingston (Cox).

Coach: Mr. W. B. Haymet.

The crew was picked during the Christmas holidays, and on returning to school, settled into camp life and a vigorous training schedule. Toward the end of February a change was made in the crew. It was altered to the above, which is the same crew as raced at Penrith.

The crew moved to Penrith on the Wednesday and was in high spirits, as they found that the conditions on the Nepean suited them perfectly. On the big day, they finished a very creditable third, after a well-calculated race. The crew would like to give their thanks to their coach, Mr. W. B. Haymet, who gave so much of his time and effort to training them.

FOURTH IV

R. Harper (Bow), A. Boorer (2), A. Lawrence (3), C. Little (Stroke), J. Taylor (Cox).

Coach: Mr. W. B. Haymet.

This year's fairly light crew was composed of two new rowers, a cox from last year's junior crews and two "ex-coxswains".

The crew had an advantage in training with a good Third IV and though never outstanding in training always rose to the occasion and performed well in races. After a very close second to Newington in the Fourth IV's race at St. Ignatius' Regatta, two weeks before Penrith, the crew seemed set for victory as it was improving steadily. However on the day luck was not with them and they finished a very close third, with Grammar first and vastly-improved St. Ignatius' crew second.

The crew would sincerely like to thank Mr. W. B. Haymet who actually gave up most of his long service leave to coach for his old school. Any success enjoyed by the crew is due to his effort.

Racing record of the Fourth IV

Leichhardt Regatta: C.H.S. Second IV's—2nd.

North Shore Regatta: C.H.S. Second IV's—2nd.

Metropolitan Regatta: C.H.S. Second IV's—2nd.

JUNIOR VIII

S. Prodes (Bow), P. Bentivoglio (2), G. Cheers (3), P. Cullen (4), S. Murchie (5), D. Luxford (6), R. Little (7), C. Wood (Stroke). G. Barr (Cox).

Coach: Mr. R. Woodham.

Although not finalised until late and troubled by injury, the Junior VIII managed to swing into a vigorous training session comparatively early in the season, under the guidance of their coach Mr. Ross Woodham.

At the St. Ignatius Regatta, although unplaced and in spite of their lack of size they did not disappoint, finishing close behind the eventual winners King's. Their lack of success in club regattas would probably be compensated by the fact that these boys will form a strong basis on which to build the Penrith crews in the next few years.

St. Ignatius Regatta: 3rd (dead heat).

FIFTH IV

B. Welsh (Bow), M. Georgouras (2), P. Morrison (3), G. Davis (Stroke). P. Stern (Cox).

Coaches: Mr. P. Lardner-Smith, Mr. R. Grant.

The crew was formed early this year and was going quite well until it was disrupted by a change in crew one month before St.

SIXTH IV

J. Brabant (Bow), T. Booler (2), W. Foley (3), E. Morgan (Stroke), N. Madden (Cox).

Coaches: Mr. R. Grant, Mr. P. Lardner-Smith.

The Sixth Four proved to be the most successful crew at the sheds this season. They won two major club Regattas, as well as being the champion Sixth IV at the Riverview Gold Cup Regatta. The crew put in a lot of conscientious hard work under the guidance of their coaches, who trained them to reach peak form at their championship race at Riverview. The crew would like to thank their coaches, Pete Lardner-Smith and Roger Grant, both old-boy rowers, not only for making the season a success, but for making it an enjoyable one also.

SEVENTH IV

G. Copp (Bow), T. Sakalidis (2), R. Lawrence (3), P. Wall (Stroke), S. Theodore (Cox).

Coach: Mr. P. Lardner-Smith.

Every member of the crew had an enjoyable season. The crew trained hard but unfortunately had little luck at the regattas. However as a result of the hard training the crew was in condition for its final race, the Riverview Regatta, being placed first in the heat and third in the final.

The crew would like to thank its coach, Mr. P. Lardner-Smith for his devoted efforts and advice.

Racing record of the Seventh IV

Metropolitan Regatta: 4th (heat).

Riverview Regatta: 3rd (final).

TUB PAIR

C. Hardacre (Bow), B. Ramsay (Stroke), S. Couani (Cox).

Coach. Mr. P. Lardner-Smith.

This crew very much enjoyed its first rowing season and is particularly proud of having the honour of being the first tub pair to represent the school in a regatta. All members are looking forward keenly to next season's rowing when they hope this year's experience will help them achieve greater success. All wish to thank those in charge of rowing and particularly their coach, Mr. P. Lardner-Smith, for all his hard work and encouragement throughout the season.

THE RECORD

GRAHAM DUNN

Over the last twelve months Graham Dunn has emerged as a sportsman of world class. The path to fame began with him retaining the title of Australian Junior Butterfly Champion and this was followed by successes in the N.S.W. and the Australian Senior Men's Championships. These successes, combined with the phenomenal potential of this sixteen year old, led to his selection in the Australian Swimming Team to participate in the Commonwealth Games.

Graham's devotion to swimming is constantly shown by his control in giving up many of the good things in life. The training programme he follows prevents him from participating in many social functions as he has a seven-thirty p.m. curfew. The self-discipline Graham imposed on himself, together with many months of training, finally rewarded him with a silver medal in the 110 yards Butterfly, and later a world record in the 4 x 110 Medley Relay. In this latter feat, 2.3 seconds were cut from the old record.

Graham is looking forward to prospects of more travel in the future. In the coming year is a six weeks world tour, and in 1968 he hopes to achieve his main aim and represent Australia in the Mexico Olympics.

BASKETBALL

This has been another successful year in basketball, although in overall results the school has had to take second place to Cleveland Street. The firsts seem assured of being co-premiers and the other teams are well placed in their competitions.

What was particularly pleasing was the keenness shown in selection trials and the willingness to train on the part of most players. First grade has again set an example to the rest of the teams in dedication, enthusiasm and ability. Led by captain, Ron Furness, they successfully competed in the City of Sydney Championships, decisively beating Narwee in the final. As the State Team: Ron Furness (capt.), C. Bird, P. Bowman, C. Dawson, Rob Furness, G. Theodore, J. Williams, R. Younis.

Coach: Mr. L. Ross

This year's team, again led by ex-State Representative, Ron Furness, contains four of last year's undefeated First Grade, Ron, Chris Dawson, George Theodore and Jeff Williams. As well there is Paul Bowman from last year's 2nd's, Rob Furness from the 14's, a newcomer to the school and ex-State Representative, Ray Younis and Colin Bird, who gained selection in the team in his first season of serious basketball.

So for this reason Sydney High has suffered only one defeat, at the hands of Cleveland Street, by a narrow margin. It is apparent from the form that has been shown by the team that they will finish the season as either Premiers or Co-Premiers.

THE RECORD

In the City of Sydney Championships the First Grade, with the addition of Dale Byrd, became the Champions after a full weekend of exacting but very entertaining basketball when they defeated Narwee, by a large margin, in the final. Sydney High again showed its winning form when it defeated three teams from the visiting American fleet, thanks to expert, scientific leadership from Furness, and with Younis showing an uncanny ability to shoot baskets from various difficult angles and distances.

Special mention must be made of Ron Furness, Chris Dawson, Jeff Williams and Ron's fifteen year old brother, Rob, who gained selection in zone teams from which Ron, Robert and Chris were picked to represent the C.H.S.

Many thanks must go to Mr. Ross for the time and effort he has put into all teams.

SECOND GRADE

Team: C. Lewis (capt.), D. Byrd, D. Cooney, I. Hamblen, N. Lum, N. McKeand, H. Sacks, D. Sinclair.

Coach: Mr. L. Ross.

So far this season the Second Grade has lost only two of its eight games, both to Cleveland Street. High was unlucky to lose the second game after the lead had see-sawed from one side to the other with a final score of 32-36. The team is being ably led by the centre, Lewis, with assistance from Hamblen when the tall men are needed. However, the team also contains the small fast men, Sacks, Cooney and Lum, who combine to form a strong attacking force. Also the experience of Byrd has proved to be of great advantage to the team.

With four games left to play the team should finish runners-up to the as yet undefeated Cleveland Street. They have been playing the fast, entertaining basketball which has become a trade mark of High during past seasons and are giving a good example for junior grades to follow.

The team thanks Mr. Ross for his efforts in making eight men into one team and for all the time he has put into their training.

15 YEARS

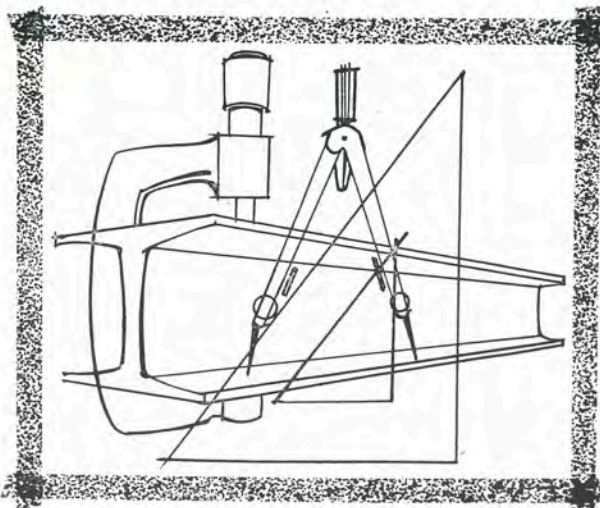

Team: B. Jakeman (capt.), W. Evans (v.-capt.), C. Whelan, S. Giardina, M. Luciano, M. Hurst, K. McKenzie, D. Cheetham, T. Elvy.

Coach: Mr. Banbury.

The team is composed mainly of players from last year's 14 years team, ably led by captain, Barry Jakeman.

After a shaky start the boys soon settled down to play as a team and notch up some good victories. Training under the direction of the captain and coach, Mr. Banbury, the team developed a good understanding which was responsible for their winning form. The team's only loss at this stage has been at the hands of Cleveland Street in both rounds in two very close fought matches.

Top scorers in the team were Barry Jakeman, Wayne Evans (vice-captain) and Col Whelan.

The 14A team is at present placed second in the competition to the superior Cleveland Street team. That squad is the only one to defeat us so far this year. The team feels certain of holding its position, provided that full attendance can be gained at the training sessions. Whilst there have been outstanding individual performances during matches, more work is needed to achieve better teamwork.

First Grade: W. Clayton (capt.), R. Giardina, G. Odze, B. Jakeman.

Second Grade: N. Killion (capt.), R. Beran, D. Freede, R. Loon, N. Smalley, R. Walker.

Coach: Mr. K. Cooper.

First Grade tennis this year had mixed luck, having several players away for crucial matches, but still managed to run a creditable third in the C.H.S. competition. The team was outclassed by both Randwick and South Sydney, losing all four games against these two teams. However, some excellent wins were recorded including a 24-0 win against Newtown and a 24-1 win over Vaucluse.

Second Grade presented a comparatively new team of six players this year and was unsuccessful in gaining a place in the competition. Although disappointed by their losses, valuable experience was gained which will be of assistance in the future. The teams wish to thank Mr. Cooper for his assistance during the competition.

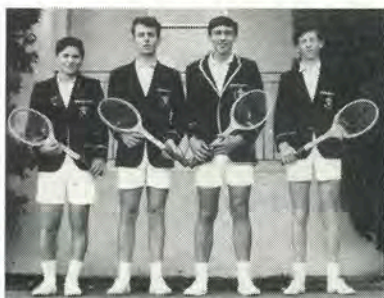

Third Grade: P. Warnecke (capt.), M. Stern, T. Havas, E. Lazar, Fourth Grade: A. Price (capt.), S. Lang, J. Clarke, J. Ehrlich.

Reserve: H. Snow.

Coach: Mr. K. Cooper.

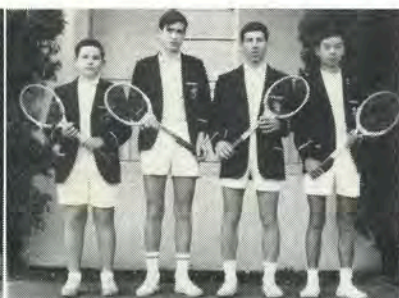

Considering the fact that three of the team had not previously played in C.H.S. matches, the results for the competition were quite pleasing. Combination was not achieved until the second round, which then resulted in only two lost matches and one draw. The team has promise of developing into a definite threat for future competitions.

Fourth Grade played well during the season and was unlucky to be defeated on the last match with South Sydney. This meant that Fourth Grade came equal first. A great deal of interest was displayed throughout all matches and the team should prove a good combination in future years. The team had some excellent wins, especially against Vaucluse 24-0 and 24-1 against Newtown. The teams are grateful for Mr. Cooper's help during the season.

WATER POLO

Most have heard of the French and Russian revolutions and some may have even been privileged to read George Orwell's "Animal Farm". Those who have been associated with Water Polo, 1966, may perhaps describe it best as the Quiet revolution.

Quiet, because unlike many of the other sports played at Sydney High it can most definitely not be described as glamorous. Perhaps its position as a non-G.P.S. sport brands it with this label "non-glamorous"; though movements have been made, and are still being made, to overcome this problem by the commencement of informal G.P.S. Saturday morning matches.

This season water polo numbers have risen to 60 or over; larger than the number enrolled in rowing, and incorporating a varied age group, the majority of which is "younger blood".

Water polo is a sport, an arduous, energetic one, in which training and playing take up more time than all other sports at S.H.S. with the exception of rowing. It is a sport which most of us hear very little about, yet practice and training occupy two week days as well as at least one day per week-end either training, or playing for Bronte Juniors (which is a S.H.S. team sponsored by that club) or both. Apart from this, weight training at least three times per week, either privately or at lunch-time, is imperative for those seeking admission to a grade team.

As in rowing, our successes over the last few years have also been limited; but when one considers that there are only three Fifth Formers and about a dozen Fourth Formers occupied with water polo, and with such a vigorous training system in action, it seems likely that the future will reap greater harvests.

Water polo, '66, was fortunate in acquiring the services of Mr. Fraser (Manly Water Polo Club) who, together with Mr. Wegener and R. Vadis (Bronte ex-S.H.S. 1st Grade Water Polo captain), have helped greatly and added extra stimulus to the Quiet revolution.

To the players themselves I should say "Thank you fellahs, for a job well done" and ask them to remember that sport does not consist ONLY of a blue ribbon bordering a proud brown blazer; and until such time as water polo warrants such a distinction, and even after, and in every sport, remember that we play for enjoyment, spirit and mateship, and all awards are merely accessories that have no real bearing on our character and sportsmanship.

This team has had varied success this season, and seems likely to come either second or third in the C.H.S. competition. Although smaller than all other teams, due to the young age of many of the players, team work and passing have excelled where size and strength have handicapped. To be in any team which has developed so much spirit (at certain times) has been, I think, one of the greatest pleasures I have yet experienced since entering S.H.S.

With weight training and systematic training continuing, I can only say that to be in an opposing team in two years' time against S.H.S. would not be a pleasant experience.

The team takes this opportunity of thanking Mr. C. Wegener and R. Vadis for their time and effort and Mr. Fraser, who continued the fine job with first and second grade in third term.

Team: M. Chapman (capt.), P. Ellis, R. McMahon, W. Bertram, B. Denning, S. Gell, J. Elliott, M. Fischer, B. Hartwell.

Coach: Mr. C. R. Wegener.

The season has started very well and the team is confident of further successes despite a major rearrangement due to the fact that our captain, Mick Chapman, has left to do rowing. Peter Ellis is our new captain and several new faces have appeared in the team.

Even despite these changes the team is confident of success in our four remaining games against Randwick and Enmore.

In the past the backs, Mick Chapman, Rodney McMahon and Bill Bertram, have been our outstanding players, defending well and giving the forwards plenty of opportunities. In the forwards Stephen Gell and Mark Fischer shone in their handling of the ball and goal scoring.

The team would like to thank Mr. Wegener for his able coaching throughout the season.

THIRD GRADE

Team: S. Vidal (capt.), W. Turnbull (vice-capt.), P. Connell, S. O'Neill, S. Layman, P. Willcox, E. Kritzler, G. Parsons, P. Brennan, M. Fisher, G. Haig.

Coach: Mr. C. Wegener.

The team started off well and kept its pace evenly through the season, having two wins, two draws and two losses. Wayne Turnbull with his accurate shooting at goal was an inspiration to the forwards whilst Vidal led the team with wisdom. With the forward set, Connell, Gilsonon and O'Neill, combining well, Layman and Kritzler displayed solid defence and Willcox, goalie, saved many a match.

The team acknowledges the keen interest and constant encouragement of Mr. Wegener and Bobby Vadis; the latter gave up his time throughout the holidays and tried to teach us the art of water polo.

ATHLETICS

The year 1966 has been one of mixed success. The school carnival had to be restricted because rain washed out the first day.

Sydney High School again scored a convincing victory in the City of Sydney Zone Carnival and in the Senior Section of this carnival High almost won every event.

Teams from the school competed in invitation carnivals arranged by Riverview and The King's School. It was not possible to organise an invitation carnival at McKay because all G.P.S. schools had commitments on the proposed day.

Michael Brown was the most outstanding athlete in the G.P.S. carnival this year. He recorded a fine sprint double in the Open 100 Yards and 220 Yards Championships. G.P.S. titles were also won by T. Booler and M. Georgouras.

To gain greater success in future years boys must not regard athletics as a between seasons sport and train for much longer periods.

SIR RODEN CUTLER

V.C., K.C.M.G., C.B.E., K.St.J., B.Ec.

In the proud past of Sydney High School, the names of Rhodes Scholars, distinguished academics, judges and many in other professional stations have come to light but for the first time this year in the school's history comes a governor of N.S.W. from its ranks.

Sir Roden Cutler is the only Australian artilleryman who has been awarded the Victoria Cross — he received the decoration for outstanding and sustained gallantry over 18 days in Syria. The following are extracts from the citation, 19th June-6th July, 1941.

"Our infantry attack was checked after suffering heavy casualties from an enemy counter attack with tanks. Enemy machine-gun fire swept the ground, but Lieutenant Cutler with another artillery officer and a small party rushed on ahead of the infantry and established an outpost in a house.

"The telephone line was cut, and he went out and mended this line whilst under machine-gun fire and returned to the house from which enemy posts and batteries were successfully engaged.

"The enemy then attacked the house with infantry and tanks, killing the Bren gunner and mortally wounding the other officer. Lieutenant Cutler and another manned the anti-tank rifle and Bren gun and fought back, driving the enemy away. The tanks continued the attack, but under constant fire from the anti-tank rifle, eventually withdrew.

"When our forward infantry were pinned to the ground by heavy machine-gun fire, Cutler went to bring a line to his outpost when he was seriously wounded. Twenty-six hours later, this officer was rescued, but by this time his wounds, had become septic, necessitating the amputation of his leg. Throughout this campaign this officer's courage was unparalleled and his work was a big factor in the recapture of Merdjayoun."

After spending some time at Manly High School, Cutler spent the latter half of his schooling at High and was appointed Prefect. He made his mark as a rifleman, became captain of the Rifle Club and was awarded a Blue, showing a fine ability in swimming as a breaststroker. Matriculating from High, he studied economics at Sydney University. Having joined the Sydney University Regiment, he was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant in 1939 and in 1940 joined the Australian Imperial Forces and was posted to the 2/5th Field Regiment of the 7th Division Artillery when the regiment was formed at Ingleburn a little while later in 1940. When the unit had completed its training in N.S.W. it was transported to Egypt, where it continued training. In June, 1941, it commenced its first campaign in Syria.

After the loss of his leg, however, Sir Roden was forced to retire from the A.I.F. and returned home in December, 1941. On his return he was given a hero's welcome in Sydney and the next year was elected State Secretary of the R.S.S. and A.I.L.A. (today known as the R.S.L.)

In early 1942, Lieutenant Cutler returned to his old school and addressed them on the topic of school cadets and general cadet training. Urging boys to join the school unit he said that the cadet corps was one of the means in which teamwork and the spirit of co-operation could be shown.

A year later, he was appointed Assistant Deputy Director of the Security Service in N.S.W. and was later appointed Assistant Commissioner for the Commonwealth in the Department of Repatriation, a post he retained until 1946 when he was appointed Australian High Commissioner in New Zealand — his first diplomatic post in a successful twenty year diplomatic career. His posts as an Australian diplomat have included: High Commissioner in Ceylon, Her Majesty's Australian Minister to Egypt, Secretary-General of the S.E.A.T.O. Council of Foreign Ministers in Canberra, Chief of Protocol of the Department of External Affairs, High Commissioner in Pakistan, Consul General in New York, Delegate to the U.N. General Assembly, 1963-4, and Her Majesty's Australian Ambassador to the Netherlands.

Sir Roden's appointment as Governor of New South Wales was greeted with enthusiasm from all parts of Sydney: from the Leader of the Opposition in the State Parliament to the "man in the street". Sir Roden Cutler was an excellent choice. Although he took up his appointment early in the year, Sir Roden has achieved much in his desire to meet the people, and in setting the fine example of leadership to the people of N.S.W.

Sydney High is indeed fortunate for His Excellency has honoured the school on numerous occasions at school functions and has impressed everyone with his manner and dignity.

RICHARD C. CREBBIN

Richard Charles Crebbin has carved for himself a position of authority and responsibility in Industry — to the casual observer, a life of immense personal satisfaction, but an analytical interviewer soon knows that there remains much of the young man who worked long and hard after success. He states quite simply and sincerely that: "I am a working man, with a lot to do" — with the emphasis on working. The philosophy of achievement of the boy who left S.H.S. with the Intermediate Certificate, worked in the Eta Foods factory, truded behind a plough and felled trees on his company's peanut farms out of Copmanhurst, learned the butchering trade, and studied at night, working to make the "break", not wait for it, still remains in the man.

Mr. Richard C. Crebbin.

Richard Crebbin was born in Paddington, lived his early years in South Kensington and later Marrickville and attended S.H.S. from 1927 to 1929. He was one of those who served part of their school time at Mary Ann Street, Ultimo, and then moved into the proud new establishment at Moore Park. There was a very tangible and proud "school spirit", he recalls, which was even strengthened by the magnificent new "body" it inherited at Moore Park.

Academically, he gained no great distinction, nor was he prominent in sport at School (he rowed in a Four in the G.P.S. Regatta of 1929). His family was not well-off and he had to stand on his own two capable feet very early. He left school at fourteen, and worked for his uncle first in the Eta factory and then on peanut farms. A disagreement then led to his breaking away and learning the butchering trade. By nineteen years of age, as a result of working long hours, he owned several shops.

At twenty-two, Richard Crebbin rejoined Marrickville Margarine Pty. Ltd., which his uncle had founded in 1908. He had virtually grown up with the edible oils industry, and his considerable experience in this field, and of the practical side of business were to prove invaluable later on. Several more years of a more formal education at Technical College, where he studied Physics, Chemistry and Biology, and later Accountancy, added considerable polish and brought out those qualities most needed to take him to the top.

During the war, he served as a pilot with the R.A.A.F. in the New Guinea area. He held the rank of Flight-Lieutenant and was a Flight-Commander of his Squadron. At the war's end he returned to the company as Accountant — but promotion came swiftly. In 1947 after a period on the sales side he became in almost staccato succession, New South Wales Sales Manager, Assistant Sales Manager and, in 1948, General Sales Manager. On the formation of the public company, Marrickville Holdings Limited in 1951, he was appointed to the Board of Directors. His uncle, Albert B. Abel died in 1954, and a year later Richard was appointed Managing Director of the group. In 1957 he was elected Chairman of Directors. Marrickville Holdings Ltd., and its subsidiaries, is an Australia-wide organisation employing over 3,200 people. With annual turnover upwards of $44,000,000, it is one of Australia's largest food companies. It must present a heavy responsibility.

He controls other private interests and holds other directorships. As well he is a Director of Waugh & Josephson Holdings Ltd. and its subsidiaries, the Caterpillar and John Deere Tractor distributors.

On the sporting side Richard Crebbin achieved considerably more after leaving school. On returning to Sydney after his farming apprenticeship he joined Sydney Rowing Club and after one year of successes in Maiden and Junior Rowing was promoted to the Club's Senior VIII which carried all before it during the two following years. The record for 3 miles, set by the 1934 N.S.W. Champion VIII crew in which he rowed, stood for nearly 25 years before being broken.

Pre-occupation with his commercial life caused him to retire early from active rowing, but he continued as a successful coach with Sydney Rowing Club, Wesley College and in a later period Scots College. In 1950 the Scots College crew he coached rowed to 2nd place in the G.P.S. VIII's Championship (the Head of the River). Again the business responsibilities caused his withdrawal from active sport.

For many years following the war he was an active member of the Royal Aero Club of N.S.W. and retained his Commercial flying licence up to only a few years ago. For many years, he was a member of the committee of Sydney Rowing Club, and was at times Secretary, Vice-Captain and Committee Chairman. He remains a Vice-President of that Club today. He was also an active committeeman of the Royal Aero Club, was Chairman of the Flying Committee and was on the Council of the Australian Federation of Aero Clubs.

Ever since he was very young he has taken a keen interest in art and literature. He has a fine collection of paintings (two large Drysdale's hang on his office wall), and an extensive and eclectic library.

He is a member of the Imperial Services Club, Tattersall's Club, the United Services Institute, the Institute of Directors, a Life-Governor and Fellow of the Australian Institute of Management, as well as Sydney Rowing Club, the Royal Aero Club and the Agriculture Club, and the High Club.

During the interview, Mr. Crebbin briefly discussed the opportunities and demands of business. There is a growing demand for professional and specialist skills; education, therefore, particularly on the tertiary level is essential for an executive position, though this is not all. His Company, for example, uses various and well-tried tests, developed over many years, to gauge such aspects of character as aggressiveness, comprehension, analytical approach and effective communication. Reflecting on the competitive accent of present-day business, Mr. Crebbin said that this allowed the young, qualified person precious little time for just "browsing around", though the prime consideration, he believes, must be towards one's own satisfaction. Success will follow naturally.

Young people, he says, do not change, only their opportunities. He appreciates the broader curriculum of the Wyndham Scheme, both as a father and as a businessman. He has three children, and as a father, he has formed definite views on child-raising; most important from his own standpoint is the guided, though unobstructed, development of the child's character and talents; at the same time, letting him know just how far to go with discipline.

Not surprisingly, he is a staunch supporter of the School, particularly Rowing. Year by year he has given sets of oars to crews and generously supports the School and the O.B.U.

Richard Crebbin has maintained an innate personal sincerity and sense of humanity throughout his very active life. His philosophy is the practical one of turning circumstance to advantage, or rather, of working to suit circumstances. He is a great believer in the full development of mind, body and character; in fact, he believes the function of team sport in school to be one of social discipline, just as studies are a mental discipline. Further he feels that the developing of a school spirit is extremely important to the development of a personal responsibility to others, and more specifically to company and institutional loyalties.

That which seemed most impressive in Mr. Crebbin, might best be put in his own words:

"I wouldn't care how much I earn a week."

But he does know that his job is his life.

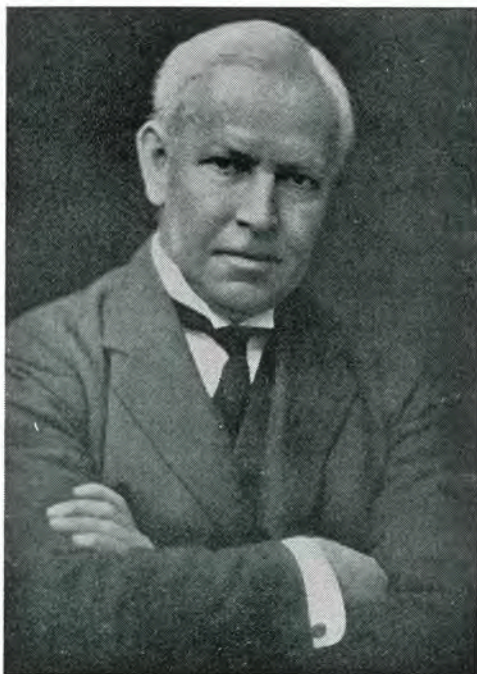

Mr. Crebbin was interviewed by: J. Newman, R. Aroney and R. Wiseman, 5th Form.

SIR GRAFTON ELLIOT SMITH

Sydney High can look back with admiration on its many Old Boys. Among their ranks have been statesmen, doctors and lawyers, actors, sportsmen and teachers. Included among these is Grafton Elliot Smith. How much the school did to develop his rich intellect and shape his dominating career, none can say. But the critical and formative years of his middle teens were spent at "High" and when he left it he was already marked as a youth of unusual promise. The school may, therefore, chronicle with pride some of the achievements of one of her greatest sons.

Grafton Elliot Smith was born in Grafton, N.S.W., on 15th August, 1871, and was the son of S. S. Smith, headmaster of the public school. Having received a sound elementary training, Grafton Elliot Smith enrolled at Sydney High in October, 1883, and was one of the "Originals" along with forty-three others. While still at the school he attended a series of lectures on physiology given at the Sydney School of Technology and developed an intense curiosity in the subject. When he was studying for the senior exam, "sleepy" Grafton Elliot, as he was described by former headmaster, Arthur Eedy, found it was permissible to take ten subjects and decided to take physiology and geometrical drawing in addition to the eight subjects he was doing at school. Rather to the dismay of his teachers the only medals awarded to students from Sydney High were given to Grafton Elliot Smith for the two subjects he studied himself. His brilliant paper in physiology brought him under the notice of Professor J. T. Wilson, who occupied the Chair of Anatomy at Sydney University. Under this great master Elliot Smith made meteoric progress. Academic courses were child's play to him and he became an original research worker before graduation.

On completing his training in 1892 he did a year's hospital work and in 1894 was appointed demonstrator in the Department of Anatomy at the University of Sydney. His first paper, The Cerebral Commissures of the Mammalia was published in that year and was soon realised as "the germ of a brilliant and original mind".

In 1900, after three strenuous years at Cambridge on a travelling scholarship, his great work began. He was offered the Professorship of Anatomy at the Government Medical School, Cairo, and accepted the position. Here he had an opportunity to examine and report on a large mass of human remains collected by archaeologists in Egypt. Henceforth anthropology was to form an important part of his work. After a visit to England in 1906 and 1907 he returned to find more work awaiting him. It had been decided to raise the Aswan Dam by seven metres. The consequent inundation would destroy many ancient burial places; therefore, systematic examination of the antiquities was necessary. Elliot Smith had already examined all the mummies in the Cairo Museum, as well as those of thousands of ancient Egyptians buried in tombs or in the dry sand of the desert. He was appointed director of the anthropological work for the Nubian research party. His special task was to examine mummies' skulls and skeletons. The relation of his own specialism, anatomy, to archaeology and Egyptology brought him into the new field of the social sciences. Here, as in anatomy, he was original and independent in forming opinions, bold and incisive in expressing them.

Early in 1909 Grafton Elliot Smith accepted the Chair of Anatomy at Manchester University. By 1916 he had become known as the leader of those who believed in the "diffusion of culture". The "diffusionists" hold that Civilization began in the Nile Valley and was diffused to other parts of the earth by migrants from Ancient Egypt. This means that the basic arts and crafts on which the culture of all countries depends were not built up independently in many countries but were the inventions of the Egyptians. The zeal with which Grafton Elliot Smith defended his hypothesis reasserted his claim to fame and it is an inspiring thought for Sydney High boys that a little fellow, who eighty years ago did his homework as they do now had achieved scientific standing equal to some of the best in history.

Soon after 1915 he began work in British hospitals and in 1917 in collaboration with Professor T. H. Pears he published Shell Shock and its Lessons, in which he encouraged the use of psychiatric clinics for people in the early stages of mental disorder. It has been said that probably no one has been more influential than Elliot Smith in the treatment of mentally disturbed patients.

In 1919 Grafton Elliot Smith became Professor of Anatomy at University College in the University of London. His work here may be called his last period. It was marked by his stern and stormy advocacy of the theory of Evolution, as formulated by Darwin and Huxley, against the theory of "parallel evolution among animals". This period was also one of his most prolific as a writer. In 1923 he published Tutankhamen and the Discovery of his Tomb, which received world acclaim. This was followed by Essays on the Evolution of Man in 1924 and Human History in 1930. During this year at the request of the Rockefeller Institute he visited China to examine the newly discovered Peking Man at its site.

Grafton Elliot Smith was an honorary member of leading continental societies and received many degrees and honours. He was elected a Fellow of the Royal College Society, London, in 1907 and was afterwards a vice-president. In 1912 he received its Royal Medal. He was awarded an honorary gold medal of the Royal College of Surgeons one of Britain's highest awards. Finally, for his services to science and humanity, he was knighted by the King in 1934.

Grafton Elliot Smith met Carlyle's test of the "Great Man" — a man who must be great in all sorts of ways. He was not merely the patient, industrious laboratory student who knows everything about beetles and metals and nothing else. He knew everything about bones and brains and much more. He wrote like a man of letters; he spoke like an orator; in public gatherings he looked like a great leader; in private company he was genial, charming, courteous. Moreover a former colleague of his was able to say when he died, "No one ever accomplished so much with so little hurry or effort . . . his influence and his example will live in our school of anatomy for many a century to come".

The life of Grafton Elliot Smith reflects honour on the school that helped to make him what he was. He was looked on with admiration by his fellow pupils, Mr. W. H. Paradice, another "Original" was moved to write in the school records: "the first pupils are very proud of one of their number, Professor Grafton Elliot Smith . . . He is probably the most widely known and most distinguished Old Boy and has brought great honour to our school. Perhaps the ordinary schoolboy may feel that he can never approximate to the intellectual accomplishments we have recorded, and that, therefore, they have no point for him. The life of Grafton Elliot Smith, however, was a triumph not only of intellect, but of character.

BRAINWASHED IN THE EVENING

From its primitive beginnings in Ancient China, brainwashing has developed into a very exact science. Until recently, it was a monopoly of the Communist world. However, in recent years, brainwashing has made its appearance in the "Free" world.

I had a dream last night. I dreamt about that poor freakish woman who had been so shockingly deformed by that highly dangerous chemical "Swerl" (99% H_2O , 1% nitric acid) until she had two pairs of hands (presumably attached to her body by two pairs of arms). She was being mentally tortured, and although her hands (all four of them) were clapped over her ears, she could not shut out the sound of the fanatical announcer incessantly shrieking, "Try new Kellogg's Corn Flakes, they're corny!"

I mention this because every night I inevitably end up gaping at the "set", suffering the same nightmarish experience.

I suppose you have all noticed the way in which commercials are sneaked in during the climax of a show — as Batman is "blasted" by Dr. Dakar's radium gun or as Max Smart entangles his tie in the works of an activated atomic bomb. This fiendish scheme (which, in my opinion, is quite underhand) prevents the viewer from raiding the refrigerator or making a hurried sortie to the bathroom. Thus the poor unfortunate, whose eyes are squarely glued to the screen, must stay and slug it out with the announcer in a desperate battle for sanity.

One of the most frequently used weapons in the armoury of an advertising company is statistics. The fact that "nine times out of ten" they are false does not detract from its brainwashing-power. However, I can quote an example where the facts are basically correct. This is: "If you brush your teeth with Colgate you will have 37½% fewer cavities". Obviously this is because you will have 37½% fewer teeth.

The job of collecting statistics is not an easy one. The "Lux" company, for example, took several months to find the four out of the selected five film stars who used "pure mild International Lux".

Although the advertisements which take up a good deal of viewing time are invariably garbled nonsense, they create an impact. This is verified by reports of people caught stuffing mince-meat into the petrol tanks of their cars. Upon being questioned on their motives they reply, "I'm just feeding the Tiger!"

SYDNEY MORNING SARCASM — 22nd April, 1966
EDITORIAL

Without a doubt the most controversial political issue in N.S.W. today is the extra long-range plan to complete construction of Sydney's biggest-ever bungle, affectionately known as the Opera House.

This rabble of concrete and steel again came into the headlines when the architect, the only good part of the Opera House, Mr. Utzon, announced his resignation from the construction staff. (It is said that bread is the staff of life, but the life of this staff is one big loaf.) Mr. Hughes, the Minister for Public Wrecks has unsuccessful talks with Mr. Utzon and then refused to tell the very bored Sydney public that this seaside Bungle-o would not be completed until 1990 and at a cost of 130 million dollars. This continual raising of the year of completion and cost of construction has been the only consistent factor in this incredible project. As a matter of fact it was even thought that the direction of the indispensable roof-sails might have to be changed: it was feared they might be knocked over by the great amount of hot air coming from Parliament House.

The Sydney public is now becoming tired of the suspended inanimation of this Sydney Opera House and is seriously askin' Askin when it's to end. The reply, no doubt, will come in the unpredictably distant future.

In the meantime we watch the structure growing, slowly but surely. And we pay.

THE RECORD

ANCHOR OF DECEPTION

Gently snowed the seconds from the mantleshelf clock,
And as I sat in that dim-lit cell, my world,
Each made as to hit me, and shape me, and grow me.
Confrere sat opposite, moving his lips,
And between the seconds, I caught his words.

They spoke of security; said he'd gorg'd amusement
As society ordains, to become a garish, hollow bloat;
His family, ageing sister, cancer'd brother,
He had long since cast off
In that first, wild, flush of youthful independence.

Faith, of course, he had also denied.
"Such fantasy has no place in a Scientific age, they say,
Nor poetry, nor philosophy, nor art:
Man can perceive but little, can do even less . . .
Why, then, should we heed another's awareness,
So much of which is lost in translation
From thought to deed?"
Yes, he had early resolved his troubles,
Till the problem remained, and all there remained,
Was to live life, and enjoy it.

Could it be, my friend, that others, like yourself,
Have come to the conclusion that, maybe,
There is no absolute? You scorned, just now,
Those who dare to deceive, those ignorant fools
Who live in the realm of fantasy.
You said this age is of science . . .
But isn't science seeking the absolute,
And is it, then, any less fantastic than man's other deceptions,
Poetry or philosophy?

The chimes sounded, and after a while, he answered:
"I believe . . . It's time."

Clearing the waters for shimmering diamonds,
Plays on his face.
The sky becomes blue like the sea,
Though not so brilliant,
While the man shields his face
And watches the sunrise,
Pondering no more.

SYDNEY'S RAILWAY

A sprawling, soot-blackened terminal is what the Sydney Goods Yard looks like to the average person. However, to me it is a vast beautiful museum of ancient and modern locomotives. Old Steam engines of every shape, size and colour stand alongside many bright-painted diesels of immense power — some fitted with pantographs to pick up the "life-giving" electricity.

On the other side of the main lines are the workshops, sheds and marshalling yards for the carriages. First class, second class, sleepers and buffets all "rest" together under huge iron roofs.

Hundreds of long goods trains bring food, machinery and other things to keep contented the demanding people of Sydney. Most goods trains arrive and depart during the night, while the population sleeps. Gangs of trained men unload and reload them; never stopping for a moment, moving from one train to the other. After the last train rolls out of the loading bay, the tired workmen thankfully depart to their homes as the long fingers of the sun creep over the distorted horizon.

Another day begins. The men working on the morning shift saunter in, report, and go about their various tasks. Soon the mighty "Southern Aurora" will glide to a halt at the interstate terminal. This sleek passenger "servant" will soon end a swift seven hundred mile dash, from Victoria's capital, Melbourne. The "Aurora" is unsurpassed in comfort, streamlining and sheer beauty.

We must not forget the suburban electric trains that come from every part of the city carrying thousands of people to work, school and play. When we stop to think, we remember what a vital part these trains play in Sydney's administration. Nearly always on time, the trains carry us quickly to our destination without having to worry about "traffic conditions". In all, Sydney cannot run as smoothly as it does without the help of trains.

THE RECORD

THE PANTHER

The panther, the black leopard —
Burnt from the scorching sun of the jungle.
As he prowls through the trees, the shrubs and the grasses,
As he stalks his prey,
A descending sun
Casts a shadow —
A shadow of Death.

Through the night,
His eyes peer at every moving thing,
His eyes, shining green in the night,
His ears pitched
To hear footsteps of ants.
Suddenly, a victim he spots,
A baby deer, asleep in the bushes.
He claws up a nearby tree,
Balances on a firm branch,
And crouches for a moment . . .
Then, like a thunderbolt from the heavens,
He springs —
And the fawn is dead.

G. CRUIKSHANK, 1B

GRATITUDE

The smoke rose slowly from the chimney of the little hut, as if reluctant to be turned out into the cold morning air.

Inside, Ben Porter, the famous trapper, was making last preparations for his monthly trip to the trading post. It was forty miles downstream and would take him four days to reach.

He loaded his canoe and after checking that all had been taken care of, he pushed off. The canoe slid silently onto the glistening water and sent forth a line of ripples which sped across the smooth surface to gently caress the friendly banks. The big man then took the paddle in his hands and with a few powerful strokes sent the slender canoe quickly on its way.

He had been paddling all day when he came to his first camp site. He chose this spot because he wanted to check traps he set here a week ago. And also because it was the only level land within two miles.

After dragging his primitive vessel up on to the snow he put on his snow shoes and plodded off into the distance. He came across the first trap and was bitterly disappointed to find the mangled remains of a rabbit. His rabbit, stolen by a thief of the wilderness, probably a hungry wolf or bear. Whatever it was, Ben would track it down and make it pay for its crime.

He walked on but after advancing no more than a few yards, he stopped dead. In the distance he could see the black silhouette of a bear, the biggest he had ever seen. When closer he noticed its hind leg caught in the steel jaws of one of his very own traps.

His eyes widened with lust and fixed on that big black fur coat. He removed his snowshoes and advanced towards the creature with a heavy log of wood in his hand. This powerful man had crushed many an animal's skull with one blow and he would do it again. He raised the object high above his head and was just about to bring it down with a crushing blow to beat out the little life that unfortunate creature had left when suddenly he felt savage claws clamp down around his ankle to bring him crashing to the ground. He had forgotten that extra trap he had placed by the larger one.

He emerged from a daze to realise the desperateness of his situation. His haversack had rolled literally under the nose of the bear. His choice was to reach for his haversack containing the release clamps and to risk being killed by the bear or to stay his distance and slowly freeze to death.

He took his chance and in a torment of suspense stretched out for the clamps, placed his hand on them and dragged them slowly back towards him, keeping one eye on his enemy all the time. To his astonishment the bear watched his every move but did not lift a paw to harm him.

The trapper released his own foot and through sheer kindness applied the clamp to the trap that held the bear. He was just about to lift the bear's foot out of the iron jaws when the bear swung around and with a massive paw struck Ben across the head, crushing his skull and sending him rolling across the cold snow.

THE WHITE AUSTRALIA POLICY

This year, after one hundred years of non-white immigration restrictions, the term "White Australia Policy" has been officially erased from the record books. In the 1860's, after huge numbers of Chinese had immigrated to the Australian gold fields, several states decided to curb this influx of Asians by imposing restrictions upon the number entering. Then, after Federation, the newly-formed Commonwealth Government considered that the banning of all non-whites from Australia was a politically unstable move. Therefore, a dictation test was instituted, to be given in any European language; the purpose — a whitewash for the same restrictions. Now this is all finished.

But is it? Prejudice against coloured people still exists; so does the demand for continued immigration restrictions on Asians. When the Policy was first adopted, the white Australians feared that the Asians, by a continued influx, would soon dominate their country. Today it would seem there is little chance of this. Or is there?

R. MU SUNG, 4B

"OURS IS NOT TO REASON WHY . . ."

The controversial Killip Wing, with its strictly avant-garde architecture, is indeed the focal point of our Great Public School.

Standing beside the more sober style of its (shall we say more mundane?) sister, this ornate and intricate building provides a real contrast: from a distance, in particular, one can appreciate the portly greyish-white, the sweeping, curvaceous cracks and those delicate black marks around the base of the building, etched so very carefully by the more thoughtful student.

Something which to me is an architectural "tour de force" is that amazing little overhead corridor which balances ever so precariously, "Up above our heads so high, like a . . . in the sky".

Upon entering this unique building, we are greeted by the famous Portrait, reflecting the true warmth of the place (we cannot help but notice the small scabs of paint missing: souvenir hunters, no doubt). Another remarkable feature of this building is the revolutionary idea of "no lights" (however, the design gains by this: those little circular pieces of wood are so much better than ugly light fittings).

In one and the same building besides the Democratic Science staff, we see a magnificent Totalitarian state: the Library — main function of inmates (commonly called librarians): brewing coffee and drinking it. Also there is a "strictly no talking" rule, in order that the ever-so-delicate librarians can hear themselves talk. A breach of this rule offers a choice of voluntary contribution to the Library's coffers or eviction for a certain period of time. In preserving an international flavour the Library celebrates the national day of each country by doubling the fines imposed; it is noble gestures like these that make the pupils' rare visits to the Library something to look forward to. The Librarian is looked upon affectionately by her pupils; the aura of warmth radiating from the face of every boy as he leaves his Library is indeed gratifying.

Beneath the Library, however, throbs the Heart and Soul of the wing: the Science Department. This highly integrated unit is one of the most Progressive in the entire school. They are continually churning out extra-difficult multiple guess questions and when each boy sits in front of his three hundred, he can feel proud of his Science Department. (Of course, those delicious blotches on Lab. ceilings make one appreciate just what can be done when there are no lights to hinder Progress.)

Finally, we come to that classic piece, the Sundial: fallen but not forgotten. It should last for years, for it is well protected and well away from the deleterious effects of weather — yes, of the sun, too!

THE RECORD

ME AND MINE

A sultry breeze stirred the sleeping redness;
It passed, and the powder fine dust settled lazily.
A lone crow raced the sun
Across an opal blue infinity.
Gaunt shadows of life evaporated,
Even as the water.
The last leaf gave up the fight,
And fell into the sleeping redness,
That was the earth.

Odours of pies, the warm, moist air of an espresso bar.
People; talking, laughing, living.
Flashing, vibrant spectra of neon signs,
And old newspapers scuttling,
Scraping softly along
The shadowland of a back-alley.
Yellow diamonds that loom noisily,
Endlessly from out of the night.
Smog, sound, laughter, living:
The crowded void that is the city.

Liquid glass: cold, clean, green . . .
Nature's mirror, womb of life.
Crowded, lemon-yellow sands;
Noisy, foaming sea —
Noisy, shouting people —
And me.

J. NEWMAN, 5A

THE DENTIST

He stalks your chair, his growl is low,
His claws are taut, his eyes aglow,
His coat is spattered with blood of prey,
You suddenly gain the courage to say:
"I say, doctor, aren't you going a bit too far?"
And he bursts out with a cackle, "Har, har!"
You hope he will be mild and meek,
Not strong and tough with a bullying streak,
He wrenches, he bites, he tugs and he grabs,
His claws are like those of crabs.
What is he going to do after this?
Then suddenly, he emits a hiss;
With a dreadful sigh (a sure sign of sorrow),
Says he: "You've lasted today, come back tomorrow."

J. THOMAS, 1B

THE RECORD

OUR GREAT DICTATORSHIP

An analogy could well be drawn between the school and a dictatorship.

The dictator of our school is, of course, the Headmaster, and the teachers are the ministers of his "Government". The ministers, as in a dictatorship or a democracy, are responsible for the control of various necessary activities such as Mr. Jenkins, Minister for the Army and Mr. Oslington, Minister for Health. The prefects are public servants and carry out the more menial administrative tasks.

Politics do not play a significant role in our "country" since the government immediately suppresses any left-wing tendencies.

Forming the basis of this dictatorship are, naturally, the working classes — the pupils. But even here there is an intricate social structure: at the top of this scale are the fifth and sixth form students, who inhabit a snobbish high-class residential area, the "Flat". The middle class — fourth and third formers — have some privileges; while the lower class — first and second form pupils — have none and are often scapegoats for morose public servants.

Essential to all dictatorships is a well-trained and highly integrated defence system: the Cadet Corps. Of course, all institutions are nationally controlled — the Chess, Drama and Gymnastic clubs, and the Lapidary Society. The penal code is extremely severe, with punishment ranging from detentions to variable doses of the notorious "stick".

Unfortunately the analogy ends here . . . our dictatorship will not be overthrown.

ACT OF DEVOTION

Mr. Herbert Ranson was sick, very sick. He lay in the soft, white, comfortable bed, unable to appreciate it. "Condition critical" read the doctor's report. They took special care of him. They had to! Mr. Ranson was an "important man".

Nurse Halyard was not like any ordinary nurse. Her devotion to her practice was something great. She would go to all extremes to make her patient happy. The doctors would always be asking her to retire, for her own health, but then reconsidering and asking her to stay on as Reade Hospital could not get along without her.

Now it happened that Reade Hospital was honoured with the visit of this certain Mr. Ranson, but not in the way they would have wished. He had collapsed at a meeting of his business firms in his main office, which was luckily within a short distance of the hospital. He was lying in a private ward in a coma. The reason why he was so important was that he alone had contributed the entire fund needed for the building of Reade Hospital. Could it be by sheer coincidence or fate that he was in Nurse Halyard's ward?

THE RECORD

In the room, at the end of the bed were two men. Frank Cahle shifted uneasily on the hard wooden chair while William Lance, a minister, stood quietly. They had received the news that night. Ranson was dying. He had only until the following night.

There was absolutely nothing that could be done. Thus, the whole hospital was in mourning.

Frank Cahle, being a close friend of Ranson, would not take this sitting down, so, jumping to his feet he said:

"There must be something we can do besides staying here and watching him die!"

The minister, being a very practical man of the Church, replied, "Yes, pray."

"But I mean something practical. I'm sorry. There must be . . ."

"I'm afraid not. He has some type of deadly cancer. There's just nothing . . ."

"I don't think so."

At that moment Nurse Halyard stepped in through the open door.

"I'm sorry", she said, "but you'll have to lower your voices or go into the waiting room."

"All right, I'll keep quiet."

"If you'll excuse me," said Lance, "I think I'll go out anyway. I'm tired."

He walked out leaving Cahle and the old nurse.

After staring at the peaceful figure of Ranson she said:

"It's a terrible shame. After all the things he's done for us, and we can't do anything for him. I wish I could do something for him . . . take his place, exchange places."

"So do I", he paused. "I wish you would do something. Just talking isn't going to do any good."

Nurse Halyard thought for a while and then said, "You're right, Mr. Cahle. Talking isn't going to do any good."

"Well, it certainly baffles me," the doctor said after examining the recovered Ranson. "You know, you were marked with death last night."

Cahle ran down the hall and bumped into Lance.

"Heard the good news? Ranson's recovered completely!"

He started into a chorus of "It's Good News Week", but then stopped and stared at the minister.

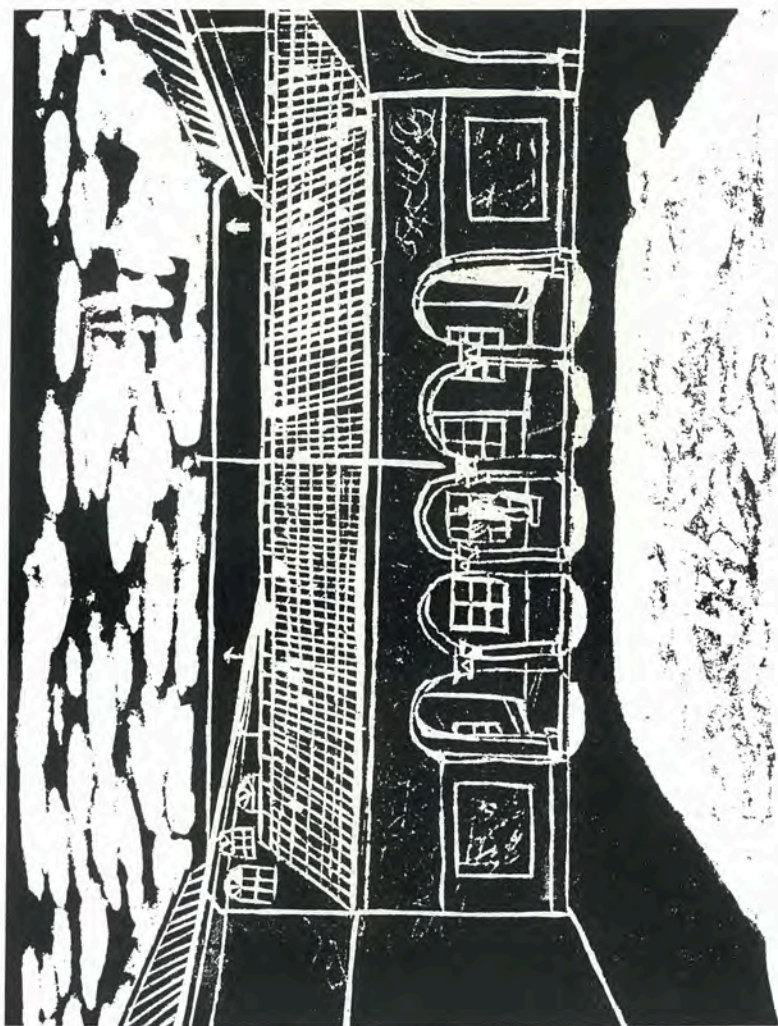

"It's not all good. Remember Nurse Halyard? She died last night. Strange, she died of the same complaint as Ranson. They found her on the floor with a prayer book in her hand."

He looked at the astonished Cahle.

"What's wrong? Do you know something about this?"

"Yes, I think I do . . ."

THE RECORD MAN TO THE MOON

Why go to the moon?

The flight to the moon, as planned by the government of the United States, will be a far cry from Jules Verne's fiction cannon-shot to the moon of nearly a hundred years ago.

The astronauts who make the trip will be shot into the heavens with far greater force than any cannon could deliver. Some twenty billion dollars in all will be spent on project Apollo — for research, preparations, training of men, building of the space ship, the unmanned probes and finally, the flight itself.

Many people wonder why countries should spend so much money. Why should we bother about the moon, which seems airless, waterless, lifeless — dead?

Many have profited, even before the flight, by the discoveries, inventions and methods developed by space exploration. Nor can anyone doubt that more far-reaching benefits will be forthcoming.

What are these benefits?

Rocket motor development has increased our knowledge of chemistry and physics. Tyres that withstand great heat have been developed for rocket-recovery vehicles and for moon exploration. Now jet planes use them.

Space science reaches many branches of industry directly and indirectly. A single discovery could revolutionise an industry, bring improvements to the home. Best of all, it may save a human life.

Advanced electronic-control equipment, commercial aircraft control-guidance and navigation systems have been improved. Lightweight hydraulic pumps needed for rockets are being put to use in industry. Tiny solar batteries which run on the heat and light generated by the sun, and a radio that weighs only ounces are other space-age improvements. So is housepaint that "Lasts a Lifetime", glass that remains sterile, recorders that start and stop at the sound of a voice.

Tough, lightweight materials have been developed for space research. The tunnel diode does the job of a vacuum tube but it is as small as a tiny screw. Television sets compact enough to carry in a beach-bag can also be made by using this diode. Another product is freezer to oven cookware called pyroceram (for missile nose-cones) capable of withstanding large and sudden temperature changes.

A million-dollar global communications satellite system is in the making. Satellites used in this system will receive, amplify, and retransmit signals from earth. They will be able to handle the high-frequency electro-magnetic radio waves necessary.

We have taken off and are now out of the earth's atmosphere. We encounter deadly cosmic rays, but everything is working well. Two hours later we had become the last link in a long chain of human striving some thousands of years long: a perfect landing in a crater.

SUNBATHING

The sun beats down.
I swing in tides of reeking heat.
I sweat; my mind swims
In a sea of golden light.
Far off colours,
Like lanterns in the dark,
Swing.
The cool green surf provides relief
From the fearful blaze.
But the curls, the blues, the high white caps
Do not entice me.

I close my eyes to the sun,
The god who rules my world.

I close my eyes to the world,
The medium that contains me.

Now I sleep, I dream . . .
Soaking up the warmth like an over-ripe plum.

MAN?

How does it feel
To be a jackal in a lion's den,
Crawling behind your master's heel:
To be one of "the men"?

How does it feel
To call yourself: "one of the crowd",
While you fawn and kneel?
Oh, you curse. But not aloud.

Gone now from the lion's heel
To become another unknown,
You lose that manly feeling —
When all on your own.

Gone now from the jackal's group,
But another "man" will take your place,
New member of an everlasting group,
To compete in that crawling race.

ISOLATION

In the murky, green-blue depths of a Pacific atoll, a diver winds his way along the soft, sandy floor. A long, sleek fish darts out from a maze of corals, disturbing the minute life clinging there.

The diver's air-bubbles shoot upwards, and as they reach the surface they find a desolate scene: a bare island, and nothing; the diver's boat, a rotting, wooden hulk pounds softly against the sandy shore, whilst a water fowl, nesting on an island lagoon, caws in the distance.

The diver emerges, and putting his catch aside, proceeds to his hut, alone, and desperately hopeful of being found at last.

As the sun lowers itself in the sky, and evening is imminent, the sound of a lone waterfall, continually crashing into the swirling depths, numbs his senses, and his thoughts wander far; he longs for a friendly face.

There, on the western shore, a lone palm tree stands defiant on the blue-grey pebbled beach. A brilliant crystal sky is reflected into the placid lake, while a wild boar grunts in the dense undergrowth to the south, which is a tightly woven jungle of vines and tropical grasses.

The castaway lights a fire, and soon a blue-red flame flickers in the dimming light, and dusk falls. The flaming red sky, with a purple perimeter, falls behind a wall of ocean, and the golden moon prevails, master of the darkened heavens, until, in the early morning brilliance, old Sol, the master, awakens.

A BLUE FLAME

The flame is dying now;
the will to roam, to see new faces, to find, is gone;
the heart is fading.

But his eyes light up at the thought of the past, and in the flickering of his eyes you can see horses idly resting under the shadow of the moon,

those lonely nights when the stars smiled down.
Sometimes he would smile back,
and in a half dream,
would hum himself to sleep.

Ah, but that was years ago,
when nature led him by the hand to new horizons, the prosperous, and the not so green where it was always dry.

Often bitter winds howled till he wanted to howl back and curse the day he trod the earth.

Youth was golden, but the flame is dying now.

Misty-eyed he sits and recalls days gone by,
until the flame is out.

THE ROWER

As the shell touches up to the start you can see the rower tense up, but he remembers his training and relaxes, still erect in his seat. In his face you can see months of hard and earnest training. His lips are set firm. His eyes dart around from starter to coxswain, to the other shells. He flexes his deeply tanned arms and wrists. He is quite fit; his coach has seen to that. On him rest the timing of the seven other members of the crew. He is the stroke. The order "Ready!" and suddenly they're away. The rating he has set up shows in his legs and arms, his veins standing out grotesquely. His chest rises and falls quickly as he breathes, heavily and noisily. Every muscle in his body is crying out for relaxation but, with teeth set in a grim face, he presses on. He knows that the crew is counting on him. At last, at long last, the line is crossed. He slumps slightly, grasping at the air, but the smile on his face shows he is proud.

A sky of fluffy whiteness swung by Changing; ever so quickly and quietly.
Soon they appeared, a menacing black and then — Bang!
With all the force of Hell they exploded,
Black Torrents pouring forth,
Fantastic fury, forked with light.

The wind rose, and now a raging gale
Howled across the raging seas.
Death washed over large ships,
Toss'd like leaves
Into the gaping jaws of Doom.

But then it stopped: and once again
A fluffy whiteness drifted across
The wan, blue sky;
And the wind was dying.

LIFE OR DEATH

He gasped and sputtered furiously as the large grey shark quickly gained on him. Desperately he waved towards the unpatrolled beach, but the few onlookers were too terrified to lend a hand. The swimmer stroked harder and harder, using his six-foot height to its fullest. His bright blue eyes glared at the water ahead and his long blond hair and golden sun-tan stood out from the silvery-green ocean around him.

Still he swam at his fastest, but still the shark was rapidly gaining on him and, of course, still the gaping spectators made no attempt to save the young man's life. Perhaps if the eighteen-year-old spearfisherman could reach the breaking waves the shark would not attempt to follow him. So he swam hard and fast, realising that two or three minutes could mean the difference between life and death. Full comprehension of this, sent a shiver down his spine and one aching thought kept turning in his mind — to reach the breakers before the shark reached him.

He quickly glanced behind him and saw that the pursuing shark would soon be upon him. He could usually tell when a good wave was mounting but this time he had to be sure and quick. He knew he had about fifteen seconds to catch a good one, or it would be certain death. He saw one mounting directly in front of him and put all his remaining strength and energy into one final burst for life. He painfully swam to the top of the breaker, gave two last and desperate strokes, took one deep breath of air, put his face into the water and rode the wave, like the expert he was.

THE RECORD ON BEING A GOOKID

The teenager, a member of the class order homo sapiens bears this classification simply because no-one has ever bothered to find another term.

The, themselves, have their own classification — a "GOOKID" is the nonpareil of teenagerism. To be a Gookid it is necessary to talk in the fashion allocated to this order. The speech is slurred — abbreviations common, and the vocab fairly limited, its meaning usually being denoted by its position in a sentence.

A typical
"Gookid"

The dress of the Gookid is important, but also his complexion must be considered — a suntan obtained from lying idly around in the sun, listening to a transistor. This is a device which all Gookids have. On the six acceptable wireless stations the primitive music of the Koodkids is played. This may be compared with the rhythms used by the natives in Africa. Incidentally, these natives may be considered Gookids because of their deep sun-tanned complexions, long hair and their dances. They were the originators of the Stomp.

W. Usi is the noted Gookidistic choreographer who introduced the rite bearing his name — the Wat Usi.

Returning to the subject of Gookidistic dancing, the Gookid selects a partner — a girl, usually referred to as "BIRDS". Before this era, they were referred to as "CHICKS".

The two people, Gookid and Bird, face each other and begin to wave their arms and stamp their feet, like their primitive counterparts, to a rhythm conjured up by a horde of Gookids referred to as a "GROUP". A member of a group is known as a "GOOKID". The group usually numbers four, three of whom have instruments called guitars, which they strum or pluck with their fingers. The fourth is the "DRUMMER". The drummer is a Gookid with two pieces of wood, a collection of drums and cymbals. These are the symbols of "Gookidism". The group usually has a name which it writes on the drum, like "THE MONSTERS" or "THE CREEPS", or in general an accurate self-description. Many groups prefer to be called "LUDWIG". A group usually has long hair — but this is not to be mistaken with "LONG HAIR MUSIC" — how could it be?

A group usually subscribes to a magazine called "FAB", which contains pictures of their English counterparts. It is a nature-study magazine dealing in entomology, the study of insects, like BEATLES, and lapidary, the study of STONES. It also has pictures of artistic interest — pictures of PRETTY THINGS and ANIMALS.

THE RECORD

Returning to the subject of Gookid-istic dress. The Gookid wears trousers known as "CORDS" and striped shirts, the combination of which is similar to the reaction of acids on metals — both are gas. This word describes all things desirable to the Gookid: a gas day, or at a party with a gas mask!

The Gookid usually wears his hair long — shoulder length is desirable, but most settle for side curls. The Birds cut their hair short.

The Gookids inhabit an area called the "BEACH". A Gookid considers the beach which he patronises to be the best. The quality of a beach is measured in wave lengths, units of measurement being a "GAS SURF", or "RIPPLES". These are simply words which describe the intensity of a surf according to the amount of sarcasm used.

But the world of the Gookid is not completely perfect. It is ruled by a socially inferior race, known as "OLDIES" who speak a different language and continually suppress these . . .

PROGRESS

Man has learnt to shape his world, so that he can control his life, and possibly, even his destiny. The world of today can barely be compared to that of two thousand years ago.

The scene: a cave, the year, twenty thousand B.C. Enter a caveman dragging a newly-conquered mate. He lays her down carefully, near the rubbish-pile, and lights a fire so that she might prepare his food. Og, his neighbour, sensing a woman's presence (and, incidentally, the aroma of steaming venison), comes to investigate: he stands at the entrance, and his drooling jaw drops when he sees his friend's handsome help-mate. Og immediately lays hold of the nearest mastadon-femur, and proceeds to smite his friend with indelicate blows to the cranium. The woman smiles meekly, and follows Og over the path, to his cave.

END ACT 1

Rome: Marcus Plebius sweeps in on his late-model chariot, reins in one hand, woman more than in the other. He is exultant — his best porker was her price.

Next day we find Femina in front of the grubby clay stove, frying Marcus' morning olives. Stultus Sextus gallops up in his sports-chariot: he takes one look at the buxom Femina, draws his spear and deftly places it through Marcus' chest.

END ACT II

T. V. McGlommer, fourth clerk of the Selfinterest Bank, Paddington Branch, drags in after a hard day, and makes straight for his Walnut Idiot Box, Mk. II. However, he is rudely interrupted by his wife who bashes his ear about their faulty automatic, non-spill, non-slip, bungleproof, king-size, milk-bottle-top piercer.

As the last golden syllable fades sweetly into the distance, there is a fairy-like tinkle on the front-door bell: and who should bounce in, oozing charm, but best buddy Wooflewaffer. He is greeted by a short-tempered grunt from McGlommer, who by this time is barely aware of anything outside the Box. Nor does our friend McGlommer notice the amorous exchanges between his little woman and Gerald. In fact he doesn't even appreciate Gerald's newly-bought Sneddley automatic, as its forty-four reloading cartridges (inserted free!) slam into his head.

Mrs. McGlommer and Gerald embrace, and leave arm in arm, for the Church.

TWO AGAINST THE WORLD

The negro boarded the train, and through force of habit, he sat in the corner; from there he could see all that happened. The several occupants of the compartment reacted uncomfortably to his presence. Some, like the fat sweaty businessman, hid behind a paper, snatched guilty glances, and then retreated back behind his paper. Others, like the woman loudly munching some sticky substance took no pains to conceal her disgust and utter contempt for his presence.

Jim's eye caught the picture of a little man sitting, or rather crouching, in the opposite corner. He did not stare at Jim but out through the grimy window, occasionally snatching nervous furtive glances of other peoples' reflections in the window pane. Jim was puzzled; he must be a criminal he thought, or perhaps a Jew. Jim had equal respect for the Jews as for his race; for in the deep, white Christian South both existed on the whims of their overlords. Yet both groups survived, and managed to maintain their identity. Jim knew that persecution, far from destroying any beliefs or groups, tended to unite them even more. Jim wondered how much this little man had suffered; like all human beings it was a comfort to know there was someone as wretched as himself.

Joseph Solomon, or Stephen Salmond as he was known, was Jewish as Jim had guessed. And it was being Jewish that had killed his parents during the war in Europe, and caused him endless humiliations and a feeling that he was a second-rate citizen. But he had clung to his religion. He was Jewish and would remain so.

Jim stared at his reflection in the mirror and sighed wearily: he had no job now. He had quit his last job in fear of his life and to save his kind employer any further trouble. After twenty-six years all he had between him and starvation was three dollars. He was a large, strong man, rather handsome too — but this doesn't count when you're black.

Joseph had a small shop in Lake City — his last one had gone bankrupt because his shop had been boycotted as he was Jewish. Now he barely managed to scrape up a living.

At the next station, three drunken youths clambered into the train, laughing merrily — but at the sight of Jim their smiles turned to ugly sneers. One spat viciously at Jim's feet, and Jim's muscles rippled and his liquid brown eyes turned steel-hard; but the three youths seemed to turn away and Jim relaxed. Suddenly one wheeled round and with a flash of a studded metal belt, he tore a streak of flesh and blood from Jim's throat. Jim crashed to the floor, writhing. Man read paper, woman munched sweets.

THE RECORD

Joseph, mild of necessity, proud by choice, saw in that prostrate form the symbol of his whole peoples' suffering; and though small, he hurled himself on to the ugly youth; and he, too, received the same treatment as Jim. Jim was now recovering: he roused himself, eyes flashing: he smashed the jaw of his assailant, and whipped the other two sodden cowards from the compartment with their own bloody belt. Then, he gently helped Joseph to his feet.

"Glad you did that," said the businessman.

Deserved it," grunted the woman.

"Sure, sure," Jim replied bitterly.

At Salt Lake City, they struggled from the carriage. They walked painfully along the station, each a prop to the other — two against the world.

RETREAT FROM CONSCIOUSNESS

A peacefulness of mind and body,
A sigh of slumber
That descends with sweet caress
Enbalming every syllable
In rich, yet gentle tiredness,
Creating as it falls
A void,
Through which no image of mind or vision
May ever hope to pass
Until some withering passion from without Breaks the spell.

Fortunately there was a hay stack.
Unfortunately there was a fork in it.
Fortunately he missed the fork.

COMMUNICATIONS

Do you have the habit, reader, when eager to devour your Shakespeare or Caesar, of reading the formalities which inevitably lie between you and your objective — the prologue, preface, foreword, etc., ad infinitum? I need hardly say that these carry the essential message and literary merit of the book — how else does one account for their prime position? For example, one opens a magnificently-bound, lavishly-covered, expensively-printed edition of that awe-inspiring, majestic work of art, "David Copperfield" and the whole truth and artistic nucleus of the piece immediately strikes the reader — "Registered at the General Post Office, Melbourne, for transmission by post as a book".

Much the same hierarchy reigns in all aspects of life. The shrewd and astute connoisseur, when buying a pot of jam, pays no attention whatsoever to the insignificant mass of decapitated fruit, flavouring, preservatives and artificial colouring inside. On the contrary, he gazes fixedly at the brilliant mosaic of the label, the dazzling colours and fascinating texture of the lid, the glittering reflections and transparency of the glass.

Perhaps these same wise people will some day after much assiduous effort, ban the futile bulk of things, the so-called "main part". A transition will take place and we shall live carefree and content in a world of prologues, introductions and prefaces, with no Shakespeare to mar them; of jam jars, without jam to spoil the other features of the container; of conversations lacking in new arguments or discussions, so that there may be more time for salutations and compliments. We shall live in a world of unbacked statements, of unfinished acts, of things done and said for nothing.

Pitch'd lightning strikes,
Casting a pale reflecting glow

Rearing up like frightened stallions . . .
Sweeping, eerie, shadowy figures

Then he digs and he chips and he scrapes a bit more,
Now he takes up his pan and washes the rubble,
But still all he sees is just mud, as before.
Another day over, he turns in for the night,
And dreams of tomorrow; a dream very bold —
For out of the mud, so glittering and bright
Is the metal he seeks, the precious GOLD!
He breathes a deep sigh, for he's growing so old,
And dreams are not long enough — harsh daylight has come.
Yet as he awakes he sees still his dream —
O bitter disappointment — it's only the sun!

A LONG JOURNEY

As I lay back in the quiet isolated room, I knew what it was to slowly die. "Death" is a strange, mysterious, yet commonplace thing; no one knows for certain what happens when someone dies, and leaves this earthly world.

It started me thinking; is there a real God? Is there a place of rest, a place of true beauty known as Heaven? There was no hope of living for me, I was alone in this little room with an incurable disease — and my conscience.

It was becoming difficult to breathe and I suddenly became frightened: then I thought about God, Heaven — and death. My body was becoming very weak, and I struggled for breath. My eyes closed, and my head slumped across the pillow. I was about to commence the long journey . . .

THE TIE

A roar from the crowd as the last man stepped in,
The match and the trophy all depended on him.
He took up his stance and looked all around,
The first ball was bowled and hooked from the ground.

The last over began, with a victory near,
Although we were still five runs in arrears,
The first ball was fast and straight on a length,
He got right behind it, and using his strength,
Hit the ball hard and straight to the fence.
With one run to win, he hit the ball high,
Cover had caught it — the match was a "tie"!

At the Annual General Meeting of the Association held in the Great Hall on Thursday, 18th March, 1966, Mr. W. F. Halliday was re-elected for a second term as President and, following the election of the other officers for the year, spoke in appreciation of the work of the retiring officers, particularly the retiring Honorary Secretary, Mr. R. B. Ford, who had carried out the duties of this office in a notably successful way during two busy years.

As usual the most serious concern of the Association throughout the year was to raise finance to maintain, as its constitution's objects clause puts it, "the requirements of the school not provided by the Education Department".

A minimum of $10,000 a year is required — actually, in 1966, $10,200 was budgeted for — with the McKay Sports Grounds, Rowing, the School Library and School Equipment the principal fund users. But there is no doubt that funds much in excess even of this large amount could be usefully employed and, as the school grows and the Wyndham Scheme develops and prices continue to rise, greater sums must, year by year, be expected to be raised.

Sources of Finance

The main sources of finance were in the activities of the Ladies' Auxiliary, the Headmaster's Appeal to Parents, the School Canteen and the Annual Carnival Fete.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will deal with its activities in detail in its own Report which follows but the sincere thanks of all parents must be accorded the ladies for untiring and effective efforts throughout a difficult year and for all they have done — and it is a great deal — to bring into the School's functions the friendly, family atmosphere which always characterises them.

The Headmaster's Appeal comes mid-year usually, when funds are needed to bolster, by that time, sagging bank balance until monies from the Fete come in. The results of the Appeal in 1966 were again satisfactory but all parents are especially urged to support this Appeal as generously as possible each year and no one should feel complacent about the results until the position is reached, and this has not yet happened, when all, or nearly all, parents contribute.

The 40 or more ladies of the Canteen Committee, presided over by Mrs. Bull, again performed sterling work in providing the school with an excellent canteen service and any mother who can find a day or so a month to assist in this work will be well assured of a warm welcome and lots of good fellowship from Mrs. Bull and her helpers. Besides foodstuffs, the Canteen supplies stationery items — at competitive prices — and students using the service can obtain their supplies conveniently and, at the same time, help the common effort to provide them with improved equipment and facilities.

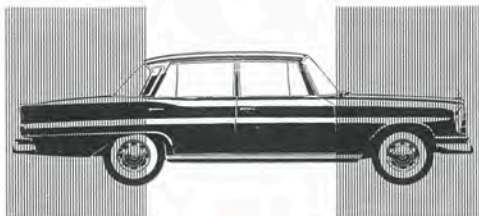

But the Carnival Fete on 15th October was, once again, the major money-making activity towards which the Association's main efforts were directed. Mr. Blomberg headed the Fete Committee this year and the hard work of this Committee, which started soon after the Annual Meeting in March did not finish until after the Fete in the third term, again produced a good supply of funds. It is true, however, to say that the work of very many people contribute to making the Fete a success and credit must go, not only to the Organiser and his Committee, but to all the workers in the stalls at the Fete, the numerous companies and individuals who make such generous gifts of money or goods and the parents and students who attend and spend on the day — or, rather, day and night — for, this year, the innovation was made of opening portion of the Fete on the Friday evening as well as on the usual Saturday.

Maintenance and Welfare Activities

On the other side of the coin, the Association has a variety of interests and activities which stretch to the full all the resources it can muster both of finance and of man- and woman-power. These activities are channelled into the work of the various Committees appointed each year to look after different responsibilities and to maintain the sporting and other facilities at the school at the level in keeping with its unique place as a member of both the Combined High Schools' and the Great Public Schools' Associations.

The McKay Sportsground Committee, to which Messrs. R. Bird, H. C. Bell, E. Uren, F. Brabant and R. Lakeman were appointed, and the Working Committee which roughly comprises all the mothers and fathers who come along to lend a hand, served actively throughout the year to maintain and improve the excellent playing fields and other facilities at the Grounds. Regular working bees were held to keep everything in ship-shape order and, on the days when home matches were being played, Reg. Bird and his helpers saw to it that everything possible was done to look after the players and the many visitors and parents who come to watch. Home matches in the football season were very busy days, indeed, for the workers at McKay and on these days especially, the help of many more workers would be welcomed. In a year of water shortage it is good to record that the Committee was able to arrange to use water from the overflow channels in the Park to keep grounds in rather better condition than was often possible at other schools.

THE RECORD

On the Rowing Committee Messrs. R. Blomberg, F. Randall, J. Bertram, F. Brabant and Dr. Bentivoglio were also very active in helping to maintain and improve the fleet and facilities at the Shed at Abbotsford and in encouraging participation in this fine sport. Many other parents also took an active part in helping at the shed and those mothers and fathers who came and helped at several very productive working bees, during the rowing camp and week-end after week-end throughout the long rowing season were welcome, indeed. The equipment at Abbotsford is excellent and valuable and it is constantly being added to and improved as a conscious aim of the Association in conjunction with strong Old Boy support.

With the school undergoing an extensive face-lift this year, the Maintenance and Grounds Committee, led by Mr. L. Ringham again, did not have as much to do as usual. Ordinarily this Committee needs to devote quite a lot of attention to looking after the school grounds as the Education Department only allots $200 a year for this maintenance. However, the Committee was there in case of need and, if it had less than usual to do, this only meant that its members devoted more of their time and energies to other activities of the Association.

The Dance Committee, ably led by Mr. T. Duckworth, also found its year's activities reduced as a result of the school renovation programme which prevented use of the Great Hall during part of the year. This had financial repercussions as the dances usually bring in a useful contribution to finances but a number of dances were, nevertheless, held and these proved very successful. The well-conducted and properly supervised dances provide an opportunity for the boys and girls from the two adjoining schools to meet socially and have been popular with the students. The Committee looks forward to resuming full activities again next year when it hopes a large team of mothers and fathers will come forward to help. This is necessary so that a roster system can be operated to prevent the whole burden of attendance and supervision from falling on just a few parents.

All members of the Association are, automatically, members of its Ways and Means Committee which meets on the first Thursday evening of the month. This is the meeting where ideas to raise finance and to hold functions which might be interesting or entertaining for members or students are brought out into the light, and, in 1966, a number of these functions were held which gave much amusement and interest to participants and also added materially to finances. Functions held included a Mystery Car Trial, an inspection of the Dalley Street Telephone Exchange, a Crazy Whist Night and others and these did much to help people to get to know one another better and work together harmoniously in a worth-while common endeavour.

It would not be right to close this section without mentioning the work of Mrs. Couani and her assistants in the production of Publication of the notes entails a lot of work in collecting and editing material and arranging printing and distribution and the notes serve a very real purpose in keeping people informed of activities and in providing communication with parents who may not be able to participate actively in the Association's work. "High Notes" has been issued during each term of the school year in 1966 and much credit is due to Mrs. Couani and her assistants for well-directed, persistent and effective efforts.

General

One function held during the year was quite unusual but at the same time very successful and very pleasant. This was the Farewell Dinner and Presentation accorded by the Association to Mr. and Mrs. Oslington at the Wentworth Hotel in June, in recognition of Mr. Oslington's services as a Master and, later, as Deputy Headmaster of the school. During his period of service at the school, Mr. Oslington applied himself wholeheartedly to its interests and parents owe him a very real debt of gratitude for diligent and efficient administration in an exacting position. It is and will remain an important object of the Association to work in harmony and in as close touch as possible with the school staff and it is pleasant to record that so well-attended a function was held on this occasion.

In concluding this account of activities for 1966 the Association desires to place on record its appreciation of the work of so many parents and friends throughout the year and the debt it owes to the Headmaster, Mr. Callaghan, and the teaching staff, the school secretaries, Mrs. Braithwaite and Mrs. Byrne, and the Caretaker, Mr. Crocker and Mrs. Crocker, for all the care and attention they have devoted to their many tasks. Without the active help and co-operation of so very many people the Association could not function effectively, nor could our boys enjoy so many amenities and advantages and we offer sincere thanks to all who have helped us along the way during the year and so helped to improve facilities for the education, well-being and happiness of our boys at the Sydney High School.

THE RECORD

The object of our Auxiliary is to raise at least $3,000 annually to assist the P. & C. Association, and to do this we really need the support of every mother, both at our monthly meetings and at the various functions we hold during the year.

Our activities this year have included a "Chicken and Champagne" Luncheon, demonstrations, theatre parties and several enjoyable functions held by members to raise funds for various stalls at the Fete.

The fifth Father and Son Dinner held on 29th June was, as usual, an outstanding success. Mr. Alan Davidson was the Guest Speaker this year, and he spoke most interestingly of his cricketing experiences. The musical items presented at the Dinner were of an excellent standard, and for this we must thank Mr. F. Murphy.

The Combined Auxiliary Ball was held on 15th July, and once again proved to be a relaxed and friendly evening. We feel the Auxiliary Ball is one of the happiest events of our school year.

A large group of parents attended a performance at the Music Hall, Neutral Bay, during April, and this proved most successful, financially and socially. A most successful Progressive Dinner was held in August, and to the parents who welcomed us to their homes, we are most grateful.

We have been very fortunate to have the support of an enthusiastic group of mothers from the north side of the Harbour working for the Auxiliary this year, under the leadership of Mrs. D. Barr. To these ladies we offer our sincere thanks.

At the time of writing we still have several functions planned, including a Wine Tasting Evening in October, and a Dinner Dance aboard the "Galileo" in November.

The Canteen continues to progress under the guidance of our new Canteen President, Mrs. P. Madden, and her Executive Officers, Mrs. E. Whittle, Secretary, and Mrs. L. Bull, Treasurer. We are most grateful to the mothers for the voluntary help they consistently give under the guidance of our very capable supervisor, Mrs. Enid Simpson.

To all mothers who help in so many different spheres, we say most sincerely — "Thank You". We could not continue without their assistance, which is always offered so readily when required.

We thank the Headmaster, Mr. M. R. Callaghan, the Deputy Headmaster, Mr. C. Oslington — since retired — the Acting Deputy Headmaster, Mr. A. Jessep, and the staff for their willing help and advice at all times. We are also most appreciative of the wonderful co-operation given by Mesdames J. Byrne and B. Braithwaite, the School Secretaries, throughout the year.

Finally, the members of the Executive Committee gratefully acknowledge the advice and practical assistance given throughout the year by Mr. W. Halliday, the President of the P. & C. Association.

MEDICAL BENEFITS FUND OF AUSTRALIA

HOSPITAL AND MEDICAL BENEFITS STUDENT DEPENDANTS

The rules of the Medical Benefits Fund of Australia provides a cover for unmarried Student Dependant children who have attained 16 years of age.

These days most parents have insured themselves and their children against the cost of hospital and medical care.

This cover for Student Dependant children will be of inestimable value to parents of school children when considering expenses associated with secondary and tertiary education.

It is noticed many parents hold the mistaken belief that the Medical Benefits Fund does not cover school accidents. It is quite unnecessary for parents to incur additional expense for school accident insurance for hospital and medical care. Without extra payment the parents' family contributions cover not only school accidents but sickness and accidents at home.

Under the Rules all student children over the age of 16 years can be covered by the parents' family rate membership provided the student is not in receipt of income.

To include student children attaining 16 years of age it is necessary to make special application to the Fund Office or local Agent to obtain a Student Dependency form.

The completed form and parents' membership book should be sent to:

THE RECORD
LODGE SYDNEY HIGH SCHOOL, No. 631

United Grand Lodge of N.S.W.

The Installation of the new Master of the Lodge, Sid Pointing (1926) on Friday, 12th August, commenced a new year of activities. We are able to look back on a successful year with Lyle Davis (1941), our Immediate Past Master, a year in which we welcomed as new members, Bob Ford (1934), John McKay (1956) and Bob McKay (1959).

Bob Ford is a most enthusiastic and untiring member of Randwick Rugby Union Football Club, John McKay is a fifth year Medical Student and his cousin Bob is in second year Engineering, well remembered as School Captain in 1963.

Our Lodge is always happy to meet Freemasons who may be members of other Lodges and affords a meeting ground in society with the School ties still in common to bind us together.

The High Ball in May was enjoyed by members of the Lodge and their Ladies, and we are looking forward to attending other functions. Many of our members take part in the various school activities.

At the recent Grand Installation, John Campbell (1937) was elevated to Senior Grand Warden and thus adds further lustre to our organisation and to the school. During the year also, Alan Beveridge (1913) had higher Grand rank conferred upon him. It was with great satisfaction that the Lodge members unanimously accepted the recommendation that the Lodge Prize for 1965 be awarded to Wayne Donaldson.

As well as the Annual Combined Meeting of all the School Lodges, now numbering fifteen, Lodge Sydney High School meets annually with Lodge Fortian, the Lodge of Fort Street School and a wonderful night is enjoyed by members who were friendly rivals in the fields of sport, and who now meet in brotherly affection.

Our members manage to become scattered over the world and at present we have Don Clayton (1935) in Malaysia, Alan Owen (1934) in South Africa, Alex Ross (1933) in London, Col Smee (1948) and Bob Stewart (1934) in Papua, New Guinea, Kerry Rubie (1953) in Toronto, Canada, John Hunt (1946) in Switzerland, and many in the country and various States of Australia.

It is with regret that we record the passing during the year, of two of our members, Wally Vick and Sam Cracknell, both of whom had the interest and welfare of us all near to their hearts.

Restricted to Old Boys, Masters and ex-Masters of High, the Lodge meets on the second Friday of each month (January excepted) at the Masonic Hall, 279 Castlereagh Street, Sydney, and a warm welcome is extended to all visitors, especially Old Boys and visiting members of interstate and overseas School Lodges.

The Hon. Secretary is Rex Iredale (1931), Box 1995, G.P.O., Sydney (telephone 28-1518), and he will be happy to receive any communications regarding the Lodge.

Now! 3 steps to cut down saturated fats poly-unsaturated spread on bread, in your cooking, natural tasting, spreads straight from the fridge.

Step 1

MIRACLE

Step 2

MIRACLE

poly-unsaturated Safflower Oil for deep frying, pan frying, and tossed salads.

Step 3

PRAISE

poly-unsaturated Mayonnaise for dressing on cold dishes and a garnish on savouries and sandwiches.

If medical advice says "cut down on saturated fats," this no longer means cutting down on good eating. Here are three steps to let you eat as well as you've ever done — and cut down on saturated fats as you do it. How does it work? By substituting poly-unsaturated fats for the saturated fats in all your present eating and cooking. So, for good health's sake, start the whole family eating poly-unsaturated "Miracle" and "Praise" right away.

SYDNEY HIGH SCHOOL OLD BOYS' UNION

The Old Boys' Union of Sydney High School continues to make an effective contribution towards the corporate life of the school. Financial contributions are made towards the maintenance of the school's playing fields, the McKay Oval, and the operation of the school's rowing activities at the boat shed at Abbotsford. It also attempts successfully to add to the prestige of the school in the community and to the spiritual life of the school.

Membership

It is expected that 1966 will see our membership reach a record figure of 1300 members, a significant step above that of ten years ago when in 1956 membership was 651 but still not near the goal of 2,000 which was set this year. It is not unreasonable to expect that from 10,000 to 12,000 ex-pupils of Sydney High School who have the opportunity to join the Old Boys' Union some 2,000 would become financial members.

The High Ball

The 1966 High Ball held at the Round House of the University of N.S.W. was a memorable one. The standing ovation which was given to our Guests-of-Honour, His Excellency the Governor of N.S.W., Sir Roden Cutler and Lady Cutler, will long be remembered. Nearly 1,000 young people and representatives from the other Great Public Schools and High Schools attended this ball which was an outstanding success.

Annual Dinner

This was a Dinner with a difference. It was held at the Doncaster Theatre Restaurant and many prominent members of the Old Boys' Union, who are leading citizens in our community, were present for the first time for many years and the function regained much of its former prestige. The Guest-of-Honour was His Excellency Sir Roden Cutler, V.C., Governor of N.S.W. The opportunity was taken also to give the school's five "Wallabies" a fitting send-off for their tour of Great Britain.

The High Bulletin

The Bulletin was published irregularly during the year mainly because of the need to limit production costs.

Church Service

This annual commemoration of the foundation of the school was held again at St. James' Church, King Street, Sydney, which has a long association with the school. The Sermon was given by the Rev. Gordon Gerber and Jonathon Isaacs, Captain of the Sydney High School, and Karen McMurchie, Captain of the Girls' High School, read the Lessons. After the Service, tea was provided by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Old Boys' Union in St. James' Hall.

The High Club

Old Boys continue to make the High Club the centre of their business and social activities in the heart of Sydney. The dedicated number of Old Boys who continue to preserve this heritage can never be commended too highly.

THE RECORD

Membership of the High Club is a privilege envied by many. Do let us preserve it.

The Old Boys' Union Centenary Fund

Contributions towards this fund which it is hoped will come to maturity in 1983, the school's centenary year, were not very frequent this year and more support is necessary if this worthwhile objective is to be reached.

School History

Progress continues to be made towards the publication of the History of Sydney High School which it is hoped will eventuate in 1967, the 75th anniversary of the establishment of the Old Boys' Union.

Tribute to Perce Hallett

The sun dial designed by honorary architect, Mr. Bill McMurray, has added something of beauty to the school grounds and also preserved in a tangible way the name of one of the most loved Masters of the School, Mr. P. W. Hallett.

Ladies' Auxiliary

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Old Boys' Union continues to provide significant funds for this Union and our appreciation of their efforts can never be expressed often enough or fully enough. This Auxiliary meets at 1.30 p.m. on the first Wednesday of each month at the C.E.N.E.F. Building at the corner of Kent and Bathurst Streets, Sydney, and a ready welcome awaits all mothers or wives of old boys who would care to join its ranks.

Football Match

This year's Annual Football Match between the Old Boys' Union and the school teams was an outstanding success. The games were played on a bright sunny afternoon in a splendid spirit and proved to be most enjoyable. In the first team, John Thornett, captain of the Australian Rugby Union team, Peter Crittle, John Brass and Phillip Smith all now playing for their country in the British Isles, took part and gave a superb exhibition of Rugby. The school team, which included their football coach, Mr. Neil Ryan, played excellent football and provided the spectators with some thrilling moments. More than 60 players took part this year, which was an excellent response from the Old Boys' Union. Once again our Ladies' Auxiliary provided the afternoon tea.

Football Club

This year the Old Boys' Union fielded two teams in the Metropolitan Junior Rugby Union Competition and both teams had very successful seasons, the Whiddon Cup team reached the semi-finals. Next year it is hoped to field three Rugby teams composed of Old Boys of the school and we strongly urge you to support this club.

Ray Lawrence, Football Club Secretary, has done a magnificent job in organising, and our appreciation of his efforts are recorded with sincere gratitude.

Don't put that jersey away, join S.H.O.B.S. and play Rugby at its best.

Back to School Sunday

More than 500 Old Boys and their families came back to the school on a pleasant Sunday afternoon in March this year and browsed through the classrooms and grounds, refreshing their memories, meeting old friends and recounting experiences of other years. The Rev. Peter Smith, probably one of our oldest Old Boys, since he was part of the school in the 1890's, delighted all by delivering a forthright address to those who gathered in the great hall for afternoon tea. This function must become an annual one as it has all the ingredients of a very pleasant reunion.

Gallipoli Luncheon

Two Gallipoli veterans, Arthur Stafford and A. H. Edmonds, were honoured at a special Anzac Day Luncheon at the High Club this year. Both of these men were in the landing at Gallipoli.

Badges and Ties

Small stick pin badges and O.B.U. ties are available at the High Club.

1956 LEAVING YEAR HOLDS REUNION

On September 22, 1966, just on ten years after their schooldays had ended, a reunion of the 1956 High leaving year students was held at the High Club. The function was attended by 85 persons — 74 former students and eleven teachers from the 1956 period. Needless to say, the reunion was a tremendous success.

The organising committee, drawn wholly from members of the 1956 year, commenced planning for the function over four months before the big night itself. Their first job was drawing up a list of members of the year and, additionally, of those who were fellow students in earlier years but had actually left High before 1956. The list of 145 students who passed the Leaving Certificate in 1956 was increased by a further 30 to a total potential of 175.

Next came the big job of locating all those on the list and finding out, if possible, where and how they were now employed. The records of the Old Boys' Union were consulted, the telephone directory and the telephone used extensively, electoral rolls searched and personal knowledge and investigation drawn upon. When both the first and final notices of the function were despatched to members of the year, the names of students whose addresses were still unknown were set out and assistance sought in their location. The final result was that all but ten of the 175 on the list were located.

Special invitations to the function were also sent to about fifteen popular members of the High staff from the 1956 period.

The final notice itself, sent to all those on the list, was a four-page printed leaflet, illustrated with "Record" blocks of 1956 sporting teams and setting out current addresses, occupations and employers of all those for whom the information was available.

Some of the interesting data resulting from this compilation was as follows:

- No less than 31 members of the year were currently overseas, while many more had travelled overseas at some time in the ten-year period. Of the 31, 18 were in England, four in New Guinea, three in America, two each in Western Germany and Canada and one each in Fiji and Vietnam.
- 15 of the 1956 old boys were now doctors, while there were 13 engineers, 10 chemists, 11 teachers, two architects, four Ph.D. students (and two Ph.D.'s), three University lecturers, a dairy farmer, an actuary, two journalists, a member of the diplomatic corps, a union organiser and four members of the Armed Services.
- About two-thirds of members of the year had married during the ten-year period.

On the night of the function itself, apologies from over 30 persons, many of them overseas, were read to the gathering, most emphasising keen regret at having to miss the reunion and conveying their best wishes to all present and their hopes for a successful night. One letter told of moves to hold a reunion of 1956 expatriates in London on the same night. Many looked forward to attending the 1976 function.

A number of members of the year came long distances to attend the reunion. The vice-captain in 1956 came from Queensland while others travelled from Newcastle, Grafton and Port Kembla especially to be present.

Informality was the key-note of the night, with most of those present indulging in happy reminiscence. Identification of some was a problem, as receding hair-lines, advancing waist-lines and the odd set of whiskers had drastically changed previous appearances. Some of the teachers present — including Ken Andrews, Frank O'Rourke, Ted Jeffrey, Arch Byrne and Alan Jessep — drew loud applause with recollections of earlier days at High.

Heads were a little sore for many next day but all agreed the night had been well worthwhile.

MASONITE CUTS

(See pages 44, 65, 70, and 164.)

The views of the School in this year's "Record" are reproduced from masonite prints made by boys. As with a lino-cut a piece of masonite is gauged and cut with a design and becomes a "block". The raised surfaces of this block are inked with a roller and a print is then taken. In our case the print was taken by placing the paper on to the blocks and then rubbing the back of the paper carefully with a round smooth surface, such as the bowl of a spoon
